TRAYLOR DEAD; 35 DAY FIGHT

FASCISTI RULE VIENNA; DEATHS PLACED AT 1,000

Socialists Entrench in Nearby Swamps.

BULLETIN.

VIENNA, Feb. 15 (Thursday).—(AP)—The so-called "American quarter" of Socialist Vienna is in the hands of the government again today. This district, which took its nickname from the municipal apartment block, including the George Washington and Indian Court developments built there by the Socialist city government, was stormed yesterday.

VIENNA, Feb. 14.—[Telephoned to Paris and London to avoid censor.]—Cannon, machine guns and hand grenades today wrote another memorable page in the history of the efforts of Prince Ernst von Starhemberg and Maj. Emil Fey to make a Fascist state out of Austria.

The dead in this day's carnage along the Danube will double yesterday's figures of between 500 and 1,000 and how many will be added from the equally bloody fighting in the provinces cannot be estimated.

Tonight, at the end of the third day of furious fighting and much bloodshed, in which many women and children were victims, the Socialist defenders had been driven from their apartment building fortresses and out of the city. The Fascists are in control of the capital.

Dig In for Last Stand.

The Socialists, however, have not yet given up. Driven into sparsely inhabited sections in swamps across the Danube, they are preparing to fight to the last ditch. Under cover of darkness they are throwing up breastworks and building machine gun emplacements.

A few Socialists are still holding out in the Reumanhof apartment building in Meidling, south Vienna, and in a few other apartment houses and factories. But their strength is slight and it appears there will be little difficulty in blasting them out.

Prince Schoenburg-Hartenstein, minister of war, said tonight that he would have the whole situation in hand in another day.

Maj. Fey is directing the work of cleaning up the Socialist resistance in Vienna. Prince Starhemberg is in charge of repressing the revolt in Linz and Steyr.

Dollfuss Appeals for Peace.

In his first public utterance since his Fascist supporters started out three days ago to make a hecatomb of the Socialist communist apartment houses, Chancellor Dollfuss tonight over the radio appealed to the revolting workers to drop their weapons and "quit this madness." He promised a full pardon to any member of the Socialist schutzbund [semi-military force] who gives up and reports to the government between 7 and 12 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Dollfuss told how he had toured the city today, inspecting the damage done, and how he had visited one hospital where "I closed the eyes of a dying soldier." Dollfuss praised the bravery of his soldiers and police and promised that he would take care of the widows and children of those who lost their lives.

If the schutzbund does not take advantage of this amnesty offer there will be no further pardon for them, Dollfuss said. He deplored the action of the German radio station which, he said, was sending out lies about the situation in Austria. He appealed to all citizens to stand by the government.

Bombard Apartment Building.

Today's carnage began early this morning. Viennese inhabitants watched from their windows as the heavy batteries of the federal troops laid down a barrage of shrapnel on the Schlingerhof, workers' apartment building in the Floridsdorf section.

This bombardment, beginning at dawn, lasted until 11 o'clock. Following the bombardment federal troops stormed the building and the last of the schutzbund rebels either were killed or escaped. Part of them are reported to have fled over the Czechoslovakian border.

When I visited the Schlingerhof with a special police commission this

BANKER PASSES QUICKLY AS 7TH RELAPSE COMES

Melvin A. Traylor, who was born on a hillside farm in Kentucky and rose to the presidency of the First National bank of Chicago, died at 11:07 o'clock last night at his home, 426 Barry avenue, where he had been ill of pneumonia for thirty-five days. Mr. Traylor was 55 years old.

The end came suddenly. Until fifteen minutes before his death the attending physicians felt that Mr. Traylor was no worse than he had been Saturday night, when he suffered the sixth and—at that time—most serious of a series of relapses.

Pulse Gives Word of End.

About 11 o'clock last night, however, there was a sudden change in his pulse. It fluttered. Mr. Traylor's color became alarming. While the doctors, William R. Cubbins, N. Clarke Gilbert, and Carl Johnson, carried on their efforts against the disease, which had enabled the patient to cling to life far beyond the usual period accorded those who are stricken with the Friedlander bacillus type of pneumonia, Mr. Traylor died.

At the bedside were Mrs. Dorothy Traylor, who had given the blood for transfusions during her husband's illness, and her son, Melvin Jr., and daughter, Nancy. Col. James B. Kaine, vice president of the First National bank, who had been constantly at the home since his chief's illness developed, and several other friends also were present.

Doctor's Story of Last Hours.

Dr. Cubbins told a graphic story of the last hours of the banker.

"At 5 p. m.," he said, "Mr. Traylor spoke clearly to us while we were administering treatments. He was in a condition that appeared almost unchanged from what it had been since Sunday.

"However, there had been small collapses during the day. There was one at 6:25 a. m. and another at 2 p. m. He maintained an almost even course during the evening, although there were other small collapses at 6:30 and at 8:30 p. m. At 10:30 p. m., when he was examined again, his pulse was about 100 and fairly regular.

"Mr. Traylor was unconscious most of the time, and the only remark he made for several hours before his death: 'I am very tired.'"

Fight Amazes Physicians.

It was a valiant fight Mr. Traylor made, one that frankly amazed the attending doctors. Usually the pneumonia caused by the Friedlander bacillus is deadly within a few days. Although this bacillus causes only about 5 per cent of the total of pneumonia cases, it is almost invariably fatal.

Cultures taken from the throat and lungs of the banker showed that this bacillus was involved and the medical treatment indicated included the use of an oxygen tent, of heart stimulants, of blood transfusions, and, finally, of the injection of needed salts into the bloodstream.

Yesterday, according to Dr. Cubbins, tests showed that sodium was in poor supply and Mr. Traylor was given sodium benzoate to repair the deficiency. He was placed in the oxygen tent at intervals and was also given heart stimulants, the long fight against the pulmonary ailment having sapped the strength of his heart.

Ill Since Jan. 10.

Mr. Traylor first became ill on Jan. 10. At that time he had influenza, but on Jan. 16 his disease was diagnosed as pneumonia, apparently of the "flu" type, however, and his chances of recovery were regarded as excellent.

A few days later he suffered the first of the series of relapses and the oxygen tent was put into use. He rallied, but two days later had another setback that took him to the brink of death. Again there was a rally and hopeful bulletins were issued. The physicians continued to state that the banker was still very ill.

It was on Jan. 29 that a heart ailment developed. This was fought off for the time being. Mr. Traylor rallied. The following day the bacilli of Friedlander were discovered.

Doctors Try a Serum.

Shortly before Mr. Traylor was stricken Mrs. Traylor had recovered from an illness which the doctors had reason to believe had been caused by Friedlander bacillus. So from her blood they made a serum which they injected into Mr. Traylor's veins in the

Gives MacCracken 10 Days in Jail

SENATE CONVICTS HIM; FARLEY POINTS FRAUD

Former Official Is Held Guilty of Contempt.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—William P. MacCracken Jr., former assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics and secretary of the American Bar association, was found guilty of contempt by the United States senate tonight and sentenced to ten days in the District of Columbia jail.

A similar verdict and sentence was imposed upon L. H. Brittin, vice president of Northwest Airways, one of the three aviation company officials accused with MacCracken of having tampered with correspondence in MacCracken's files after the files had been subpenaed by the special senate committee investigating air and ocean mail contracts.

Other Two Freed.

Harris M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express and Gilbert L. Givvin, Washington representative of Western Air Express, the other two defendants, were found not guilty and were given their freedom.

MacCracken, former Chicagoan and recently engaged in Washington as a lawyer representing air mail operators, was with Brittin remanded to the custody of the senate's sergeant at arms and given four days before his sentence is to start. The delay was granted on the plea of the prisoners' counsel that they be granted time in which to perfect an appeal to the courts.

Deliberate Five Hours.

Announcement of the senate's verdict in the four cases and the passing of sentence followed five hours of deliberation behind closed doors. MacCracken was found guilty of contempt by a vote of 64 to 20 and his punishment was fixed by a vote of 56 to 26. Both votes were on motions offered by Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the investigating committee. On motion of Senator Pat McCarran [Dem., Nev.], member of the committee, Brittin was found guilty by a vote of 65 to 18 and was ordered punished by a vote of 60 to 21.

A resolution by Senator Black to find Hanshue guilty was lost, 35 to 45; a motion by Senator Black to free Givvin was carried, 62 to 18.

Voting in favor of the Black motion to find MacCracken guilty were 54 Democrats, nine Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite. Against the motion were 20 Republicans. On Senator Black's second motion, sentencing MacCracken to ten days in jail, 49 Democrats, six Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite voted "aye," against four Democrats and 22 Republicans opposed to the sentence.

File Slowly In.

It was well into the evening before the senate doors were thrown open. With slow tread the defendants and their attorneys filed in to take seats to the right of Vice President Garner's rostrum.

It was the first occasion of its kind in senate history. Other persons have been haled before the bar of the senate. Others have heard themselves charged with contempt. One other back in civil war days had been ordered to be held in jail so long as he Claims Air Mail Cost 47 Million Waste to Government.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Sensational charges that the federal government was defrauded to the extent of $46,800,000 in the letting and operation of air mail contracts were made today by Postmaster General Farley.

Mr. Farley, in a letter addressed to Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the senate investigating committee, stated his reasons for having taken the drastic action of annulling all domestic air mail contracts.

The postmaster general charges his Republican predecessor, Walter F. Brown, with having joined in and directed a conspiracy by which competition was snuffed out and all air mail contracts awarded by secret agreement among certain favored air lines. Correspondence and official records, some of which were among the papers seized by the senate committee from William P. MacCracken Jr., attorney for some of the air lines, were disclosed along with the Farley charges.

Answers Lindbergh Protest.

One of the documents revealed was a letter written by former Postmaster General Brown containing a veiled threat to withdraw postoffice business from an air line whose officials protested against the operations of another line.

Mr. Farley, who made his public explanation because of the protests by Charles A. Lindbergh and others against his action, said he annulled the contracts after an investigation covering several months.

"I do not believe congress intended," he said, "that the air mail appropriation should be expended for the benefit of a few favored corporations which could use the funds as the basis of wild stock promotions resulting in profits of tens of millions of dollars to promoters who invested little or no capital. Nor was it intended to be used by great corporations as a club to force competitors out of business and into bankruptcy. Nor should appropriations and contracts be given to a few favored corporations by connivance and agreement."

Other Air Lines Ignored.

At the time the contracts were let in 1930, Mr. Farley continued, "there were many reasonably well established air transport passenger lines desirous of obtaining air mail contracts which received no consideration whatever."

Despite this condition, the letter stated, various contracts which had expired were extended by the then second assistant postmaster general, W. Irving Glover. This was done without advertising for bids of any kind, and was illegal, the letter declared, and it added that the "course pursued was a part of the conspiracy hereinafter mentioned."

Mr. Farley then charged that former Postmaster General Brown arbitrarily extended the contracts for a period of 10 years, and proceeded to build up various air systems according to his own ideas. Companies which had only a short line were allowed to extend them, under Brown's consent, until it became a transcontinental route, the letter asserted.

Charges Brown at Meeting.

Then the postmaster general made his charge that Brown and Glover had attended some of the conferences in May and June of 1930 at which the contracts were parceled out.

Citing one of the agreements reached at that time, by which the American Airways was given the southern transcontinental route from Atlanta to Los Angeles, Mr. Farley said that two other companies were involved in the arrangement for this route, and in bilateral agreements paid various sums to American Airways. American Airways would have been paid $3,338,675 under the bid for the southern route, Mr. Farley said, but it was actually paid $5,308,988, an excess over the actual bid of $1,970,333.

Mr. Farley cited other cases. Among them was:

"The contract in route No. 23, from Pasco to Spokane to Portland to Seattle, Wash., was awarded to Varney Air Lines, Inc., owned by United Aircraft, on Aug. 21, 1929, at a rate of 9 cents per pound. This route was consolidated with another route of

President Says He Saved by Tax Loophole

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today admitted that he has been one of thousands of American citizens to duck through some legal loophole in the income tax.

The President is insisting that the treasury or congress plug up the gap in the law which he himself used to cut down his income tax.

In response to questions at his press conference, the President related how an old barn, built in 1790 and standing on his Hyde Park, N. Y., estate, opened up for him a legal loophole in the income tax provisions on depreciation deductions.

Now Insists on Change.

The question of changing this section of the law is now before congress. President Roosevelt is insistent that something be done. Railroads, factories, and business generally, applying his same method on a large scale, have avoided millions of dollars in taxes, the President holds.

Mr. Roosevelt, about 1910 bought a farm adjacent to his Hyde Park home. On the farm were a house, some sheds, and the barn. An insurance appraiser, arranging for Mr. Roosevelt's fire insurance, valued the house at $4,000 and the barn at another $4,000.

Under the section of income tax law permitting a taxpayer to deduct from his taxable income a fair amount for depreciation on buildings used for business, Mr. Roosevelt deducted from his taxable income each year between 2½ and 3 per cent of the value of his ancient barn. Thus he reduced his taxable income by $100 or $120 each year.

Collects Full Value.

Yet, the President says, the barn was worthless, and when it burned down in 1928 his farm was not only just as good but he collected the $4,000 in fire insurance. Thus he had not only been allowed to provide for depreciation on a useless building but in the end had been paid in full for it.

Applying the same principle to old factory buildings, old railroad rolling stock, and similar antiquated equipment, income taxpayers have been able to turn the depreciation deduction features of the tax law into a major loophole. Under the President's pressure it probably will be closed either by administrative regulations or legislation.

EXECUTE FOUR DOGS BY POISONED NEEDLE FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

Cortland, N. Y., Feb. 15 (Thursday).—(AP)—Four mongrel dogs, wagging their tails and yelping with joy over their release from barred cells in which they had been confined more than a week, early this morning were executed with a poisoned needle for their pack attack on Joyce Hammond, 6 year old schoolgirl, two weeks ago.

The death sentence, pronounced by Justice of the Peace A. P. McGraw, was carried out in the face of appeals from across the nation asking for commutation to life imprisonment for the animals.

There were only three official witnesses to the execution in the animal hospital of Dr. E. V. Moore, county veterinarian, who injected the poisoned needle with the aid of an assistant.

After injection of the needle in each dog an anesthetic was administered to make sure of death.

A few short blocks away, while the dogs were paying for their "crime," was Joyce, unaware the dogs were being killed for their attack.

She may never recover the use of her arm, bitten by the dogs. A slight infection has developed.

Put Gruber's Stock Losses at $400,000

Using an electric drill, representatives of the state's attorney's office yesterday opened a safe in the home of Louis W. Gruber, former purchasing agent for the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, and found a mass of evidence of his peculations from his employers. Gruber, who is alleged to have defrauded the company of more than $500,000, is a fugitive under an indictment which charges he obtained signature to written documents with intent to defraud.

The safe disgorged records of dummy corporations set up by Gruber in his alleged swindling operations, stocks, insurance policies and personal account books. The most significant records in the safe, according to the investigators, were brokerage accounts which indicate Gruber had lost more than $400,000 in market operations.

Richly Furnished Apartment.

The safe was in a closet in Gruber's richly furnished six room apartment at 609 Stratford place. The furnishings, including a walnut cabinet containing cases of champagne and costly liquors, indicated Gruber was living far beyond his salary of $75 a week.

Watching the investigators as they drilled into the steel safe were the fugitive's wife, Mrs. E. Beverly Gruber, 30 years old, Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown and Sergts. William Drury and Michael Ahern. A canary chirped in its cage and a Boston bulldog barked at the intruders.

Mrs. Gruber was found Tuesday afternoon when Sergt. Drury raided the apartment on a search warrant. She was suffering from hunger, having subsisted on oranges since last Friday when her husband fled. She said she was afraid to leave the apartment because of a police guard at the building's doors.

A Model Husband.

She was held over night and released early yesterday after questioning. She denied knowledge of her husband's operations. She said Gruber was a model husband.

Records of the dummy corporations are those of the Monarch Specialties company, the Century company, and the Shawnee Erline company, according to Prosecutor Brown. Brown said they disclosed that Gruber purchased foodstuffs at a low price and resold them to his employers at a profit.

Gruber is 34 years old and a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Coming then to his sensational charge that the contracts had defrauded the government out of $46,800,000, Mr. Farley said that in the four and a half years the contracts have been in force the air mail carriers received more than 78 million dollars. He charged that the carriers had been given contracts on the basis of more than twice as much space as was actually needed or used.

"In sundry instances," he added, "this was done by a change of the terms actually advertised. If payment had been made for the service actually rendered, the cost would have been about 40 per cent of the above amount. The excess payments during this period aggregate, therefore, the sum of about $46,800,000."

Some Supporting Documents.

The photostatic copies of various documents offered in support of the Farley charges covered the minutes of the conferences held in the early summer of 1930.

The first meeting, held on May 19 in the postoffice department, was called by former Postmaster General Brown and attended also by his assistants, Glover and Earl Wadsworth, and by representatives of certain air lines picked out by Brown. Mr. MacCracken was elected as chairman of the committee for the lines.

In a report of the meeting written by Wadsworth he gave the names of those present, and then wrote as follows:

"The postmaster general opened the meeting by discussing the general provisions of the Watres bill and invited suggestions from those present as to the ways and means of assisting the passenger operators, inasmuch as it is understood none of the so-called strictly passenger lines are breaking even, and it is apparent that they will need some assistance if they are to continue. The postmaster general expressed the desire to know whether it is going to be possible for the so-called pioneers to agree among themselves as to the territory in which they shall have the paramount interest."

After various other meetings a letter was finally presented to Brown proposing certain agreements among the line operators. Mr. Brown, with his assistants, Glover and Wadsworth, retired to another room to read the report.

Goes to Controler General.

In his minutes of what transpired the same day Wadsworth wrote:

"After reading over the report several times it was decided to submit to the controler general the question of just how far the department could go in granting extensions to existing routes. It was thought best to do this before we took any further action with reference to this matter. The postmaster general indicated that he would take the matter up with the controler general himself and seek to obtain a decision with regard thereto."

"In a short while Mr. Glover informally returned to the room where the operators were waiting and informed them that the department was somewhat disappointed in their report, inasmuch as they had in effect 'taken all the meat and left the bones.' They were told, however, that the report would be carefuly studied and any decisions reached would be indicated to them."

Supposed Threat Told.

The supposed threat by Mr. Brown was contained in a letter he addressed to Thomas B. Doe, president of Eastern Air Transport. Mr. Doe had written protesting against the activities in Cuba of Pan-American Airways.

Brown in his reply, dated July 7, 1931, declared that the postoffice department would not be drawn into controversies outside its jurisdiction, but frowning upon Doe's expressed intention of invading the Pan-American's field unless an amicable settlement could be reached. Then Brown added the following significant paragraph:

"For your information I have another letter from Mr. Vidal of the Ludington lines protesting against the extension of your service to Atlantic City and again offering to carry the air mail from New York to Richmond at a saving of a thousand dollars a day over the compensation paid the Eastern Air Transport company."

Will Bare Income Tax Records.

President Roosevelt today promised Representative W. D. McFarlen [Dem., Tex.], a member of the house naval committee, that he would issue an executive order authorizing the treasury department to make available to the committee all income tax records of all manufacturers which had received naval aircraft contracts. These will be checked to determine whether the alleged exorbitant profits received on navy contracts had been reported as income.

The President himself announced that he was causing a study to be made of all ocean mail contracts, and he indicated his intention of seeing that the entire system of the government in paying for ocean air mail service was revamped. He declared that he favored an outright subsidy for ocean mail carriers, on the ground that it would be an incentive toward keeping the American marine flag on the seas.

Farley's Statement on Evidence in Air Mail Cancellations

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 14.—The text of Postmaster General Farley's letter to Senator Black, chairman of the mail subsidy investigating committee, explaining the cancellation of all air mail contracts, follows:

"I have issued an order annulling all domestic air mail contracts, and believing that your committee would be interested in knowing the reasons therefor I submit the following:

"These contracts were annulled only after a most thorough investigation covering a period of several months. Moreover, I had the benefit of the opinion of the solicitor for this department, whose conclusions of law were personally examined and approved by the attorney general.

Not for Favored Few.

"I do not believe congress intended that the air mail appropriation should be expended for the benefit of a few favored corporations, which could use the funds as the basis of wild stock promotions resulting in profits of tens of millions of dollars to promoters who invested little or no capital. Nor was it intended to be used by great corporations as a club to force competitors out of business and into bankruptcy. Nor should appropriations and contracts be given to a few favored corporations by connivance and agreement.

"At the time of the passage of the Watres act in 1930 there were many reasonably well established air transport passenger lines desirous of obtaining air mail contracts, which received no consideration whatever. There were several short, disconnected air mail lines, which were operating under contracts executed during the latter part of 1925 and the early part of 1926.

"Five of these contracts were executed Nov. 7, 1925, and would have expired by operation of law Nov. 7, 1929, except for an order issued on Nov. 6, 1929, by Second Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover extending these contracts for a period of six months so as to make them terminate May 7, 1930.

Calls Extensions Illegal.

"I am satisfied that the extension of these contracts for said period of six months was illegal. There was no attempt whatever to readvertise said routes or reaward them, or emergency requiring them to be let without competitive bidding, and the course pursued was a part of the conspiracy hereinafter mentioned.

"Extensions of these contracts for a period of ten years, under the so-called "certificate" method, were arbitrarily made by Postmaster General Brown on May 3, 1930. Then Postmaster General Brown proceeded to build up, by so-called "extensions" of routes, part of the system of the United Aircraft and Transport corporation and the greater part of the American Airways and the Trancontinental and Western Air systems.

"This means, in simple terms, that if one of these companies had a contract for part of a through route a transcontinental system could be built on that short line. To illustrate, if one had a route from Boston to New York, it could be extended from city to city until it reached the Pacific coast without competitive bidding. These great systems were built in this manner.

Says Lines Divided Contracts.

"I am convinced that before any of the air mail contracts were awarded, those interested held meetings for the purpose of dividing territory and contracts among themselves. Indeed, certain air transport operators who had not been invited to attend were refused admission when they attempted to gain entrance.

"These conferences were held during May and June of 1930. Some of the meetings were held in the postoffice department and were attended by Postmaster General Brown and Second Assistant W. Irving Glover. Mr. William P. MacCracken Jr. of the Transcontinental Air Transport [now a part of the North American Aviation corporation] was named as chairman of these meetings, and the minutes, prepared by himself, list the following as present:

United Air Lines—Paul Henderson, Phil Johnson, George Wheat, Ray Ireland, and James Murray.

National Parks Airways—Alfred Frank.

Varney Airlines [United]—Louis Mueller.

Aviation corporation—F. C. Coburn and Hainer Hinshaw.

S. A. F. E. Express [aviation]—Erle Halliburton, William Mayo, and Ted Clark.

Clifford Ball, Inc.—Clifford Ball.

Curtis Flying Service—Frank Russell and Burdett Wright.

Delta Air Service—E. V. Moore and Mr. Woolman.

"These meetings resulted in a division of all air mail contracts of the United States and the practical elimination of competitive bidding.

Written Agreement Filed.

"A written report embodying the recommendations and an agreement for a division of territory was filed with Postmaster General Brown June 4, 1930. A copy thereof is now in the files of the postoffice department. The original of this report, which Mr. MacCracken admits was signed, was not found in the files of the department, nor could the original be found among the papers returned by Postmaster General Brown.

"The corporations represented by the persons who participated in the conference all secured extensions, consolidations, increased allowances or favors not contemplated in the original contracts, with the exception of the National Parks Airways. Alfred Frank represented the National Parks Airways and his corporation was awarded a mail contract. It does not appear that he took an active part in the conference or secured any extensions of the route over which his concern operated. Before such route is readvertised further investigation will be made of this matter.

Illustration of Practices.

"It was agreed at the meeting terminating June 4, 1930, that American Airways should have the southern transcontinental route from Atlanta to Los Angeles. On Aug. 23, 1930, two written contracts were executed involving this route. One was between American Airways and Erle P. Halliburton, who controled Southwest Air Fast Express, Inc., and who was not only present at the conference, but was a bidder for the southern route.

"American agreed with Halliburton that if the latter would join with an American subsidiary known as Robertson Aircraft corporation and make a bid on the southern route it would then buy the rights acquired from the postmaster general and pay Halliburton and his corperation $1,400,000.

"This was to be done by the organization of a corporation to handle the transaction. The contract to purchase the Halliburton company was contingent upon the company securing from Postmaster General Brown the contract to carry the mails from Atlania to Los Angeles. Postmaster General Brown awarded the contract as prearranged.

Another Agreement Made.

"The other agreement, executed simultaneously, was between the companies comprising Transcontinental and Western Air. This concern agreed to pay American Airways for some stock and a half interest in a hangar at Tulsa, Okla., $1,399,500, thus providing money that American could use to pay Halliburton.

"Western Air at this time was also flying the southern route from El Paso to Los Angeles and it abandoned this route in favor of the other company so that they could fly the entire southern route from Atlanta to Los Angeles. The agreement between these corporations was also a contingency. It was not to be effective unless the Halliburton contract was awarded, nor unless Transcontinental and Western Air secured the route known as the middle transcontinental route from New York by way of Pittsburgh, St. Louis and thence to Los Angeles.

"It was agreed that if Postmaster General Brown did not give the middle transcontinental route to Transcontinental and Western Air, the agreement was not to be effective. Postmaster General Brown also awarded this contract to Transcontinental and Western Air.

"Whereas under the bid for the southern route from Atlanta to Los Angeles, American Airways would have been paid $3,338,675.60, it was actually paid $5,308,958.41, an excess over the actual bid of $1,970,282.91. During this period it was carrying less than the minimum amount of air mail provided for under the contract. There being only one bid for the southern route, it was awarded at 100 per cent of the maximum rate allowed by statute.

"The middle transcontinental route [now held by Transcontinental and Western Air] was advertised for bids. There was one bid of 64 per cent of the maximum rates and the high bid of Transcontinental and Western Air was 97½ per cent of the maximum rates.

"The contract was awarded, apparently without justification, to the high bidder, which has been paid from the starting date to Nov. 30, 1933, the sum of $7,578,624.60. If it had been let to the low bidder the amount paid would have been $4,974,688.92. There has, therefore, been paid to the high bidder during this period the sum of $2,603,937.68 more than would have been paid if the contract had been awarded to the low bidder.

Consolidation Boosts Rate.

"The contract in route No. 32 from Pasco to Spokane to Portland to Seattle was awarded to Varney Air Lines, Inc., owned by United Aircraft, on Aug. 21, 1929, at a rate of nine cents per pound. This route was consolidated with another route of United Air Lines July 1, 1930, at a rate of $2.43 per pound. If the mail had been carried under the original contract the cost to the department would have been $67,592.42. The estimated amount paid subsequent to consolidation was $1,019,500.78, or an excess on this route of the sum of $951,908.36.

"There has been paid to air mail carriers for the fiscal years 1930, 1931, 1932, and up to Dec. 31, 1933, more than $78,000,000. The air mail carriers collectively have been given contracts upon the basis of more than twice as much space as was actually needed or used. In sundry instances this was done by a change of the terms actually advertised.

"If payment had been made for the service actually rendered, the cost would have been about 40 per cent of the above amount. The excess payments during this period aggregate therefore the sum of about $46,800,000.

All Lines at Conference.

"My investigation, based on the records, books, papers, contracts and documents in the department, or introduced before your committee, or taken from the files of Mr. MacCracken, shows that every corporation whose contracts I annulled, or its predecessors or its subsidiary corporation, had representatives in the conferences hereinbefore mentioned, which, I am convinced was contrary to law.

"It is incontrovertible that the 1930 meeting was held, that it was confined to those who subsequently obtained the contracts, that the provision of law calling for competition in bidding was not carried out, and that all the present domestic air mail carriers secured contracts based on conspiracy or collusion, with the possible exception of the National Parks Airways, which will be given further consideration.

Quotes Legal Authority.

"Administrative officers of the United States have authority and it is their duty to annul any contracts procured illegally or by fraud. The act of June 8, 1872, provides:

"'No contract for carrying the mail shall be made with any person who has entered, or proposed to enter, into any combination to prevent the making of any bid for carrying the mail, or who has made any agreement, or given or performed, or promised to give or perform, any consideration whatever to induce any other person not to bid for any such contract; and if any person so offending is a contractor for carrying the mail, his contract may be annulled; and for the first offense the persons so offending shall be disqualified to contract for carrying the mail for five years, and for the second offense shall be forever disqualified.' [39 U. S. code 432; R. S. sec. 3950; act of June 8, 1872, C. 335].

"In view of the facts heretofore recited and the plain provisions of the law, it was clearly my duty to annul all of these contracts.

"Very truly yours,

"JAMES A. FARLEY."

MacCRACKEN IS FOUND GUILTY BY U. S. SENATE

Vote Upholds Charges of Contempt.

refused to testify before a senate committee. But this was the first time in congressional annals that the senate had ever exercised its own direct powers to punish any person for contempt for an act that was past and completed.

See Supreme Court Ruling.

The procession of defendants to their seats in the senate hall was significant of the long procession of legal actions which will end up in the Supreme court of the United States with an opinion upholding or denying this new form of power the senate has seen fit to exercise.

In the lead of the parade came Frank J. Hogan, MacCracken's lawyer, next him, his client; then Seth W. Richardson, former assistant attorney general, now conducting his client, Brittin, in to hear his sentence pronounced. Lastly came Hanshue, ruddy, pudgy, Germanic, and the slight and much younger Givvin.

The galleries that had been jammed during the opening sessions on previous days, when the evidence was being produced and lawyers were making their arguments, were almost empty because of the lateness of the hour.

From the ease they had been enjoying in their secret session, the senators turned to dignity again as the proceedings began. Cigarets were furtively doused as Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, arose and said:

"I move that the president read to the respondents the orders which have been agreed upon."

Resolution Is Read.

Reading Clerk Crockett cleared his throat and began to read the resolution in MacCracken's case.

"Having failed to show sufficient cause why he should not be punished for contempt of the senate, the respondent is adjudged to be in contempt of the senate," the clerk's voice pronounced.

MacCracken eyed the rostrum with tilted head. His arms were folded and his face was as expressionless of emotion as his body, in a drab brown suit, was unmoving.

"He shall be committed to the District of Columbia jail for a period of ten days," Clerk Crockett finished.

Repeat Same Ritual.

Once again the ritual was gone through in the case of Brittin.

Again Senator Robinson arose to suggest that the Vice President inform Hanshue and Givvin of their fate.

"The judgment of the senate is that Mr. Hanshue is not in contempt of the senate," declared the chair, and the heavy red face of the air company president seemed about to glow.

"And so with Mr. Givvin," the Vice President went on, and young Givvin looked happy for the first time since the case began ten days ago.

Then Attorney Hogan arose and passed a paper to the clerk, which he asked might be read to the senate. It pleaded for time. The action of the senate, he said, had raised a grave question of constitutional law. The courts must define whether it constituted an infringement of the rights guaranteed all citizens. To send his client to jail immediately would destroy his right to such judicial determination. Mr. Hogan asked a stay of the execution of the sentence and for release on bail.

Voices Resentment.

Mr. Richardson arose. In his speech he voiced all the resentment that air mail officers and their counsel have felt at the tactics of MacCracken and Hogan which, for several days, turned the proceedings into a circus merry-go-round.

"On behalf of the defendant Brittin, it seems to me the senate can do something that he is entitled to have done," he said.

"We have come here," he went on, "and have conducted ourselves with full respect to the senate. We have raised our proposition of law and we have submitted the facts to the senate. We are now confronted, at twenty minutes to 8 in the evening, with a sentence of imprisonment for a man whom we as lawyers believe to be beyond the power of the senate to punish."

He asked that Brittin might be left in the custody of Sergeant at Arms Jurney for four or five days in order that as counsel he might start habeas corpus proceedings and then go on with an appeal.

"We have started no proceedings, we have taken no step in protection of our rights," he went on. "We have waited to see, in an honorable, dignified way, what this body would conclude. We are of the opinion that you are wrong, but we want an opportunity to protect ourselves. To go to judges at night, and drag the clerk out of bed and try to get a habeas corpus proceedings started, is an unseemly performance. All that needs to be done is that a direction informal in its nature be given to the sergeant at arms to retain my client in his custody, under circumstances and for a sufficient length of time to enable us, with the proper judgment and proper celerity, to appear before the court to get our writ of habeas corpus, to have it denied, if you please, and then institute our proceedings for appeal and have a bond.

"I ask this so that we should not be doing this in the night time, so that we can do it as good Americans, with our heads in the air, not trying to run a race with anybody. It seems to me that is fair and it seems to me it is clearly within the power of the senate, having control over your sergeant at arms."

FARLEY ANSWERS LINDY PROTEST OVER AIR MAIL

Reply Brief but Moderate, "Don't Know Facts."

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made public this afternoon a reply he had received from Postmaster General Farley to his telegraphic protest to President Roosevelt against cancellation of private air mail contracts.

The telegram, addressed to Col. Lindberg at his home at Englewood, N. J., said:

"Your wire of Feb. 11 addressed to the President has been referred to me for reply. I am very certain that if you were in possession of all the facts you would not feel that any injustice had been done or will be done."

The message, brief and moderately worded, did not bear out the expectation of a "strongly worded" telegram which had been aroused by reports from Washington earlier in the day. Mr. Farley said today that while he had sent the message yesterday, he would not make it public until Col. Lindbergh had had time to do so.

The only previous comment upon the Lindbergh message from Washington was the remark of Stephen Early, a White House secretary, that ordinarily telegrams from citizens to the President are not made public by the citizens unless the messages were sent primarily for publicity purpose.

FIND ARMY CAN'T TAKE COMMISSION FROM LINDBERGH

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(AP)—War department officials said tonight it would be impossible to subject Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to army discipline for protesting to President Roosevelt the cancellation of all air mail contracts.

Action had been asked by Arthur W. McMahon, former senior lieutenant in the naval air reserve, in a letter addressed to Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, commander of the army 2d corps area at Governor's Island, N. Y.

Although Lindbergh holds a commission in the army air corps reserve, officials said he was a civilian and subject to army disciplinary charges only when on active duty.

BIG PERMANENT PWA PROGRAM PUT UNDER WAY

Projects to Cost ½ Billion Yearly, Is Estimate.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's vast project for a permanent public works program, designed to effect far reaching social and economic changes at a cost of upwards of half a billion dollars a year, got under way today.

The President named as a committee to draw up the plans Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of War Dern and Secretary of Labor Perkins. As chairman of the committee the President appointed Mr. Ickes, who is coming to be recognized as the big man of the cabinet, the adviser on whom the President conspicuously leans.

In the war on the depression Mr. Ickes now has more jobs than William G. McAdoo had in the war on Germany when he became the Pooh Bah of the Wilson administration.

Plans Social Reforms.

The undertaking is to be a long range implementation of a large segment of the New Deal. It proposes to establish on a planned basis numerous varieties of public works and effect various reforms of social and economic conditions calculated to furnish a living to those who otherwise would be unemployed.

The administration is proceeding on the assumption, which Harry Hopkins recently voiced in a talk behind closed doors to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, that even with business recovery attained there will be from 3 to 5 million persons unemployed and a consequent necessity of maintaining some sort of institution analogous to the civil works administration, now furnishing nominal work to four million persons at a cost to the government of 45 millions a week.

Program in Detail.

The project initiated today comprehends the following major undertakings:

1. Methodical development of waterways, water power, flood control, soil erosion preventives, reforestation, and other public works. On these works employment would be furnished in the manner of the present CCC and CWA.

2. Decentralization of industry through establishment of small industries in rural regions to enable people to make a living partly by farming and partly by factory employment. A start in this direction is now being made in the subsistence homesteads, for which 25 millions of recovery funds have been allocated.

3. Government purchase of submarginal lands unfit for cultivation, which would be added to the public domain and devoted to forest development. For this purpose 25 millions already have been allotted.

Plan Permanent Commission.

The cabinet committee is to draft a plan for the direction of this economic and social planning by a permanent commission. The first undertaking will be a public works survey of the entire country, divided into the following watersheds: Atlantic seaboard, great lakes basin, east Mississippi, west Mississippi, gulf region, Pacific coast. In each of these regions the ten most important public works will be selected. They may be waterways, water power development, flood control works, soil erosion preventives, reforestation, or other undertakings falling into the President's classification of national physical improvements.

Altogether sixty projects will be thus formulated. From these sixty the cabinet committee, and eventually the permanent commission, will select ten for immediate initiation and congress will be asked to authorize them and provide the funds.

Hopes to End Pork Bills.

In this manner the President hopes to do away with the traditional river and harbor and other pork barrel grabbing by log rolling methods in congress. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been wasted on dredging of rivers, creeks, and harbors ostensibly for the development of waterways, but actually for the development of political capital. The army corps of engineers which reports upon the feasibility of such projects has furnished little if any check upon the rapacity of the congressional pork hunters, according to the administration view, and, in fact, has been a party to the conspiracy to mulct the taxpayers.

The President does not seek to deny congress the right to reject the public works recommendations of the commission, but it is apparent he expects to be able to put his program through without material change on the strength of the contention that a planned and systematic development of river and harbor and other improvements is being substituted for the old time pork barrel. This argument elicits only smiles from the cynics on capitol hill, who suggest that the scheme will merely substitute one pork barrel for another.

Mr. Ickes, however, stoutly denies that the odor of the pork barrel attaches to any of his allocations of public works funds. There is abundant evidence that he strove to the best of his ability to protect the fund from the pork barrel brigade, but he did not always have the last word.

Mr. Ickes withstood with considerable success the demands of senators and congressmen for more than 900 new postoffice buildings.

FIND LIEUTENANT NOT GUILTY OF DIVORCEE'S RAPE

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—A jury in the federal District court here today acquitted Lieut. John H. Murrel, former West Point football star, on both counts of an indictment charging him with an attack on Blanche Ralls, Alabama divorcée.

The case went to the jury at 4:28 p. m., and the not guilty verdict was returned at 5:35. The court had admonished the jurors to use common sense.

Called on one hand an upstanding example of young manhood with an enviable record of athletic prowess and now wearing his country's uniform with distinction, Murrel was described by prosecutors as a bestial despoiler of womanhood, who used the strength of a two hundred pound man to subdue a helpless victim.

Woman Painted as Trifler.

Again attorneys depicted Miss Ralls, as the complainant, a twice divorced former Birmingham resident was known, as a wronged victim of moral courage high enough to face pitiless publicity, morbidity of court throngs, and scorn of fellow women as well as powerful army influences. That was the prosecution side. On the other, Murrel's counsel characterized her in effect as a trifler, playgirl, a cunning sorceress who drew an imaginary picture and sought revenge against a man she led on, though she hardly knew him, whose career she might ruin.

Murrel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Murrel and sister, Rae, formerly of Cedar Rapids, Ia., smiled their pleasure over the verdict. They had appeared hopeful, as had the defendant, throughout the proceedings.

Divorcée and Sister Vanish.

Miss Ralls and her sister, Margot, had been secluded during the arguments, and after the verdict were not available for statements.

District Attorney W. R. Smith Jr. characterized as "special interests" the army defenders of Murrel who testified in the trial. He emphasized that even Murrel didn't claim Miss Ralls tried to blackmail him or force him into matrimony. He also scored the defense for claiming Miss Ralls 32 years old, saying she was only 27. She is the mother of a son said to be 11 years old.

ROMANCE DYING, VERDICT OF CITY MARRIAGE CLERK

St. Valentine's day, usually synonymous with romance, failed to make an impression in the marriage license bureau in the county building yesterday. Instead of greeting the throngs of young couples who customarily appear for licenses on this day, Chief Clerk Sidney Summerfield sadly reported that only 110 licenses were issued. The daily average this year has been 150 licenses.

"Romance is a dying thing," complained Mr. Summerfield, "so I guess I'll take a walk in the park. One couple that came in here today didn't even know it was St. Valentine's day."

WOODRING DENIES HE WILL QUIT, BUT STORY KEEPS BOBBING UP

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Despite his emphatic denial, reports that the resignation of Assistant Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring is imminent persisted in government circles today.

Mr. Woodring is currently under fire for his handling of army contracts and is understood also to be in conflict with high army officers over matters pertaining to the purchase of equipment.

Questioned, the Kansan declared that he has never discussed resigning with any one. Regardless of the outcome of the investigation into army contracts, he said, he will not relinquish his position in the war department unless asked to do so.

Aside from the contract inquiry, in which he is the central figure, Mr. Woodring has been widely criticized for a recent article in which he described the civilian conservation corps as a military asset. The White House demanded an explanation of his article at the time of its publication, indicating extreme displeasure at his statements.

FIRST OF ARMY'S AIR MAIL STAFF REACHES CHICAGO

The vanguard of an army air corps organization that will start flying the air mail out of Chicago at midnight Sunday landed at Chicago airport yesterday from Fort Crockett, Galveston, Tex. The flight was composed of three Curtiss attack planes with a top speed of close to 200 miles an hour.

The officers who arrived in the planes are Lieut. Walter L. Wheeler, who will be control officer at the airport for the army air mail organization; Capt. O. F. Ferson, who will be supply officer for the central zone, and Lieut. Angier H. Foster, finance officer for the zone.

Fourteen other planes are expected today from Fort Crockett under command of Lieut. Col. Horace M. Hickam, who will head the air mail organization in the central zone.

APPOINTMENT TO RECEIVERS' JOBS SOUGHT BY 3,000

There were 3,000 applicants for appointment by Circuit and Superior court judges as receivers on file with the clerks of the two courts last evening on the deadline for the filing of such applications. The judges of the two courts agreed to make all future appointments of receivers in all chancery cases from this group. All applicants will be given oral examinations as to their qualifications before being placed on the "approved list" of receivers.

RAID FLAT AFTER ALLEGED SALE OF BEER TO PUPILS

A squad of police from the Englewood station last evening raided the flat of Neil Boles, 242 West 59th place, who is alleged to have sold beer to students of the Englewood and Parker High schools. About 150 quarts of home brew found in the place were seized and Mrs. Mae Boles, wife of the proprietor, was taken into custody.

She denied that any of the beer had been sold. It was kept for her personal use and that of her husband, she asserted. Boles, she said, left Chicago on Sunday for Seattle, Wash., and was not expected back for three weeks. The wife was released after she had been questioned by Lieut. Andrew Barry.

Warrants for the arrest of Boles were issued earlier in the day by Municipal Judge Gibson E. Gorman. The parents of two high school boys who are alleged to have attended a party there on Saturday, at which both boys and young girls drank, were the complainants. Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan appointed William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, to assist in the investigation of the charges, and promised stern prosecution if evidence is found to support the charges made.

MANILA IN PANIC AS QUAKE SHAKES UP PHILIPPINES

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Manila residents were panic stricken at noon today when Northern Luzon island was shaken by an earthquake, centering 200 miles off its northern extremity in the China sea.

Townspeople of San Sebastian, in Northern Luzon, were nearly engulfed by waters of San Sebastian bay, which receded and then abruptly flooded back in a miniature tidal wave. Townsmen had ventured out in search of fish when the wave swept in.

Manila escaped damage, but minor property loss was caused in Ilocussur province, in the northeastern part of the island. The damage consisted principally of the collapse of a vacant school building at Vigan and various brick structures.

Mercury Up to 55

Springlike temperatures prevailed in Chicago yesterday as balmy southwest winds raised the mercury to a high mark of 55 degrees at 3 p. m. That temperature has not been exceeded this year, though it was equaled on Jan. 21. At midnight last night the temperature was 44 degrees.

This weather is more than 20 degrees above normal for this time of year, it was pointed out by W. P. Day, government forecaster. The high reading for the date was set in 1918, with 61 degrees. The low mark was in 1905, when the mercury dropped to 11 degrees below zero.

The temperature will drop somewhat today and tonight, Forecaster Day predicted. The skies will become more cloudy and fresh northwest winds will prevail. But tomorrow will be warmer again and generally fair, he said.

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Subnormal temperatures played a return engagement in greater New York City today when the mercury dipped to 3 above zero. It began to warm up anew in the afternoon, however, but nobody found it necessary to doff an overcoat or wrap so far as the record shows.

Today's low temperatures were dwarfed by the previous bitter weather of the winter. It has been below zero this winter on five days—Dec. 29 and 30, and Feb. 8, 9, and 10. In the winter of 1917-1918, however, it was below zero on eight days, four of them coming in succession.

A special campaign is being made, it was disclosed today, to keep subway cars from getting too cold.

Strong head winds are whipping across the North Atlantic, and many liners coming to this port are being battered by high head seas and will be from a few hours to two days late.

LOUD SPEAKERS BLARE OUT ZION BIBLE MARATHON

Only 3 Blocks from Rival Voliva Church.

More than 400 persons gathered in and about the Christian Assembly church in Zion last night to listen to the Bible reading marathon being conducted there as the event went into its second day. Visitors from Chicago, Milwaukee and nearby towns sat in cars about the church grounds and listened to the monotonous drone of the words of Scripture being intoned through loud speakers set up outside the church, but members of the congregation sat inside. The pastor and members of his congregation will read the entire Bible.

While the words were blared forth without interruption on the night air, Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva, pastor of the Christian Catholic Apostolic church, which founded Zion, denounced the publicity tactics of the rival Assembly church to an audience of 800 persons in Shiloh tabernacle, about three blocks away.

Take Turns at Reading.

But the marathon went ahead, with the Rev. Finis J. Dake, pastor of the Christian Assembly church, and members of his congregation taking turns reading the King James version of the Bible. The pastor began the marathon on Tuesday night for the avowed purpose of "reviving interest in the ancient custom of reading the Bible."

By midnight the readers had intoned 10,500 verses of the Bible. There are 31,175 verses to be read, which the pastor estimates will take four days. Much of the reading has been done by former members of Voliva's church, who broke away and joined the Assembly church.

Orders Silence at Night.

Though many rumors were current that Overseer Voliva or his representatives, who control Zion's government, would take action to stop the marathon, the only trouble encountered by the readers was the demand of Chief of Police Earl Casperson, who worships at the Voliva tabernacle, that the loud speakers be not used during the night.

He arrived on the scene shortly after 11 p. m. on Tuesday and ordered the janitor to disconnect the loud speakers, after informing the Rev. Mr. Dake that there was an ordinance prohibiting such disturbing of the peace. The speakers were cut out, but the reading went on throughout the night, and at 6 a. m. the loud speakers were turned on again.

COLLEGE STUDENT AND SWEETHEART ARE FOUND SLAIN

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 14.—(AP)—A 23 year old college student and his 20 year old sweetheart were found shot to death here tonight.

Police identified the two as Everett Jochum, senior at William Jewell college, Liberty, Mo., and Miss Evelyn Dearlove, who moved here three weeks ago from Liberty. Clutched in Jochum's hand was a revolver containing two discharged cartridges.

Mrs. Julia Gould, at whose home Miss Dearlove roomed, said the two had left the house earlier in the evening with the announced intention of attending a movie. She said they appeared to be in good spirits. The couple were engaged to be married.

MAIL PILOTS ACT AS ALARM CLOCK FOR MOUNTAIN FAMILY

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Until longer days roll around again on the Arizona wastelands, obliging air pilots will play "alarm clock" so that baby McKinley gets his breakfast promptly.

Pilots pondered the purpose of a strange order on the Grand Central Air terminal bulletin board telling them to flash their landing lights each morning as they pass Round Top mountain in Arizona.

Inquiry developed that Mrs. McKinley, who lives with her husband and five month old baby in the remote spot, had made the request. She wrote that the family alarm clock was broken and asked that the pilots pinch hit until an earlier sun gets on the job again as the awakener.

MELVIN TRAYLOR IS DEAD AFTER 5 WEEKS' FIGHT

hope of building up his resistance to the Friedlander germ. The treatment appeared to be beneficial, but it was not sufficient to conquer the bacilli.

There was alarm several times in the following ten days. Then came the harsh relapse of Saturday and, while all about Mr. Traylor were amazed that he was able to throw off the attack once more, it was definitly apparent the odds were against recovery. Twenty-four hours later it was reported, guardedly, that "Mr. Traylor has been under a terrific strain and we are now dealing with a very delicate human mechanism."

Mr. Traylor's heart and his system generally had been so weakened by the length and severity of the battle that he was unable to fight off the final attack.

Funeral arrangements will be made today, it was announced at the home.

BORN IN LOG CABIN

Melvin Alvah Traylor was probably one of the last American leaders who could boast of birth in that scene from which Lincoln and other presidents rose—the log cabin. At the age of 20 he had never seen a railroad train and he went barefoot in the summer time. He traveled a long way in 55 years from the Kentucky hill farm which was his birthplace, not only to leadership in the business of Chicago and the middle west, but to national importance in politics and wide recognition in international finance.

The peak of his public career came in 1932, when the Democratic national convention which met in Chicago found among its members strong sentiment for the nomination of Mr. Traylor for the presidency. He discouraged in public statements the efforts of his friends to gain the nomination for him.

Aided in Europe.

The Chicago banker came to international prominence in the world of finance in 1929, when he was one of the two American bankers who met with bankers of other countries in Switzerland to organize the Bank of International Settlements. Mr. Traylor took a leading part in the discussions, and evolved the formula by which it was made possible for the federal reserve bank to participate in organization of the B. I. S.

Crisply outspoken, Mr. Traylor as early as 1924 warned business leaders that overexpansion would lead to a day of reckoning. After the market crashed Mr. Traylor told the International Chamber of Commerce that ambition, greed, and stupidity had dictated policies—and that this disregard of economic laws had caused the trouble. It was in this same speech that he made his famous utterance:

"I would urge consideration of the complete abolishment of so-called floor trading, which, as I am informed, has about it most of the characteristics of plain crap shooting, and few, if any, more redeeming features than that delightful Ethiopian pastime."

Urges a Sound Money.

Called before the senate finance committee in 1931, he urged a balanced budget and sound money.

His experience in Kentucky and Texas in his younger days led him to say to the committee: "I believe I am a better farmer by a long shot than I am a banker. No great division of human society ever has been lied to and lied about so much in the same period of time as has the American farmer in the last ten years."

Mr. Traylor's opinion was consulted by many government agencies. He was a close adviser of the late Mayor Cermak. He was a leader in the battle for retrenchment in governmental expense and played a leading rôle in urging tax reform in Cook county. He had been closely associated with Chicago's transportation problems since becoming "the young president of the First National bank" in 1925. He then was not quite 47 years old.

Born in a Log Cabin.

There was a Lincoln-like atmosphere about the early years of Mr. Traylor's life. He was born on Oct. 21, 1878, the oldest of seven children of James Milton and Kitty Harvey Traylor. His forbears had followed Daniel Boone from Virginia. They were Methodists, Jeffersonian Democrats, rugged pioneers. Two log cabins, set end to end, were the home into which the future bank president was born on a hilltop farm half a mile north of the village of Breeding, Ky.

It was a rare year when the farm netted more than $300 profit. At the age of six, young Mel stood on a box and dried dishes. When the next oldest grew enough to take over this job, Melvin was promoted to washer. He began to help on the farm when 8 years old, learned to split rails, grew tall and husky in these plain surroundings.

At first he went to school three months of the year in a log schoolhouse; later the term was increased to five months. At the age of 15 he had a sixth grade education, but had read diligently.

He had the advantage of seeing a Louisville newspaper, a church publication, and a farm journal, all of which came regularly to the Traylor home. He also had read the Bible, could quote many passages. Mr. Traylor was proud of recalling this in later years.

Stumped for Bryan in 1896.

In school he was known as a ready "reciter" and convincing debater. Three years later, at the age of 18, young Traylor took the stump as an eloquent young Democrat for Bryan free silverism in the 1896 campaign.

While working on his father's farm and also earning 25 cents a day by clerking in the village store, he decided to become a teacher. He went to live with an uncle in Columbia Ky., worked for his board, passed the teacher's examination with 4/11 of a point to spare above the required mark of 85.

Soon afterward he got a place teaching school at Leatherwood Creek, a Kentucky hamlet. He made $300 in two years working as a farm hand between terms.

Answers Call of the Law.

Law beckoned to him at this time for that was the way into politics And politics loomed large in the Kentucky hills. He borrowed a volume of Blackstone and read at night.

Mr. Traylor was about 20 when he had his first business experience and it proved bitter. He invested $75, his entire savings, in exclusive rights to sell a patent monkey wrench in Larue county. The venture took him to Hodgenville, where he saw his first railroad train and where he sold his concession to another mountaineer for $20. He said afterwards that the experience taught him to investigate carefully before investing money on the say-so of a high powered salesman, a principle which he carried into his banking days.

A year later his pioneer blood urged him southwest, so to Texas he went at the age of 21, thrilled and frightened by his first ride on a train. He left home with $60 and settled in Hillsboro, 55 miles north of Fort Worth.

Worked in Grocery.

The young lawyer-to-be's first job in Texas was in a grocery at $20 a month. He worked from 5:30 a. m. to 3 p. m., read law until supper time, and received his meals for being a hotel night clerk from 7 p. m. to midnight. Then he joined the fire department to get free lodging. After some months of this he went to California with two loads of hogs, but had to work on a California farm all summer to earn money for the return trip.

Mr. Traylor was elected city clerk of Hillsboro in 1901. He also passed the bar examination that year. Then he started selling life insurance, too. He retained his first policy the rest of his life. He practiced law for four years and served a term as assistant county attorney.

At the age of 27 Mr. Traylor's interest turned from law to banking. He went to the Hillsboro Citizens' National bank and asked for a job. The cashier was suspicious of lawyers in banking; the job was a trial without pay. Two months proved young Traylor's ability. He was sent to Malone, Tex., a ranch center of only 150 inhabitants, and brought its branch bank out of the red.

Wed to Texas Girl.

Mr. Traylor returned to Hillsboro to marry Dorothy Arnold Yerby, one of the town's belles, on June 8, 1906.

A few years later Mr. Traylor began his meteoric rise. He came to be known far beyond the borders of Texas for his knowledge of farm and cattle loans and in 1911 became vice president of the Stockyards National bank in East St. Louis, Ill. Three years later he was called to the same post at the Live Stock Exchange National bank at the Chicago stockyards.

Within two years Mr. Traylor was president of the bank and also head of the Chicago Cattle Loan company. On Jan. 1, 1919, he was elected president of the First Trust and Savings bank as well as vice president and director of the First National bank of Chicago. He was made president of the First National bank on Jan. 13, 1925.

At his death he was director of a dozen large corporations and trustee of Northwestern university. He was also a past president of the American Bankers' association.

Mr. Traylor was known to work at "a killing pace" but had the knack of relaxation. Golf was his principal diversion. He shot in the low 80's when in form, and was president of the United States Golf association in 1928.

Cherry pie and fried chicken were his favorite dishes—he could eat the former three times a day and claimed to be able to prepare the latter better than any one else in the country. Companions on hunting and fishing trips have testified to Mr. Traylor's skill with a frying pan.

He was friendly and cheerful, but no waster of time. He was youngish appearing, erect and broad shouldered. He greeted all with a smile and a solid handclasp. His quizzical brown eyes, crinkling at the corners, and his broad, firm-lipped mouth revealed the shrewdness and determination of the man who headed one of the country's largest banks.

MAYOR CALLS DEATH OF MELVIN TRAYLOR GREAT LOSS TO CITY

The death of Melvin Traylor means that Chicago has lost a great citizen, said Mayor Kelly when informed of Mr. Traylor's death.

"Whenever any major movement was started for the welfare of our city," the mayor said, "you could generally count on his being an important factor. As a banker, he sympathized at all times with the city employés. In fact, he was sympathetic with any one in misfortune.

"I am shocked by his death, because I know that up to the time he was stricken he was in wonderful physical condition. He always took wonderful care of himself, through exercise and his clean mode of living.

"As mayor of Chicago, and as a private citizen, I offer my profound sympathy to his family."

"It's a great shock to me," said Controler Robert B. Upham, a former banker. "I have known Mr. Traylor since 1910 and he was an outstanding citizen and of high character. His death is a great loss to Chicago."

"Melvin Traylor was not only an able and courageous banker but he was the devoted and sympathetic friend of every man and woman who worked under him. His death after his long, brave fight is a bitter personal loss to every one connected with the First National bank."

JUDGE FREES 5 POLLS OFFICIALS IN FRAUD CASE

Five judges and clerks of election yesterday were freed by County Judge Charles T. Allen from charges of committing frauds in the election of Nov. 8, 1932. All were employed in the polling place in the 20th precinct of the 22d ward.

The defendants freed are Mrs. Emilie Malacek, 3301 West 22d street, a Democratic judge; James Lichamer, 3250 West 23d street, a Republican judge; Mrs. Anna Kopaska, 3306 West 23d street, a Democratic judge; Miss Anna Keska, 3245 West 22d street, a Democratic clerk, and George Simak, 3258 West 23d street, a Republican clerk.

After announcing his ruling Judge Allen said to John F. Cashen, attorney for the election commissioners, who prosecuted the case: "I suppose you won't want to try any more of these cases before me?"

Cashen agreed that he did not, and the hearing of similar charges against 20 other defendants was continued.

PISTOL RANGE IS SET UP IN WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(AP)—A shooting gallery was reported unofficially tonight to have been installed in the White House at the instance of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It is understood the range will be used for pistol practice. Mrs. Roosevelt is known to be a skilful shot and to carry a pistol with her on motor trips.

The gallery is said to be a long metal tunnel on the first floor of the east wing of the White House, properly safeguarded against bullets going wild. The Washington Post says it is 55 feet long and about three feet wide and high.

Fay Webb's Alimony Plea Continued Another Week

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Another continuance for one week was granted today in the petition of Fay Webb Vallee for $7,400 monthly temporary alimony from her estranged orchestra leader husband, Rudy Vallee. The hearing has been continued several times because of other litigation in New York between the couple. Mrs. Vallee is resting in a Santa Monica hospital, her lawyer said, and has been suffering from a nervous ailment.

WHISKY STOCKS' PLUGGING TOLD IN SENATE QUIZ

Pecora Calls Granting of Options Unfair.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Did the directors of the American Commercial Alcohol corporation indulge in "deliberate improprieties," when, through the granting of options, they speculated in their own stocks in an effort to churn the market and boost the price?

Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the senate banking and currency committee, thinks they certainly did and told the committee today of the series of options the corporation gave market operators from Feb. 15, 1932, to May, 1933, all unknown to any of the general stockholders.

Russell Brown, suave chairman of the board for the Whisky Stocks corporation, on the witness stand, argued that it was really for the benefit of those unknowing stockholders that he had granted the options; he wanted to "protect them" and to "stabilize" the market. This "stabilization" sent the stocks sky-rocketing from $18 a share to a high of $89¾ July 18, 1933, and four days later they, as Brown put it, "fell through the earth to about $40."

Cutten Favored Broker.

Ruloff Cutten, famed in previous hearings before the committee as Chicago Arthur Cutten's "cousin Ruloff," who used to be an actor and is now a broker, was one of the persons to whom options were granted. In a series of four operations between Sept. 12, 1932, and March 12, 1932, he was granted options on 65,000 of the approximately 190,000 shares. Of this he drew back but 10,000 on the last option.

Mr. Cutten, with his patent leather hair and his tightly tailored plaid suit, testified somewhat indolently about the details of the transaction how he had got Mr. S. Coleman, statistician for W. E. Hutton & Co. [with which Cutten was affiliated], to make a survey of the American Commercial Alcohol corporation before he'd take a chance on the options. How, subsequently, he had made the dicker with Mr. Brown, who was to receive 25 per cent of the net profits, participate in none of the losses; how he, Cutten, had formed a pool of five to share in the 75 per cent of the profit. It was "just coincidence," he was sure, that each of the five was a market operator, or a relative of an operator.

Pecora Makes Him Sit Up.

But he lost his air of indolence when Mr. Pecora produced that confidential statistical report and read that Mr. Coleman had suggested that the stocks, while "hurt from being shopped around the street," could be recommended to those who "are looking for a speculative situation."

Mr. Pecora further produced market letters from W. E. Hutton & Co. filled with fight talks about the whisky stocks.

Was that fair? Mr. Pecora wanted to know.

Mr. Cutten replied, in essence, yes and no.

It's bad practice, he said, to have brokers plugging stocks on their shelves, but there's certainly a difference, he argued, between these market letters of "suggestion" and a direct prospectus to a customer. This he calls "recommendation," entirely different and bad.

EX-G. O. P. TREASURER ACCUSED OF FRAUD IN LOAN TRANSACTION

Cleveland, O., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Suit charging J. R. Nutt, former chairman of the board of the defunct Union Trust company and one time treasurer of the Republican national committee, with fraud in a loan transaction and demanding the return of approximately $165,000 was filed in Common Pleas court today by Ira J. Fulton, state superintendent of banks.

The suit describes in detail a loan transaction involving Mr. Nutt and Joseph P. Harris, a former vice president of the bank who recently filed a petition in bankruptcy.

One of the suit's charges is that Nutt approved a bank loan to Harris that enabled him to close his brokerage account, knowing at the time that Harris was "not of sufficient financial worth or responsibility to pay the note and that the collateral was insufficient and inadequate."

ATTEMPT TO ROB U.S. RECEIVERSHIP AGENT'S OFFICE

George F. Cummerow, chief investigator for the congressional committee inquiring into federal receiverships, asserted early today that an attempt had been made Friday to break into his office in the United States courthouse.

The attempt, he added, was unsuccessful and an unidentified person who was drilling into the office floor was forced to flee by the vigilance of the guards.

"Even if the entry had been made," Mr. Cummerow said, "nothing of value would have been found by the burglar. Important records are locked up each night in the vaults of a loop bank."

The congressional committee is to return to Chicago next month to continue its investigations.

Gunmen Rob Hotel of $165; Force Clerk to Lie Down

Two armed men entered the Dornell apartment hotel at 5326 Cornell avenue last night and after forcing Charles Donno, the night clerk, to lie on the floor took $165 and tax warrants with a face value of $225 from the safe and fled.

Former New York Lawyer Kills Himself in South

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Charles Robert Bailey, 42, former lawyer in New York City for twenty-two years, shot and killed himself this afternoon with a shotgun. Mr. Bailey came here last May for his health.

CALLS RELIGION FUTILE FOR FOLK LOW IN INTELLECT

Ministers at the International Council of Religious Education were told yesterday that men and women whose intelligence quotients run below 75 or 80 do not have enough intellect to be benefited by religion. The speaker was Dr. William S. Sadler, director of the Chicago Institute of Research and Diagnosis, who addressed the council's meeting in the Stevens hotel.

"When the intelligence quotient runs low there is no hope," the doctor said. "The gospel of Jesus Christ will have no effect. For these people praying is a purely emotional experience, and they will go right from it back to sinning. Go ahead and preach the gospel to every one, but don't try any personality readjustment for those who have not the intellectual foundation."

Asked what he believed should be done about those whose intelligence was so limited that religion would not keep them from crime, Dr. Sadler replied: "I would say sterilize them. As long as the lowest one-fourth of our population is producing two-thirds of the next generation, how are our grandchildren going to pay taxes for their progeny? When we see from 18 to 20 per cent of the children of the inmates of asylums go out each year to breed children and then come back, we can appreciate that eugenics is the only way to stop the flood."

ROBBER CAUGHT; TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM FAILS

Roy Davis, 30 years old, 1925 Sedgwick street, started out on a robbery campaign last night and came to grief when his transportation system failed to function.

He first went into the drug store of Morris Gordon at 2460 North Clark street and compelled Gordon to surrender $75. He then fled east in Fullerton parkway to Lincoln park. On the driveway he beheld an automobile. It stood still and Davis ran toward it, pistol in hand.

When he reached it he encountered a surprise. For Lincoln Park Policeman Joseph Longo, who had been conversing with the owner of the car, Roy Stephan of 618 Maple avenue, Oak Park, stepped into his view, got the drop, and made the bandit raise his hands. At the Sheffield avenue police station Davis was identified by Gordon as a robber.

Catholic Missionary Is Slain by Two Bandits

HSINKING, Manchukuo, Feb. 15 (Thursday).—(AP)—Father E. Charest, French-Canadian Catholic missionary, was shot and killed today by two bandits who invaded a mission house at Liao-Yuan, north of Mukden. The bandits also killed Chinese servants at the mission. The slayers escaped. Father Charest belonged to the Canadian mission of Quebec.

ECONOMIC WASTE NO CURE FOR U. S. ILLS, SAYS COL. M'CORMICK

Waterloo, Ia., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The nation's ills cannot be cured by "economic dissipation," Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, declared tonight in an address here under the auspices of the Blackhawk County Republican club.

Governmental interference with the individual "as practiced by Mussolini and preached by Tugwell," Col. McCormick said, "is merely a reversion to the powers exercised by the kings in the period immediately following the dark ages and before freedom was achieved. Hitler's method, the entailing of property and binding the owner to the soil, toward which the AAA is heading, is worse."

A new form of corporation, designed to correct faults in the present structure of business enterprises, was outlined by the publisher. He suggested that the limited liability of corporations be combined with the management feature of partnerships.

On the death of one of the managers of a business, under this plan, the stock would descend to his heirs as preferred stock without a voice in management and the remaining directors would elect another member on the basis of ability. Increase in the value of earnings of the company would go to the active managers.

POLICE SERGEANT ON SICK LEAVE TAKES OWN LIFE

Police Sergeant Marius Nielsen, 46 years old, who had been on sick leave from the department for five months, shot and killed himself last night in his basement flat at 5751 South May street.

The body was discovered by Mrs. Fred Frohm, who was formerly Nielsen's wife. She obtained a divorce six years ago and remarried, but had remained on friendly terms with the policeman. From her and her husband he rented the flat, which is below the one in which the couple reside.

Several notes were found in the room with the body, all indicating that Nielsen was discouraged over his poor health.

RACIAL PROTEST DELAYS BILL FOR 1934 WORLD FAIR

Planetarium Amendment Also a Snag.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Two snags were thrown in the path of the World's Fair enabling acts in the legislature today. They did not appear until after the bills had gone to third reading in the senate, where an attempt will be made to pass them tomorrow, but when they did materialize the stumbling blocks appeared important.

The first emanated from the Negro members of both house and senate. They complained that members of their race were discriminated against by concessionaires at the Exposition last summer and demanded that the bill allowing the Fair to reopen in June be amended so that equal rights would be assured.

The second snag was placed by Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, house minority leader. At his request the house bill was amended so that the Adler planetarium would be removed from the Fair grounds.

Would Mean New Bridge.

If this provision remains in the bill, the Fair will be forced to remodel its main entrance at 12th street by moving the gates further south and might also have to construct a new bridge to Northerly island. It was considered doubtful that the present narrow bridge could be divided so that buses could travel to the island and at the same time leave sufficient space for the public to visit the planetarium.

The Negro members had two plans for amending the enabling act. Senator A. H. Roberts [Rep., Chicago], wanted it changed so that the contracts of concessionaires who did not allow equal privileges to Negroes would be immediately canceled by the Fair.

In the house, Representative Charles J. Jenkins and Harris B. Gaines, Chicago Republicans, proposed that unfair concessionaires be dealt with by abatement proceedings in the courts, first by temporary and then permanent injunctions.

Has Sheaf of Protests.

A first violation of the equal rights clause would result in a temporary injunction and a recurrence would close the offending concession. Jenkins was armed with a sheaf of affidavits from Negroes, who claimed they had not been treated on an equal basis with whites at the Fair last summer.

Attorney Sidney Gorham of Chicago, who brought the Fair legislation to Springfield, told the Negroes he had no objection to including a restatement of the equal rights provision in the bill but that he could not agree to any amendment "which might jeopardize the Fair's success."

How the stand of the Negroes will affect the passage of the legislation could not be forecast tonight but it was believed that a few members who feel that they were slighted last summer by an insufficient number of passes to the Exposition or were denied patronage jobs might make some trouble.

Would Make Planetarium Free.

Schnackenberg's amendment was prompted, he said, by a desire to allow the public the right to visit the planetarium free of charge on its free days. It was included within the Fair area last summer and persons desiring to visit it had to pay the 50 cent admission charge to the grounds.

The amendment also would take from the Fair authorities the right to include the Field museum, the Shedd aquarium or the Planetarium within the grounds. They had the authority last summer, but included only the planetarium.

Representatives of the Fair who are here watching the legislation believed that the amendment would necessitate construction of a new bridge to Northerly island as well as the remodeling of the Roosevelt road entrance and other changes. They said that the present bridge is too narrow to permit its subdivision, and at the same time leave room for buses to pass and a walk for pedestrians. The cost of a new bridge could not be reckoned here.

Senate Seeks 34 Votes.

Senate leaders were making efforts to have as many members present tomorrow as possible, for the bills must have 34 votes under their emergency clause. Representative Gaines said that even if the measures passed tomorrow he would raise the point of lack of a quorum when they came over to the house, if 77 members, a majority, were not present.

It was hoped that the senate bill could be sent to second reading in the house tomorrow and passed next week. Then the Fair could go to work. But the outlook tonight was not bright for such expedition, considering the Negro members' objections and the Schnackenberg amendment, which will probably be tacked on to the senate bill in the house and would thence have to be approved by the senate.

Gaines raised his point of lack of a quorum in the house this morning and blocked advancement of the house bill to second reading. Only 57 members were present.

For all the stir on the Fair bills, there was no delay in advancing the Chicago board of education's financial program. These bills, which would allow the board to pledge property not used for school purposes to the federal government as additional security for a 42 million dollar bond issue, were sent to third reading. Attorney Ralph Condee of the school board hoped that he could pass them tomorrow.

UNION PACIFIC'S NEW MODERNISTIC TRAIN ARRIVES AT CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Majestic and sleek, the Union Pacific railroad's aluminum streamlined train arrived at the Union station here at 7:14 o'clock tonight, awaiting inspection tomorrow by company officials. The newest addition to modern transcontinental transportation will be placed on public exhibition Friday.

No attempt was made to break any speed records on the trip from Chicago to the national capital, officials said, and the train moved eastward at comparatively a snail's pace—between 50 and 60 miles per hour. The three coach flyer is capable of traveling 110 miles per hour.

The M-10000, as the train is designated, was built at the Whiting, Ind., plant of the Pullman Car and Manufacturing company. According to W. A. Harriman, chairman of the Union Pacific board of directors, between 20 and 24 hours will be cut from the running time between Chicago and the west coast by the M-10000 and three similar trains now under construction at the Pullman plant.

CORONER CLOSES INQUESTS FOR 3 PUBLIC ENEMIES

Unknown persons committed three murders which Coroner Frank J. Walsh yesterday relegated to that corner of his vault where a pile of documents are entombed with the epitaph "unsolved." The law confessed itself defeated when the inquests were closed into the slayings of William [Three Fingered Jack] White, Ernest Rossi and Willie Evans, all listed as public enemies.

Deputy Coroner Jacob Schewel recalled that yesterday was the fifth anniversary of the Valentine day massacre of seven of the Moran gang—one of the incidents of the days when the country was threatened with gang rule. Solemnly he inquired into the three gang murders of this repeal era.

White, he learned, was shot down in his own home at 920 Wesley avenue, Oak Park, on Jan. 23. Rossi was riddled with bullets on the back porch of his home at 5529 Flournoy street, on Feb. 4. Evans was shot to death while in an automobile in the alley in the rear of 1609 South 51st street, Cicero, on Jan. 31.

Leaving the county morgue, where the inquests were held, Sergt. William Drury of the state's attorney's office, saw Anthony [Tough Tony] Capezio and Louis [Little New York] Campagna, members of the old Capone gang, riding in an automobile. He arrested them on general principles and sent them to the detective bureau for questioning about the three murders. They told nothing.

HITLER DECREES END OF GERMAN STATES' COUNCIL

Takes One More Step to Unify Nation.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The government of Chancellor Adolf Hitler moved today further toward the formation of a single, unified state to replace the 17 individual federated states composing the German reich.

The central power controlling all Germany decreed the abolition of the reichsrat, last stronghold of the federation. The reichsrat, or federal council, represented the single states in the reich. Elimination of the council, well informed circles believe, will lead eventually to complete effacement of individual state lines.

Stripped of Power in 1933.

The states have been virtually without power for nearly a year. In March, 1933, Hitler stripped them of their rights under the constitution when he obtained approval in both the reichstag and the reichsrat of an enabling act giving him dictatorial powers for four years.

Under provisions of the enabling act the reichsrat became superfluous because administrative measures previously communicated to the states through the federal council were sent direct to the state governors.

Reichstag May Be Doomed.

The council, like the reichstag or house of representatives, has for some time been 100 per cent Nazi, and if it met at all, it merely said "yes" to any request of the Hitler régime. The reichstag does the same, and may, in the near future, also be abolished.

Elimination of the reichsrat abrogated section four of the constitution. This section provided that 66 members representing the states form a federal council. A member of the government presided over plenary and committee sessions of the council, which had the right of preliminary sanction of, and protest against, a reichstag measure.

The states actually had wider rights before the enabling act of last year, for a deadlock between the reichsrat and reichstag could bring about a general referendum. The president of the republic was empowered to call a referendum when the reichstag, in its deadlock with the council, mustered less than a two-thirds majority, and had to call a referendum when the majority was more than two-thirds.

Observe Chinese New Year in Chicago's Chinatown

The Chinese New Year's day was celebrated yesterday in Chicago's Chinatown in a quiet and orderly fashion. Except for the display of United States and Chinese republic flags, a few closed shops, and the explosion of small firecrackers by children, the district presented its everyday appearance. Many Chinese made no pretense of observing the day.

STATE PORTRAYS KAPLAN'S OFFICE AS RACKET G. H. Q.

Trial Witness Tells About Lawyer's Visitors.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

The prosecution in the racket conspiracy trial sought to prove yesterday that the office of Attorney Morris I. Kaplan, one of the 18 defendants in the case was the center of a web of control for alleged racketeering in Chicago's cleaning and dyeing and laundry industries.

Clarence Converse, federal investigator, finished the wire tapping testimony which he began on Tuesday. Converse described telephone conversations between the office of Kaplan, at 134 North La Salle street, and the Seneca hotel apartment of Murray Humphreys, public enemy No. 1. Humphreys was indicted in the racket case, but is a fugitive and is not now on trial.

Kaplan's Aid on Stand.

Converse was followed on the witness stand by Frank A. Thies, 924 Euclid avenue, Oak Park, field secretary of the Chicago Linen Supply association. Kaplan, Thies testified, is secretary of the association, and his superior. Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber succeeded in having Thies placed on the stand as a court's witness by Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court, the trial judge. This permitted the prosecution to cross-examine the witness.

Questioned by Assistant Prosecutor Thomas Bugan, Thies testified that he had seen Humphreys visit the office of Kaplan on three or four occasions. Converse's wire tapping testimony described several conversations in which Humphreys asked Kaplan for money, and was told to come to the office and get it.

The money, the prosecution charges, was protection payment which Humphreys got from trade associations and unions in the laundry and cleaning and dyeing businesses.

Kaplan in Two Groups.

Kaplan was attorney for the Cleaners and Dyers institute, which set up Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, University of Chicago economist, as dictator in that industry. He was also an organizer, with Attorney Aaron Shapiro and Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], of the Chicago Laundry Owners association. Sapiro, Nelson and Squires are all defendants in the present trial.

Thies testified that he had seen, among the visitors to Kaplan's office, Joseph Bush Iwaniec, president; George Knott, vice president, and George Bendell, secretary treasurer of the laundry and dye house drivers' union; James P. Gorman, "labor commissioner" of the Cleaners and Dyers institute; Ben Abrams, business agent of the inside dye house workers' union and Walter F. Crowley, president of the Master Cleaners and Dyers association. All are defendants.

A third witness, Miss Addie Coates, 1646 West 14th place, a former private secretary to Kaplan, carried the prosecution's picture a step further. She testified that Humphreys had held conferences in Kaplan's office with Kaplan, Gorman, and Crowley.

Converse Finishes Testimony.

Converse's direct testimony yesterday completed his description of the conversations heard on the tap of Humphreys' telephone. The telephone was in the Seneca hotel, and not in the Palmolive building, as was stated yesterday in THE TRIBUNE. The office from which Converse heard the conversations was in the Palmolive building.

In one call, Converse testified, Humphreys told Sam Ginsberg, a fugitive defendant in the case, to arrange a conference for some unidentified persons in Kaplan's office. Another time, the federal agent said, Humphreys asked Kaplan for money and when told that the payment was not ready, replied:

"You had better get the money."

In cross-examination of Converse Attorney Benedict Short, counsel for Kaplan, sought to make the witness admit that it would have been impossible for him to have made an accurate transcription in longhand of the conversations he heard. Converse stuck to the contention that his transcript, which he read to the jury, was strictly accurate.

ACTS TO WIND UP FEE HEARING IN BANKRUPT CASE

Night Session Held by U. S. Referee.

Garfield Charles, federal referee in bankruptcy, began an effort yesterday to wind up as quickly as possible the hearing on claims for $681,339 in attorneys' and receivers' fees filed in the bankruptcy case of the American Bond and Mortgage company.

He announced that he was ready to devote his entire time until midnight Saturday night to listening to arguments and testimony for and against the petitions filed by the claimants.

"I have cleared up my docket so that nothing will interfere," he said. "I don't intend to let this thing drag along for a month."

Then he closed the afternoon session with an agreement to hold a night session, and said he would continue to follow this procedure as often as necessary.

Night Hearing Is Held.

The night session was devoted to a hearing on the bill of Cook, Nathan & Lehman, a New York law firm, for $50,000 for services rendered to Charles Evans Hughes Jr. as ancillary receiver for the bankrupt company. Frank M. McKey, trustee in bankruptcy, has filed no objection to Receiver Hughes' bill for $15,000, but it is understood he will oppose granting of the law firm's petition on the ground that it is excessive.

Examination of the petition on file showed that the $50,000 claim is based on service said to have been performed by several members of the law firm and about an equal number of its "associates" or employés, the total time devoted to the case being 1,294 hours.

Lawyers compute six hours as their day and on that basis, it was estimated, the New Yorkers are asking an average in excess of $250 a day for each man working on the case, whether he was a member of the firm or one of the younger lawyers employed in the office. Bar associations generally agree that $100 a day is ample pay for law services.

Lawyers Ask $407,504.

The daylight sessions before the referee were taken up by Attorney John D. Black of Chicago in beginning the presentatiton of the claim of the law firm of McLaughlin & Stern of New York for $407,504 plus $80,000 for expenses.

Attorney Black told the referee of at least a dozen court cases handled by McLaughlin and Stern in connection with the prolonged foreclosure and condemnation proceedings against a New York hotel property, the Libby.

About 100 investors in some of the $250,000,000 worth of real estate securities disposed of by the American Bond & Mortgage company were on hand for the opening for the hearing.

MR. SIKS IS SICK ABOUT THIS, HE INFORMS POLICE

Charles Siks of the Wellington Arms apartments, 2970 Sheridan road, secretary to the Latvian consul, August Bontoux, is mourning the loss of a friend. Also he is sad over the loss of his traveling bag, his gold watch, his traveling clock, and a few other articles.

"Last September," Siks told Police Sergeants John Ellis and William Hanley yesterday, "I met a charming fellow who called himself Jack Ross. Our liking was mutual and we decided to reside together. The peculiar part of the arrangement was that I paid all the rent. Then about two weeks ago Jack told me he had to go to New York and get married.

"Because he wanted to make a good impression on his bride, he said, he borrowed my traveling equipment, promising to return it when he got back to Chicago. I haven't seen him since."

The sergeants, after looking in their records, told the consul's secretary that Jack Ross was wanted for passing a hundred worthless checks and that they hoped they could find him.

DENVER NURSE PARDONED.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Farice King, Denver nurse who was sentenced to serve a life term in prison for killing a man she accused of betraying her, was free today as a result of an executive order issued by Gov. E. C. Johnson. Miss King went to prison May 11, 1929, for killing John Bobaine.

PONZI RELEASED, BUT DEPORTATION IS NEXT WORRY

'Wizard' Much Chastened as He Leaves Prison.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Freed after 11 years' incarceration on swindling charges, Charles Ponzi walked today into the waiting arms of immigration authorities.

Expressing hope that he would be allowed to remain in the United States, the "get rich quick" expert of 1919 and 1920 was held in failure of a $1,000 bond pending hearings on the federal government's order that he be deported to Italy.

Meanwhile, Ponzi said, he has no plans other than a desire to go home to his pretty dark eyed wife, Rose.

40 Pounds Heavier.

The Ponzi who emerged from the Massachusetts state prison was 40 pounds heavier than the Ponzi who entered the prison 11 years ago. He had added a slight double chin and a somewhat rotund appearance to the slender figure of the old days.

The braggadocian air was gone and in its place a chastened reserve.

Ponzi expressed the hope the world would forgive him and permit him to work unmolested, but, he hoped, in America. He felt, he said, he had expiated his offenses.

"Eleven years and seven months," he said, "that's the length of time I served in all. No one can fool me about that. I counted every day of it."

Met by Camera Men.

He was met inside the prison door by at least two score news men and outside, unprotected from a piercingly cold wind, waited nearly as many camera men.

Ponzi told the group he had no definite plans and was unable to look further into the future than today's luncheon.

Ponzi praised the treatment he received in prison, where he was a clerk, and the godspeeds accorded him by prison officials and trusties who crowded about to shake his hand indicated that he left some reciprocal feeling behind.

He was whisked in a limousine across the waterfront to the immigration station in East Boston.

Miss Mary Ward, immigration commissioner, admitted him to the customary bail of $1,000, but he was unable to raise it today.

PAIR HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Bernard Curley, 23 years old, 4556 Ellis avenue, and John Redmond, 20 years old, 7140 Vernon avenue, were held to the grand jury in $2,500 bonds by Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden yesterday on charges of robbing a telegraph office.

Kill that COLD!

Don't Merely Coddle It with Half-Way Measures!

A cold is nothing to trifle with! It may end seriously. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for an internal treatment. It also calls for a COLD remedy and not something good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is direct and internal—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is sold by all druggists, 30c and 60c. Accept no substitute.

COL. H. B. HACKETT NAMED TO DIRECT FEDERAL HOUSING

Chicago Architect Picked by Secretary Ickes.

BY AL CHASE.

Col. Horatio B. Hackett of Chicago yesterday was appointed director of the housing division of the Public Works administration by Secretary of the Interior Ickes. He will succeed Robert D. Kohn, a New York architect, who has held the position for the last nine months.

Selection of Col. Hackett, a member of the Chicago architectural firm of Holabird & Root, was regarded in Washington as a move to speed up the federal housing corporation. Given $100,000,000 of public works money for low cost housing developments, it has spent very little.

Problems of His Job.

"There are four problems involved in this accomplishment," he said. "First, to select projects in some city where the federal government will allot money for their building. Second, to build them. Third, to rent them. And fourth, to manage them properly after they are rented.

"Naturally I don't care to say much about a job that I haven't taken hold of. As near as I can find out my work is to find the ways and means and the machinery to get something done in housing. That's been my work in private life. Other partners in our firm made the plans and I had to do the building.

Differs from Predecessor.

"There have been a number of housing projects submitted at Washington, several from Chicago. Some of these must be all right, and I'm going to try and find out which are all right and let the backers know. And then by legislation or by determined effort of some sort I hope to get some of them under way. It looks as though that will be my job down there."

Col. Hackett's idea of federal housing is considerably different from the man he is succeeding, Mr. Kohn. The latter was definitely committed to slum clearance only. He looked with disfavor on several big projects which were planned for districts distinctly not slums.

The new Chicago housing director believes there are two kinds of housing projects applicable to cities like Chicago and New York, those which replace slum areas and those which are built in comfortable residential areas. He pointed out that in many cases the price of land in slum districts is much higher than that asked in better areas.

Noted as Football Referee.

Two other Chicagoans are occupying high positions in the housing division of the Public Works administration. Max Dunning, architect, is assistant, and will be next in charge under Col. Hackett. Eugene H. Klaber, also a Chicago architect, is head of the technical staff.

Col. Hackett is a graduate of West Point, 1904, served as colonel of the 124th Field artillery of Illinois in the world war and was wounded in action. He is a noted football referee; was a "twelve letter man" at West Point and is a member of the football rules committee. He lives at 1320 North State street.

Col. Hackett was in charge of construction for the Stevens hotel, the Board of Trade, the Palmolive, 333 and other big Chicago office buildings.

Andrew A. Bruce, a former justice of the North Dakota Supreme court and a professor of law at Northwestern university, yesterday was named by President Roosevelt as chairman of the Illinois adjustment board of the national recovery administration.

MILTON E. JONES TO BE RUNNING MATE OF BROOKS

Milton E. Jones, Sangamon county stock raiser and farmer, is to be the running mate of C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago for the two Republican nominations for congressman at large in the April primaries.

Edward F. Moore, secretary of the Republican Cook county central committee, announced last night that the slate committee had agreed on this choice from a large field. The committee will circulate petitions for both candidates. It is believed this program will be acceptable to the state committee, which is not taking an active part in the primary campaign.

Jones' name was presented to the Cook county organization by the Sangamon county committee. He resides at Williamsville, near Springfield. For three years during the Emmerson administration he was superintendent of the Illinois state fair.

LINCOLN PARK ON CASH BASIS; ITS BILLS PAID UP

The Lincoln park commissioner's economy program, begun in 1931, paid dividends yesterday when, by authorizing payment of all bills up to Jan. 1 the trustees virtually placed the district on a cash basis. The district is the only major tax spending body in Cook county on such a basis.

Yesterday's action followed the authorization of the sale of $150,000 worth of 1933 tax anticipation warrants to the Continental Illinois National bank. Martin H. Kennelly, vice president of the park board and chairman of the finance committee, said that this sum and $50,000 from the general park funds would be sufficient to balance the district books up to the first of this year. Mr. Kennelly added that the district has on hand an additional $265,000 which will be used in the payment of current debts and salaries to the 700 park employés.

"The Lincoln park district finances are in the best of shape," said A. D. Plamondon, president of the board. "Last week the board paid off $100,000 in old bills. Our employés have been paid up to date."

TODAY IS THE 36TH ANNIVERSARY OF SINKING OF MAINE

Today is the 36th anniversary of sinking of the battleship Maine in the harbor at Havana, Cuba. Commemorative ceremonies will be held tonight at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 5256 Cottage Grove avenue, and at the Chicago Historical society in Lincoln park by Chicago veterans of the war with Spain.

Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, who was a midshipman on the battleship at the time of the disaster, will speak at the ceremony at the historical society. Schley Camp No. 58 and Columbia Camp No. 2 of the Spanish American war veterans and the Illinois branch of the Army of Santiago de Cuba will participate in the service.

The field artillery band will take part in the program at the south side armory. This program will include a review of Spanish war veterans, the firing of a salute and sounding of taps.

Two officers and 264 enlisted men were killed in the explosion that wrecked the battleship on the night of Feb. 15, 1898. The sinking of the ship precipitated the war with Spain.

2 Connoisseurs of Good Whisky Hold Up Saloon

Two men entered the saloon of Leo Litavan, 2419 West 43d street, yesterday and drew revolvers. "First give us two whisky sours and then give us your money," they ordered Litavan. After disposing of their drinks they took $3 and started for the door. "That's good whisky," one of the bandits told his companion as they paused at the door. "We'd better have more." They returned, forced the owner to give them eight quarts of whisky and then fled.

FEAR U. S. WON'T TAKE PARK BONDS FOR LINK BRIDGE

Work on Outer Drive Span Is Held Up.

Resumption of work on the outer drive bridge is being held up indefinitly, despite the announcement from Washington a month ago that $6,877,000 had been set aside by the public works administration, it was learned yesterday. The funds were put aside for the project, although it was known then that legal difficulties stood in the way of the acceptance by the government of the collateral offered by the south park and Lincoln park boards.

The consensus of attorneys for the park boards and of the PWA, after two days of conference, is that the acceptance of the park securities is doubtful, according to Joshua D'Esposito, engineer for the state advisory board. Every possibility, including that of special legislation to squeeze the project through, is being explored, however.

Attorneys Study Problem.

At present the matter is under consideration by the law firm of Chapman & Cutler, authorities on securities issued by taxing bodies. The firm's opinion is expected to be made public tomorrow.

The situation is particularly disappointing to local authorities because the government's action a month ago was generally interpreted as final approval, and work was to have begun immediately.

The present legal difficulty came about as follows: The park boards sold bond issues for the outer drive and bridge project but were compelled by a lack of other cash during the depression to use the money for other purposes. The south parks placed their tax warrants in the bridge fund, while Lincoln park after using the bridge funds to redeem other bonds, placed refunded bonds in the bridge and outer drive funds. The attorneys say the government probably will not accept this replaced paper for the bridge loan.

Calls Situation Ironical.

"The irony of the situation," said Mr. D'Esposito, "lies in the admitted fact that both park boards would pay off the government loans faster than nearly any other borrowers of similar funds."

Asked whether the Washington authorities could not waive a legal point under these circumstances, Mr. D'Esposito replied that if this were done the project would again be balked when the expenditure came before the controler of the currency. This officer, rigidly governed in his rulings by the law, would refuse to approve the disbursement, it was believed.

"We of the advisory board have put more thought and energy into this matter than in even the sanitary district project," the engineer said. "In order to safeguard a chance of a loan, after letters of all other funds were exhausted, Washington authorities set aside the outer link bridge funds in good faith, sure that some way would be worked out to meet all requirements."

$1,672,500 Grant Planned.

Of the total set aside, $1,672,500 was to be an outright grant, this being 30 per cent of the estimated cost of labor and materials. Of the remainder, $3,716,000 was to be a loan to the south parks and $1,489,000 a loan to Lincoln park, the latter having a smaller portion of the work to do.

The improvement would enable a motorist to leave the present outer drive at Ohio street and the lake, proceed due south until he crossed the bridge, then turn west on a viaduct for a short distance and continue his southward direction. Those using the new drive and bridge would save time and relieve the traffic jam at the Michigan avenue bridge "bottleneck."

North Western Will Run 2 New Milwaukee Trains

Two new trains operating between Chicago and Milwaukee have been placed in service by the Chicago and North Western railroad Monday. One train will leave Chicago on week days at 4:01 p. m., and the other will leave Milwaukee at 4 p. m. The trains arrive at their destination within two hours and were designed to get business men who spend the day in either city to return to their homes for dinner. The new schedule was announced by R. Thomson, passenger traffic manager.

ALDERMEN SLICE ANOTHER MILLION FROM 1934 BUDGET

After slogging into the city's 1934 budget again yesterday at a four-hour session members of the city council finance committee found, after cutting out about $1,000,000, they are still $1,000,000 above the estimated revenues of $44,000,000.

Yesterday's reduction was made mainly by taking approximately $900,000 off the appropriation for the bureau of streets.

The aldermen went over appropriations for themselves again and agreed to take a 78 days' pay cut, but to keep their automobile maintenance of $48 a month.

"The aldermen," said Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] "have to sign a memorandum that they have actually spent the money on automobile maintenance. An alderman uses his automobile in making the rounds in his ward. Each alderman goes around his ward continually to see what progress is being made on street repairs, garbage collection, and probably covers every section of his ward every two or three weeks. It is necessary to check ward conditions continually to keep the ward in good shape."

PROPOSES TAKING MOVEABLE SPAN TO ASHLAND AVE.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] yesterday proposed a plan whereby a moveable bridge could be placed across the north branch of the Chicago river at Ashland avenue at a lesser cost than would be entailed in the construction of either a fixed or bascule bridge. Engineers are working on the plan, he said, and will report within a week.

The plan proposes to move a temporary turntable bridge now in South Halsted street across the south branch to the Ashland avenue site. A new bridge is being built in Halsted street, and the bond issue out of which it is being constructed contains a provision for the expenditure of $100,000 to remove the temporary span. The engineers are determining the cost of moving the bridge to Ashland avenue.

Announcement of the plan followed a joint session of the city council committees on special assessments and harbors, wharves, and bridges on the proposal of the board of local improvements to build a bascule bridge in Ashland avenue. The department of public works had applied to the war department for a permit to construct a fixed bridge, but this application was withdrawn after a dispute arose between the two departments.

CITY TO GET NO AID FROM JUDGES IN CUTTING COSTS

Insist They Can't Take Slash in Salary.

Declaring that they would be violating their oath of office by taking a cut in salary, judges of the Municipal court yesterday indicated that the city council may expect no help from them in endeavoring to effect economies in the 1934 corporate budget.

The city council finance committee has found itself hampered in its attempts to reduce overappropriations credited partially by the request of the Municipal court for $2,505,671 for 1934, an increase of $521,482 over the 1933 figure. Nearly all the increase comes from the judges' demand for full salaries for themselves and the court employés, although other city employés must take a 78 days' pay cut.

Evade Definite Statements.

Some of the judges evaded definite statements and there were some who offered to take the pay cut "if the other judges go along." Inasmuch as such an agreement among the judges was obviously not forthcoming, the offer was said by observers to be of little value.

The judges reiterated that they cannot legally take a slash in their salaries; that the constitution binds them to accept full pay; and that the decision a few weeks ago of Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan ordering a full appropriation for judicial salaries and the restoration of back pay makes it impossible for the council to award less than full wages for the judges.

Most outspoken in his comments was Judge John H. Lyle who was bitter in his references to members of the council finance committee who criticized the judges for refusing to take a cut in salary.

"Let the aldermen quit four-flushing and follow the law as it is laid down for them," Judge Lyle said. "Any layman knows by this time that it is legally impossible to reduce a sitting judge's salary and there is considerable question as to whether a judge can volunteer to return a part of his pay to the city."

Expose True Natures.

"The aldermen exposed their true natures when then voted to give themselves $48 a month for automobile maintenance. Is that economy? Very few of the judges can afford automobiles and they are entitled to full pay for the heavy work they do. The court bailiffs and clerks are also entitled to full pay. Cuts in salary may subject them to temptations to which they would otherwise not be subject."

The salary of an associate judge of the Municipal court is $10,000 a year. The salary of the chief justice is $15,000.

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby, while pointing out that the matter was a personal one for each judge to consider, argued that the Municipal court employés were entitled to full pay even though other city employés must take a 78 days' pay cut.

"The civil service employés working for the city are assured of continuity of employment and a pension at the end of twenty years," Judge Sonsteby declared. "Court employés have no such assurance of steady employment and no pensions."

Suggest Other Economies.

Other judges, including Judges Edward D. Casey and Edgar A. Jonas, asserted that other economies than pay cuts could be effected in the Municipal court budget.

"The chief justice's budget is overloaded and could be cut in half," declared Judge Casey. "If there should be a conscientious effort to trim that part of the budget, I'd be willing to do my share in accepting a cut although I am, on principal, opposed to the cutting of judicial salaries."

"It might be well to cut the judges salaries despite court orders, and go to jail in consequence," commented Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] at a session of the city council finance committee which took no action on the Municipal court appropriation. "It would be the finest rest that we could get."

"Yes," agreed Ald. John A. Massen [48th], "they might put four of us in a cell and we could play bridge."

BUILDING OWNED BY W. H. MALONE IN FORECLOSURE

A bill to foreclose a mortgage on a two story building at 6150-52 Northwest highway, owned by William H. Malone, former chairman of the Illinois tax commission who is now under federal indictment for alleged income tax evasion, was filed in the Circuit court yesterday. The bill was filed by Attorney John P. Heinemann on behalf of several of the mortgage owners and alleged the mortgage has been in default since last Aug. 15. County Judge Jarecki recently appointed County Treasurer McDonough receiver for the building under the Kerner-Skarda act to collect delinquent taxes totaling $1,500.

REVEALS '32 TAX RATES FOR FIVE MORE TOWNSHIPS

10,000 More Personalty Bills Mailed.

Announcement of the 1932 tax rates for five more Cook county townships outside the city was made yesterday by County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer. The rates for the eight city townships and for 20 other country townships already have been announced, and rates for the remaining five country townships will be made public within a few days.

County Treasurer McDonough yesterday mailed out 10,000 more personal property tax bills to the city township of South Chicago, which includes the loop district. I. H. Besser, deputy treasurer in charge of the tax warrant division, said that bills being paid in part in warrants are receivable only at the branch office at 5 South Dearborn street.

Rates for Five Townships.

The rates for the five country townships announced yesterday are given in the subjoined tables. The basic rate is the sum of the state, county, and forest preserve rates. The road and bridge rate is included if the township is wholly out of the city. In Norwood Park township the sanitary district rate is included in the basic rate. In Riverside township the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district rate is included and in Northfield township the north shore mosquito abatement district rate is included. In Rich township the non-high school district rate is part of the basic rate. In that part of Norwood Park township lying within Chicago the taxpayer must add the city and school board rates to his basic rate.

In computing his total rate the taxpayer adds to the basic rate for his township the rates for the school, park, and bond districts, and in some instances the sanitary district and village rates, depending on where he lives. With the total rate known, the taxpayer may calculate his bill by multiplying the assessed valuation of his property by the rate and then marking off two decimal points.

FATHER BEAT MISSING BOY, MOTHER CLAIMS

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Authorities here today had in custody Charles Backus, a laborer; his wife, his mother, and his two daughters, in an investigation of the mysterious disappearance one week ago of Backus' 8 year old son, Charles Jr.

After a day of interrogation authorities brought Mrs. Backus into a room where her husband was confined. Pointing her hand at him, she accused Backus of "slapping the boy unconscious," and then driving away in the family truck with his son's body beside him.

"You took the boy out for half an hour and didn't bring him back," Mrs. Backus asserted as she looked her husband in the eye.

This scene gave the first clew to the possible fate of the sickly child who has not been seen since he went to his home from school late in the afternoon one week ago. After Mrs. Backus had confronted her husband she told police that her husband had cut a four foot club from a thicket near their squalid home and had threatened "crêpe on the front door for any member of the family that tells about Charley."

County highway police, city detectives and Boy Scouts have begun a search of the lonely countryside within a few miles of the poverty stricken Backus home.

VOTE TO INDICT FOUR ON AUTO FRAUD CHARGE

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 43; recovered, 39; stripped, 1 [from police records for the 24 hours ending at midnight Tuesday].

A true bill against four men charging them with conspiracy to defraud the Chicago Motor club by faking the theft of an automobile was reported to have been voted yesterday by the Cook county grand jury. The evidence was presented to the grand jury by Assistant State's Attorney Francis J. McCurrie, who said three of the defendants are in police custody.

Edwin Erickson, 32 years old, 6819 Dorchester avenue, was the owner of the automobile, which was insured by the motor club against $600 loss by theft, according to the prosecutor. Erickson was reported to have been named in the true bill with Roy Derry, 6234 Dorchester avenue; Samuel Cohen, 903 Independence boulevard, and a man known only as Lefty Rubins. The latter has not been apprehended. It is charged that Erickson turned the car over to Derry and that Derry in turn gave it to Cohen, who turned it over to Rubins for final disposal. The car disappeared in April, 1933.

BANDITS ROB RESTAURANT.

Police yesterday were seeking three bandits who took $30 in a robbery late Tuesday night of the John R. Thompson restaurant at 138 South Canal street.

1ST CONFERENCE FOR CLUBWOMEN TO OPEN TODAY

Leaders of federated women's clubs in five of the central states were either in Chicago last night or on their way here for the two day program of the first annual Conference on Major Problems, at the Palmer house today and tomorrow. The first assembly will be held this afternoon in the grand ballroom of the hotel. The conference is sponsored by THE TRIBUNE.

On the platform as the gavel falls at 2 p. m. today to call the crowd to order will be Mrs. W. F. Farrell, head of the Illinois organizations, who returned yesterday from a tour of the state; Mrs. Sears R. McLean of Holland, Mich., president of the Michigan state federation; Mrs. Frederick H. Clausen of Horicon, Wis., president of the Wisconsin groups; Mrs. Eugene Henely of Iowa, president of the Iowa federated clubs, and Mrs. Edwin N. Canine of Terre Haute, general federation director of Indiana.

Wide Range of Topics.

There will also be present numerous unofficial delegations from Chicago and the surrounding territory, interested in taking back to their club memberships reports of the various speeches. The topics to be discussed will cover a wide range of information and will bring to the club women recent and well balanced news and views of developments in legislation, finance, education, and other fields.

Gov. Henry Horner, who was ordered to Arizona by his physicians several days ago, yesterday telegraphed his regrets that he could not participate in today's program, at which he was scheduled to speak.

At the first session addresses will be made by Frank Bane, director of the American Public Welfare association, who will talk on welfare problems in government; by Miss Helen Bennett of A Century of Progress, whose theme will be the dilemma of the college and university graduates of the depression years, and Mrs. Margaret Ayer Barnes, novelist.

Reception This Evening.

The entertainment and reception planned for this evening in honor of the federation executives promises to be an enjoyable one. At 8 o'clock the regular weekly program of the W-G-N Concert orchestra will be broadcast from a stage in the grand ballroom, with Pierre Andre announcing, Adolphe Dumont handling the baton, and Attilio Baggiore as the soloist. Door of the ballroom will close at 7:45 o'clock for the half hour of the broadcast.

The second half of the program, to follow after a brief intermission, will bring such artists as Lawrence Salerno and Allan Grant, baritone and pianist of W-G-N, to perform individually and together; Olga Kargau, lyric coloratura, and Wadeeha Atiyeh, young Syrian soprano.

Tomorrow morning Prof. W. F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago will talk on "New Inventions and Economic Prosperity." Mrs. W. W. Seymour, chairman of the American home committee of the general federation, formerly head of the Illinois federation, will also speak.

Supervising Captain John Stege, ace of the Chicago police department, will close the morning session with an analysis of "Laws and Lawbreakers."

Dr. Melchior Palyi, guest professor at the University of Chicago; Mrs. Harris T. Baldwin of Washington, and Col. R. R. McCormick of THE TRIBUNE will speak at the last session, Friday afternoon.

RED BRICK HOME OF EX-MAYOR WALKER SOLD IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The old red brick home of James J. Walker, former mayor, in Greenwich village, was sold today. The price was kept secret.

The purchaser was Eric Coupey, broker in essential oils. Coupey said he intended to move in immediately with his wife and two children.

Nattie Carnegie, Inc., has a $15,000 judgment against the house.

Walker lived, off and on, in the house since he was seven years old. He was once quoted as saying:

But now he is in Europe with his second wife, Betty Compton. Mrs. Janet Walker, who divorced him, continued to live at the house while Walker, then a sporty mayor, resided much of the time at Mayfair house on Park avenue. She is now in Florida.

TRACTION LINES TO GET ANOTHER 30 DAY EXTENSION

The city council, at its meeting today, is expected to grant another 30 day extension to the Chicago surface and elevated lines for acceptance of the 1930 unification franchise, while details are being worked out for the merger of the two systems.

Ald. James B. Bowler, chairman of the local transportation committee, said he would request the extension to April 3. The present deadline is March 3. In the six weeks the committee will hold public hearings on whether the request of the traction interests should be given until July 31 to accept the ordinance.

There has been opposition to the ordinance on the part of a number of groups. These interests are urging that the council should allow the ordinance to lapse. On the other side, the Chicago Association of Commerce, the City club, and almost 200 civic and improvement clubs favor the ordinance and are urging that the extension to July be granted so that some of the benefits promised, such as the universal transfer, will be more quickly forthcoming.

JURYMEN SING AFTER HEARING DEAN LETTERS

Greenwood, Miss., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Jurymen sitting more than two weeks in the poison highball trial of Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean today burst into a rendition of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" after hearing some of the affectionate letters Dr. Dean wrote Dr. John P. Kennedy shortly before his death last August.

It was an "off stage number," sung after the jury had retired to its quarters during one of the innumerable recesses which have marked the trial.

Today's recess was occasioned by the request of Dr. Dean and her attorneys to be allowed to read in full the letters held by the state and identified as having been written by Dr. Dean to Dr. Kennedy.

District Attorney Arthur Jordan read two of Dr. Dean's missives to the jury this morning. Dr. Dean was as unperturbed as ever, but a wan smile momentarily crossed her face when the prosecutor said some of the introductions were in the words: "My darling."

SUBCOMMITTEE HEARS CHICAGO'S SCHOOL AID PLEA

Folsom Lays Case Before House Group.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Schoolboard Reporter of The Tribune.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—A strong plea for a financial rescue of the Chicago school system by the federal government was made before a house subcommittee today. The congressmen were told that unless aid is obtained shortly the schools of the nation's second largest city will be closed and the education of a half million children halted.

Richard S. Folsom, attorney for the Chicago board of education, laid the case before members of a subcommittee of the house committee on banking and currency. The group, headed by Chairman Anning S. Prall [Dem., N. Y.], questioned the attorney closely on the Chicago situation and the possibility of relief through pending legislation.

Embodies Kelly Program.

The bill under discussion was introduced recently by Congressman A. J. Sabath [Dem., Ill.]. It embodies the program proposed by Mayor Kelly, namely—to empower the federal Reconstruction Finance corporation to purchase bonds of school districts that have property, unusued for educational purposes, to offer as additional security. About 30 million dollars' worth of property in this class is held by the school board in Chicago.

"If this legislation is adopted," asked Congressman Denver S. Church [Dem., Cal.], "will it relieve your situation?"

"We feel sure that it would," replied Folsom. "All we are asking is that we may have the power to apply to the RFC for the purchase. If the RFC thinks we qualify for the help on a sound credit basis then the cash will save us. We believe that we have a good case."

Introduced by Sabath.

Congressman Sabath brought Attorney Folsom before the committee and made the first argument for the mayor's plan.

"Chicago is two years behind in collecting its taxes," explained Sabath. "Now I do not believe that the school board should have to go to a private mortgage corporation and pay high interest and commission rates for the loan. This aid should be given by the federal government to another branch of government."

After prefacing his remarks with a review of the complex tax problem in Chicago, Folsom told the congressmen of the dire want of the school employés. He pointed out that the teachers were owed salaries for seven months and the civil service workers ten months.

"Has the board done all it could to economize without endangering education?" asked Congressman James Simpson Jr. [Rep., Ill.].

Cites Economy Move.

"It has," replied Folsom. "The net operating cost of publicly educating children in Chicago was 37 million dollars in 1924. The costs swelled to 51 millions in 1931, but through rigid retrenchments the present board managed to drive the expenditures down to the 1924 level during last year."

Another argument for bolstering up the Chicago schools with federal funds was advanced by Thomas V. Sullivan, former attorney for the board, who made the trip to Washington with Folsom. Sullivan declared that the RFC had loans to banks, railroads and other institutions that did not have as good a chance for repayment as the school loan.

Folsom wound up four strenuous day of conference in Washington in the afternoon and departed for Chicago. On the way, he said, he would prepare a report on the outlook for federal funds, for James B. McCahey, president of the board, and other school trustees.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item in THE TRIBUNE yesterday morning stated that Miss Edith Prettyman had filed a damage suit against the Michigan-Ohio Building corporation after she became ill of pneumonia when a bucket of cold water was dashed over her while she was getting a shampoo in the Doret Vanity shop in the building. The owners of the vanity shop said that the accident to Miss Prettyman was not their fault and that she had been doused by the cold water under a faulty pipe for which the building was responsible.

TEACHERS PLAN FOR NEW MARCH ON LEGISLATORS

Several thousand school teachers who last Monday visited the homes of sixteen state senators living in Chicago to ask their support of legislation to help the teachers obtain their back salaries will make similar visits tomorrow afternoon to the homes of fifty-one state representatives living in the city. The legislators are expected to be home from Springfield tomorrow for the week-end recess of the legislature.

Plans for the demonstrations were made yesterday at a meeting of teacher delegates of the teachers' voluntary emergency committee at the Medical and Dental Arts building under the direction of John Fewkes, teacher at the Tilden Technical High school. The teachers plan to meet in group formations at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon at fifty-one designated points throughout the city and then visit the homes of the legislators.

The school board meeting scheduled for yesterday was postponed until next Wednesday because too few school trustees appeared to make a quorum. Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, one of the trustees who was present yesterday, asserted that she had heard rumors that the legislators were planning to defer action on the school legislation program in order to return to their homes and open their campaign for reelection.

Says Husband Put Rival's Lingerie on Her Account

Mrs. Bell Hoffman, 32 years old, 2639 Blaine place, charged yesterday that her husband, Maurice, charged lingerie which he purchased for another woman on his wife's account at a loop shop. In a bill for divorce filed in the Superior court, Mrs. Hoffman asserted that she failed to recognize several items on the bill and upon investigation learned that the finery had gone to a "Jane Doe," whom she names as co-respondent.

SUIT FILED HERE AGAINST BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE CO.

A suit for an accounting was filed in the Superior court yesterday by William C. Whitcomb, 1500 Lake Shore drive, against the Baldwin Locomotive works of Philadelphia. Mr. Whitcomb was president of the George D. Whitcomb Locomotive Manufacturing company of Rochelle, Ill., until it went into bankruptcy in 1931. The suit alleged that the officials of the Baldwin company defrauded Whitcomb of his stock in his company after the bankruptcy petition was filed and then purchased the Whitcomb company's assets, valued at $1,000,000, for $250,000.

Gains 5 Pounds in 1 Week! Feels Fine!
Read How Amazing Mineral Concentrate, Richest in Newer Form of "FOOD IODINE," Is Building Up Thousands of Nervous, Skinny, Rundown Folks Where All Else Fails.

"It will be a week this noon since I began using Kelp-a-Malt and I have gained 5 pounds and feel much better."—T. W. H. . . . "Gained 5 pounds the first package. I'm very much pleased."—D. G. E. . . . "Had stomach trouble for years. When I take Kelp-a-Malt I have a hearty appetite for everything and suffer no distress. Kelp-a-Malt has banished constipation, which I have had all my life."—W. D. C. . . . "Gained 8 pounds with one package of Kelp-a-Malt and feel 100% better."—Mrs. W. J. S.

Just a few of the thousands of actual testimonials that are flooding in from all over the country telling us how this newer form of food iodine is building firm flesh, strengthening the nerves, enriching the blood—nourishing vital glands and making weak, pale, careworn underweight men and women look and feel years younger.

Scientists have recently discovered that the blood, liver and vital glands of the body contain definite quantities of iodine which heretofore have been difficult to obtain.

Modern foodstuffs, even fresh vegetables and similarly so-called "good" foods, have recently been discovered to be lacking not only in food iodine but in all the other essential organic minerals without which strength and health are impossible.

Supplies Newer Form of Food Iodine.

Kelp-a-Malt, only recently discovered, contains practically every mineral essential to normal well-being. But most important of all, it is the richest known source of the newer form of food iodine—natural iodine not made from iodides or other chemicals which oftentimes prove toxic, but the same iodine that is present in spinach and lettuce. It is the lack of this iodine which experts in nutrition say is our foremost national health problem. Kelp-a-Malt is a sea vegetable concentrate taken from the Pacific Ocean and made available in palatable, pleasant-to-take tablet form. Six Kelp-a-Malt tablets provide more food iodine than 486 pounds of spinach, 1600 pounds of beef, 1287 pounds of lettuce. Three Kelp-a-Malt tablets contain more iron and copper for rich blood, vitality and strength than a pound of spinach, 7½ pounds of fresh tomatoes—more calcium than 6 eggs, more phosphorus than a pound and a half of carrots—sulphur, sodium, potassium and other essential minerals.

Only when you get an adequate amount of these minerals can your food do you any good—can you nourish glands, add weight, strengthen your nerves, increase your vigor, vitality and endurance.

Try Kelp-a-Malt today. Contains no yeast—doesn't cause bloating. Two weeks are required to effect a change in the mineralization of the body. At the end of that time, if you have not gained at least 5 pounds, do not look better, feel better and have more endurance than ever before, the trial is free. 200 jumbo size tablets, which are 4 to 5 times larger than ordinary size tablets, cost but little. Get Kelp-a-Malt today.

AUSTRIAN GUNS DRIVE SOCIALISTS OUT OF VIENNA

Workers Dig In for Last Stand on Outskirts.

afternoon it was a harrowing sight. From a bridge over the Danube I had seen shells fall in this district and heard their detonation. When later I saw it close up the Schlingerhof was seared and ripped with shells.

A Scene of Desolation.

The stuccoed walls were peppered with shrapnel holes and the window panes were shattered. It was a scene of desolation. So was the fire department building next door, for the firemen had joined the schutzbund. Several fires were blazing in the district, but little attention was paid to them.

Surly soldiers were keeping off persons with lowered bayonets, shouting, "Keep your hands out of your pockets!" Squads of helmeted men dashed about with rifles, always pointed at the crowd.

Women and children were crying in the streets. Some of their men doubtless had been killed.

It all seemed useless, this artillery fire and carnage. The schutzbund perhaps had broken the law, but this ruthless destruction of them had an astonishing effect on those who beheld the scene of the morning's fighting.

Nazis May Step In.

It seemed certain that the popular feeling toward it, and especially toward Prince Starhemberg, as far as I could hear it expressed, was not enthusiastic.

This popular feeling that the ruthlessness has been carried too far may be a factor in the events of the next few days. There are tonight many imponderable elements in the situation. It cannot be learned whether Chancellor Dollfuss or Maj. Fey decreed those measures which caused so much loss of life, but the government seemed anxious to get the popular feeling moving in its way and scattered proclamations and handbills about.

Among the possibilities in the situation is one that Fey and Starhemberg may be forced to join the Nazis in order to hold their positions. That would mean that the Nazis would claim a place in the government. What will be the ultimate position of Dollfuss in all this is not known. The Austrian "Milli-Metternich" is now pushed in the background.

Object to "Civil War."

Government officials objected today to correspondents describing the situation in Austria as having developed into the proportions of a civil war. Yet the sights in the streets of moving artillery, dashing truckloads of soldiers, prisoners, and barbed wire entanglements would appear to justify the description.

From 4 o'clock until 7 o'clock tonight I inspected nearly every district in Vienna where there was fighting this morning. My observations were, briefly, that the artillery had fired again today on the Karl Marxhof huge apartment building in Doebling. I saw new shell holes in this building which were not there yesterday. Furthermore, artillery fire had fairly wrecked the workers' home in Ottakring, another district.

Along streets leading into Floridsdorf houses were scarred with shells and machine gun bullets. High tension and street car wires were cut and twisted and writhing. An Austrian and also a Fascist heimwehr flag flew over the city hall of Floridsdorf. They were not there last night.

Menaced with Bayonets.

The Schlingerhof presented an appalling sight of ruthless elimination of the Socialist opposition. It was held by young soldiers, merely obeying orders but menacingly ready to shoot. They walked about with lowered bayonets, Women and men looked on silently. Some wept.

When taking notes about what I saw several bayonets were pushed in my direction and I had to explain what I was doing.

The Schlingerhof had been literally sprayed with shrapnel. The defenders, however, must have been well armed, for I saw soldiers carrying out dismantled machine guns which the schutzbund abandoned when they finally hoisted a white flag this noon and those who were not slain or arrested fled to new barricades.

Artillery at Strategic Point.

We drove from there out into the open spaces to Leopoldau and Kagran, two villages on the northeast side of the Danube. To these places the Socialists had retreated from the Schlingerhof. At Leopoldau we talked with artillerymen. A whole battery was planted there ready to shoot either at Floridsdorf or across the river into Vienna if necessary. These men had probably been in action that morning.

As we stood puffs of smoke and sounds of firing could be heard and seen to the south.

"That is from Simmering," said an artilleryman. "A big force of schutzbund men are entrenched in the Laaberg wood and they are shooting them out."

We went on to the village of Kagran and were stopped in the middle of the street by a soldier with a potato masher style of hand grenade in his belt. Beyond Kagran is a bridge leading to Vienna.

Socialists Make "Last Stand."

"Don't go down there. A band of schutzbunders is making a last stand," said the soldier.

He added that the Fascists would close in on them and reduce or drive them out tonight.

We recrossed the Danube to the Karl Marxhof. Guards warned us away from the workers' home in Ottakring, saying there were still snipers within.

In Meidling, to the extreme south of the city, there were signs of recent fighting. In Simmering on the main street I saw a six inch gun mounted so as to sweep the street. Everywhere there were soldiers with lowered bayonets and hardly enough time to examine our passes.

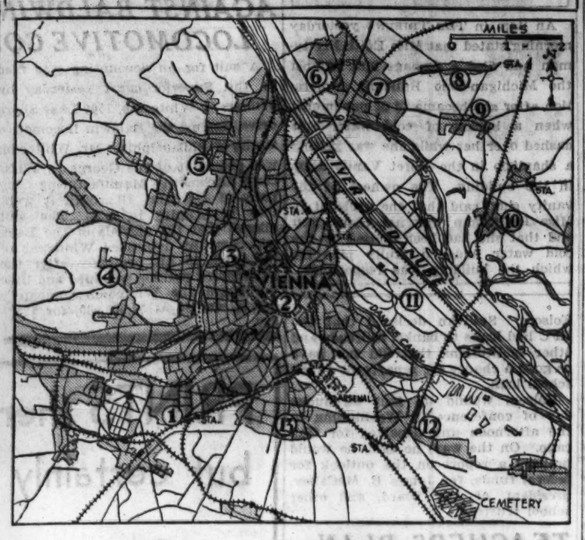
The government today began meting out harsh punishment to its captives.

Hardly had the cannon ceased raking Floridsdorf when eight schutzbund men were haled before a Vienna court martial. Two were summarily sentenced to death on charges of mutiny and sedition.

One man, a shoemaker, named Karl Muenichreiter, was hanged at 6 p. m. The second man, George Weissel, chief of the Floridsdorf fire department, died on the gallows at midnight.

At the medical institute here 64 bodies are lying—40 heimwehrmen, 12 policemen, and 12 Socialists. Scenes in other morgues were pathetic. In one place are 80 unidentified victims. A steady stream of people marches through hunting missing loved ones. Among the bodies in this place are 18 school children, four of them girls, and several women.

VIENNA SOCIALISTS BLASTED FROM CITY.



Map shows districts in Vienna in which battles have raged for three days between Austrian government forces and Socialists, entrenched in apartment houses or behind barricades. Big guns yesterday succeeded in driving most of the armed Socialist forces into the surrounding country.

[2] The innere stadt, or inner city, now fortified with barbed wire barricades and machine gun batteries at every approach from the outer city.

[3] The rathaus, or city hall, seized from the Socialists on the first day.

[4] Ottakring district, where the Socialists' workers' home was bombarded by government shells; 100 Marxists were killed here.

[5] Doebling district, location of the famed Karl Marx apartment building, nearly a mile long, which was riddled by shell fire.

[8, 9, and 10] Leopoldau, Kagran, and Stadlau, villages on Vienna's outskirts, to which Socialists have retreated.

NEW YORK MOB OF 5,000 RIOTS BEFORE AUSTRIA CONSULATE

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—A shouting, jeering, cursing mob of 5,000 persons, roaring out communist songs under the windows of 500 Fifth avenue, where the Austrian consul general has his office, carried their protest against the slaughter of Austrian Socialists to such a point today that hundreds of police were mobilized to quell them.

The mob, composed of communists, Austrian Socialists and persons who were fighting against them, was finally dispersed by a charge of police horses.

Twenty mounted policemen sent their chargers up the very steps of the Fifth Avenue library. Hundreds of the demonstrators leaped the stone barriers into the gardens and ran into Bryant park. Scores more fled into the library and detectives ran after them.

Many arrests were made. The detectives and industrial squads, hastily mobilized when the demonstration began shortly after 3 o'clock, bundled their prisoners into patrol wagons drawn up on the side streets.

Fifth avenue buses were unable to move a foot during the melee. The trolley cars on Forty-second street were stopped. There were a hundred fist fights going on all the way from Fortieth street to Forty-third street.

MONACO'S RULER PROPOSES A PACT FOR 'SAFE TOWNS'

MONTE CARLO, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The ruler of one of the world's tiniest principalities, Prince Louis II. of Monaco has stepped into the international scene as a world treaty maker. Prince Louis, whose country consists of eight square miles, proposes a pact to safeguard the health and welfare of civilian populations in time of war.

If the 70 year old ruler has his way, nations will agree to concentrate noncombatants of warring countries in "sanitary towns," where protection against guns and disease will be respected by armies.

Mexico's minister to Paris, Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, a physician, and other army medical experts have been brought together at the palace by Prince Louis to study a treaty to be drafted soon. When completed, it will be submitted to nations of the world in compliance with a resolution adopted by the Madrid military medical congress last June.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 15.—[Thursday.]—The Daily Express' Vienna correspondent, telephoning at 2 a. m., said: "I have just returned from the Reichs bridge which is held by a strong force of troops who are preparing to bombard the Goethehof, a big apartment building, at dawn. One of the officers there said, 'My wife and children are in that building. What can I do? I have got to fire.'" The correspondent added that a woman who managed to escape from the Goethehof told him that Socialists, who had been driven from other buildings, had entered and "forced occupants at the point of bayonets to remain in their flats."

CZECH CABINET FALLS AFTER IT INFLATES MONEY

Forced Out by Revolt of National Democrats.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 14.—The National Democrats, dissatisfied over the recent devaluation of the currency, today precipitated the resignation of the government.

The party withdrew Minister of Commerce Josef Matousek from the cabinet and announced that it would oppose the government of Premier Jan Malypetr. The government's resignation followed.

The governor and directors of the National Bank also tendered their resignations today in protest against the government's devaluation policy.

The formation of a new government was immediately announced. The new cabinet is a reconstruction of the former one, with Malypetr still premier and changes only in minor offices. The government still has a majority of 111 in parliament.

Foreign exchange quotations on the Prague bourse have been suspended pending the fixing of the lower exchange value of the currency.

(The Czechoslovakian government early this week announced the devaluation of the crown by about 18 per cent "in order to strengthen it for competition with other currencies in markets abroad." This action was seen as a severe blow to Germany. Czechoslovakia, being an industrial country, is the chief competitor of Germany in southeastern Europe and Asia Minor.)

CHARGE ARMS PLOT

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 14.—The Austrian Socialists secured the arms with which they have been conducting the civil war for the last two days from Czechoslovakia, either direct from the Czech government or with its connivance.

This information was conveyed to THE TRIBUNE today from an Austrian source which in the past has proved reliable.

The machinery for this armament of the disruptive elements in Austria is said to be as follows:

The main railroad line from Prague to the south enters Austria at Gmundt, runs through Austria, turning east some distance north of Vienna and returns to Czechoslovakia at Pressburg.

Arms "Vanish" in Austria.

It is alleged that trains loaded with arms and ammunition have been consigned to some place in Czechoslovakia east of Pressburg, have entered Austria sealed and filled at Gmundt, and have left at Pressburg still sealed, but empty. Some where between these points the loads have been dumped into the hands of leaders of the Socialist schutzbund.

It is also alleged that arms have been shipped up the Danube from Pressburg to Vienna or nearby points and smuggled ashore.

It is pointed out that Austrian Socialist leaders have taken refuge in Czechoslovakia, which has been encouraging democratic movements against both the German and Austrian dictatorships.

There is no doubt that the Czechs are much worried by the prospect of becoming surrounded by Fascist countries and have allowed their country to become a refuge and center of agitation by both German and Austrian refugees. The German Social-Democratic organ, Vorwaerts, now is published regularly at Prague.

NIEMOELLER, FOE OF NAZI BISHOP, IS FORCED OUT

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, a leader of fundamentalist church opposition to Reichsbishop Dr. Ludwig Mueller, was permanently retired from his pastorate today by order of the bishop. The suspension of the former world war captain was made definite and irrevocable.

Three days ago a bomb was hurled into his apartment. No damage was done and the Rev. Mr. Niemoeller himself was on a trip through Germany at the time visiting colleagues in the Pastors' Emergency league.

Members of his fashionable congregation asked him to continue preaching, regardless of the order, on the ground that a pastor is elected by a congregation and cannot be removed as long as his flock supports him.

'Arise Austria!' Berlin Cries; Warns All Europe 'Hands Off'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 14. — "Austria awaken!" the old Nazi battle cry, sounded in Germany today together with a warning to the league of nations and its members not to dare intervene in Austria, because this would be a "violation of the rights of the Austrian people to forsake those in power who are enforcing a bloody dictatorship against the vast majority of Austrians."

Hair raising descriptions of the civil war in Austria and official denunciations of the "Dollfuss assassins of German workers" stirred Germany today. Many carnival festivities were interrupted and the gay Mardi Gras programs of broadcasting stations were eliminated last night to show commiseration with the "suffering of Austria."

Calls Politicians "Criminal."

"The Austrian workers are misled by ambitious and criminal politicians," the official Nazi newspaper Angriff says. "When the powder of battle has cleared the Austrian worker who stood at the barricades, and whom the Fascist heimwehr will drag to martial courts will realize that he stood in the wrong place, that he really belongs with those suffering in the vermin infested camp at Wollersdorf for their faith in National Socialism. After the bloodsoaked carnival in Austria we will see an Easter resurrection."

[Wöllersdorf is an Austrian concentration camp 25 miles from Vienna. Arrested Nazis were sent there.]

The official German view point is expressed by the Nazi News Service, which says the only solution in Austria is an immediate "assembly of all forces which have a right to represent the Austrian people and are strong enough to defend themselves against all attacks and reorganize the country's political life.

Predicts Nazi Hour Is Coming.

"They would have to turn to the Austrian people immediately for approval, and thus distinguish themselves from the illegal adventurers who are turning Austria into a battlefield of chaotic civil war. Austrian Nazis know their hour is coming the same as they know Chancellor Dollfuss' final hour is nearing. The quicker it comes the better it will be for the sorely tried Austrian people."

The Voelkischer Beobachter, in an editorial, says:

"The storms in Paris and Vienna represent the black yesterday, while what is happening in Nazi Germany represents the bright future. This becomes clear to us when we see that the last resort of the Dollfus régime is cannons, machine guns, and jail cells for the men who alone are entitled to govern Austria and free it from Marxism."

In the general excitement over Austria, a visit today by the French Ambassador, Andre Francois-Poncet, to the German foreign minister, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, received almost no attention. He presented the French reply to the German disarmament memorandum of Jan. 19. The reply is understood to reject flatly Germany's demand for rearmament.

Report Italian Troops Massing.

ROME, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Reports of Italian troop movements near the Austrian frontier were published today by the usually well informed newspaper, Giornale d'Italia under a Paris date line.

The newspaper added a footnote to the story saying that it did not know whether the reports were true.

The reports, which originated in Rome and were sent to a Paris newspaper by a French correspondent here, and were then wired back to Rome, specified, however, that the movement was made in pursuance of a plan adopted by the general staff of the Italian army several months ago for "strategic purposes."

A plan to move 20,000 men from Verona to Bolzano, much nearer the frontier, was made known by military circles here last October.

The Paris report which the newspaper here published said additional troops also were being sent to Trieste and Padova.

Italy is viewing the Austrian situation "cooly," the newspaper said today. Unofficial circles, however, reported concern existed here lest the Nazis seize the power in Austria.

Semi-official newspapers said Nazi rule in Austria would not be tolerable to Italy, as an Austro-German union likely would follow.

Britain to Warn Germany.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Great Britain probably will inform Germany within a week that it insists upon independence of Austria, the foreign office said today.

It was held likely that Capt. Anthony Eden, lord privy seal, who will leave this week on a diplomatic tour of Europe, would call on Chancellor Hitler when in Berlin and explain his country's attitude.

Discussions which Capt. Eden will carry on are expected to have an important part in determining the future of Austria. He will visit Paris and Rome, as well as Berlin.

French to Widen Austrian Quotas.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—(AP)—To aid the government of Chancellor Dollfuss, at odds with Nazis as well as Socialists, the French cabinet decided today to enlarge quotas on Austrian products.

The government also intimated it would join other countries in extending credits to Austria, under auspices of the league of nations, if possible.

BIDS DEPUTIES TO TALK LESS, VOTE FRENCH BUDGET

See Doumergue Ruling by Decrees.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Premier Gaston Doumergue, upsetting precedent, plans to face parliament tomorrow with a demand that it talk less and vote faster toward a solution for the nation's troubles.

The cabinet today agreed to ask parliament for the first time in its history to vote on the budget Saturday without debate. At the same time, it was learned that the premier plans to omit the income-raising provisions from the bill, and left-wing leaders immediately expressed the fear that the new government of veteran statesmen may attempt to obtain the necessary revenues by the issuance of decree laws.

France was quiet today for the first time in nine days. The death toll of a week's rioting in the captal and environs stood at 20.

To Open Stavisky Inquiry.

The premier requested a sharp curtailment of debate on all ministerial policies. Will seek the approval of parliament on Friday of a resolution providing for an investigation into the Stavisky scandal by 44 members.

The cabinet during the day studied the debt situation and its relationship to the devaluation of the United States dollar, but took no action. Cabinet spokesmen said that the rehabilitation of French finances was the first concern of the government, and that any adjustment of world currencies would have to be considered afterward, if at all.

This statement was made after officials had discredited a report that Vice Premier Edouard Herriot might soon go to the United States. Spokesmen asserted the problem of the payment of war debts to the United States was unchanged because it was dependent on parliament's attitude, and parliament previously had indicated opposition to such payment.

Two Favor Paying U. S.

It was said in informed circles, however, that the presence of Herriot in the cabinet and the fact that Louis Germain-Martin is minister of finance strengthens the prospect there will be some effort made to clarify the debt situation when conditions permit. Both these officials favor payment of the debts.

Premier Doumergue expects to face stiff opposition from the Socialists to his plans for national reconstruction. The Socialists demand the dissolution of the chamber of deputies, and the calling of a new election. The Socialists believe they could carry the country in the event of an election.

FASCISTS TAKE AUSTRIAN CITY IN BLOODLESS SIEGE

Socialists Give Up Linz Without a Struggle.

BY HAROLD ETTLINGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LINZ, Upper Austria, Feb. 14.—[By telephone to Berlin.]—Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg and his Fascist Heimwehr troops, allies of the Dollfuss government, seem to have clinched their victory over the Socialists in Upper Austria. The Fascists have taken charge of affairs here.

The Socialists may not have given up the ghost in other parts of Austria, but in Linz they chose an appropriate finale to their revolt against a Fascist dictatorship when they made their last stand in the Old People's home this afternoon.

A bloodless siege by the heimwehr was made pathetic by the terror of the pensioners. The schutzbund [armed Socialist organization] members inside put out a white flag and it was all over. No shots were fired.

Awed by Cannon.

Early in the day Socialist groups on hilltops outside the city broke down with only a few shots fired. Heimwehm men, aided by federal troops, pulled up a dozen machine guns and cannon where they could be seen and then waited for the Socialists to make up their minds what to do.

Linz, where this week's fighting began, tonight was an armed camp of Heimwehr troops. Bridges and strategic points were heavily guarded by young followers of Prince von Starhemberg.

The Heimwehr was installed every place, including the Socialist city hall and party headquarters. The town was kept under martial law and strict censorship.

Steyr Captured by Fascists.

From reports filtering through the censorship the following seems to be the situation in other provincial centers:

Essenstadt, capital of Burgenland, had a curfew and martial law.

In Graz federal authorities have offered a reward for the head of Holoman Wallisch, schutzbund leader, who has been holding out with 120 men in the wood near Bruck-om-der-Mur. Wallisch was secretary of interior in Bela Kun's communist régime in Hungary after the war. Later he fled to Austria, where he became a deputy.

Bombs Explode at Innsbruck.

Twenty-four men were tried by court-martial in Graz.

Small bombs were exploded at Innsbruck, but fighting had stopped.

AMERICAN ENVOY RUSHES BACK TO POST IN VIENNA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—George H. Earle III., American minister to Austria, left here tonight under urgent orders from President Roosevelt to hurry back to his post in Vienna because of the conditions there.

Mr. Earle will sail from New York on the S. S. Washington. He will arrive at his post in about nine days, he said as he left the White House. The minister has been in the United States about three weeks. He came home to enter the political race for the governorship of Pennsylvania.

There are, according to the state department, about 700 Americans in Austria mostly resident in Vienna. They are principally business men and medical and art students. The legation now is in charge of Alfred W. Kliefoth, first secretary.

PLUTO WATER
America's Laxative Mineral Water

Do you know that there's a common ailment generally referred to by physicians as "cathartic constipation"?

Medicine-laxatives cause it. Most of them work by irritating the delicate membranes of the digestive tract—an unnatural method.

Soon the intestinal muscles refuse to respond to an ordinary dose . . . compel you to take more and more. Before you know it, the laxative-constipation habit has you in its grip!

Nature Demands a Flush
(The Water Way)

That's why more than 50,000 physicians recommend Pluto Water. For Pluto is not a drug or medicine laxative but a saline mineral water. The same amount each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives positive results in less than one hour!

Pluto Water is gentle—but speedy. That's because the proper dilution—one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water—promptly opens the pylorus valve leading from the stomach, permitting the flush to enter the intestines and complete its work without anxious hours of waiting.

Shake off Asthenia!

Number of Social Workers Boosted in Last Year.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

While relief cases in Cook county decreased 13.5 per cent in the year ended last Oct. 31, salaries paid to social workers administering the relief funds increased 65.6 per cent. This was shown yesterday in a study of the records of the Cook county bureau of public welfare, which administered relief during that period as agent of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

Month—	Active relief cases.	Salaries.
November, 1932	124,830	$224,963
December	136,537	239,452
January, 1933	146,271	252,359
February	151,911	264,285
March	158,975	291,547
April	157,890	318,486
May	168,239	346,195
June	148,201	361,068
July	131,808	373,587
August	119,363	373,860
September	109,112	371,996
October	107,965	372,737

Other Expenses Reduced.

During this period expenses other than salaries dropped 10.6 per cent, making a net increase of 50.8 per cent in the total cost of administering relief in Cook county.

Russell Peters, chief auditor of the relief commission, said that the increase in the administrative payroll was due to several reasons. The case load per worker, was lowered and the employés were placed on a 40 hour week under the NRA, necessitating the employment of more social workers, and experts were added to the staff.

These experts included property and insurance advisers, who were intended to effect large savings by adjusting insurance policies and properties owned by persons on relief in order to provide income so that they might be taken off of the rolls, Mr. Peters said. He is preparing a report on the expense of the advisory services, and the amount of savings claimed for them.

Aim to Reduce Frauds.

Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the relief commission, said that the large number of social workers on the Cook county pay roll is considered an economy, inasmuch as they are expected to be able to give greater attention to relief recipients and thus reduce the number of persons obtaining relief fraudulently. He said that the Cook county relief administration was understaffed late in 1932, and that it is not overstaffed at present.

The cost of administering relief in Cook county was brought to light because of plans being discussed by the state relief commission to force the individual counties to assume a large portion of their relief loads, now carried by state and federal funds. This probably will have to be accomplished by direct taxation.

The commission has $30,000,000 in tax anticipation warrants to sell in order to provide funds for relief for the rest of this year. That amount will last only five months, at the present rate of expenditures. Another $30,000,000 will have to be raised for the last five months of this year. Representatives of the federal emergency relief administration have indicated that the most Illinois can expect in federal aid this year is $20,000,000. The additional 10 millions must be raised by the counties, according to the plan of the relief commission.

Opposes Pay Roll Cut.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive director of relief for the relief commission, who took charge of the Cook county administration of relief in November, was asked yesterday if the present high pay roll for social workers could not be reduced in order to lighten the load on the taxpayers. He replied that the new policy of limiting the number of cases to 100 per case worker prevents such economies. The increase in the pay roll was due largely to this reduction in the load from about 300 to less than 100 cases per worker.

"We have reduced the pay roll in Cook county by between 800 and 1,000 social workers and clerks since the advent of the civil works administration on Jan. 1," he said. "According to my estimates, we should reduce the pay roll by another 500 workers to reach the maximum of 100 cases per worker. However, Mrs. E. M. Lewis, director of the unemployment relief service, tells me that any further reductions will demoralize the county relief administration."

150 Million Spent for Relief.

Since 1930 a total of more than 150 million dollars has been spent for relief of the idle in Illinois. Of that amount all but about 20 million dollars will be collected from the taxpayers eventually. This 20 million dollars was collected by public subscription in charity drives. This year's relief budget for the state will exceed 60 million dollars, according to the relief commission's estimates, and the amounts budgeted for the last months of the year are as great as the amounts spent in the early months of the year, indicating little outlook for any relief to the taxpayers.

TARGET IN "PLOT"

MISS CHARLOTTE LYMAN.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—What earlier in the day was reported a "plot" to kidnap Miss Charlotte Condit Lyman, Beacon Hill society girl, this afternoon turned out to be merely the mutterings of a feeble-minded man arrested near the young woman's home.

The man was taken into custody several days ago by a Boston patrolman when he was found walking along a Beacon Hill street muttering threats against the Lyman family. He was taken to the second precinct station and there questioned by Capt. Joseph McKinnon who later released the suspect when it was apparent that his "threats" were harmless and that he was slightly feeble minded.

Capt. McKinnon revealed that Miss Lyman, who is engaged to marry Benjamin Schyler Clark of New York on March 10, knew nothing of activities to guard her until she was told by the police. She was given police protection for several days.

Miss Lyman was presented at the Court of St. James's two years ago. Her parents are prominent in Boston and New York society.

SHOWS 3 MILLION PAID AS LIQUOR FINES IN DRY ERA

Convictions Obtained in 11,080 Cases.

The United States government collected $3,060,054.90 in fines from liquor cases prosecuted in the Chicago district during the fourteen years of prohibition. This was revealed in a report made public yesterday by United States Attorney Dwight H. Green. The cost to the government of enforcement work in this district during the 14 years was not computed.

The report showed that defendants in 11,080 cases were convicted and served a total of 1,286 years in penitentiary and jail sentences. Defendants in cases in which 7,546 places were closed by permanent injunction paid the government a total of $351,221.64 in costs and judgments.

127 Cases Pending.

Of 12,457 criminal cases filed from 1920 through 1933, all except 392 have been closed, and there are only 127 injunction cases pending of a total of 7,673 filed during the 14 years.

The pending cases will, in the next few weeks, be dismissed by the government in line with a Supreme court decision, made two weeks ago, that criminal cases based solely on indictments for alleged violation of the prohibition law, could not now be prosecuted.

The year of 1923 saw the largest number of convictions, with 1,465, and 1920 the lowest number, with 98. The first year of prohibition also was the low mark for cases filed, cases closed, and fines imposed.

1923 Biggest Year.

The largest sum in fines was paid by prohibition offenders in 1923, when the government collected $484,718.69, as compared with the low mark of $30,029 in 1920.

In the matter of prison sentences, prohibition law violators fared worst in 1931, when jail and penitentiary sentences totaling 383 years were imposed on 972 defendants. The federal judges were most lenient to those convicted for liquor offenses in 1922. During that year sentences totaling only one year and 10 months were imposed, although there were 1,096 convictions.

The largest number of permanent injunctions were issued in 1932, when padlocks were placed on 858 liquor dispensaries. The largest sum collected in costs and judgments in injunction cases came in 1926, when $44,721.04 was paid by defendants in 842 cases.

Miss Maguire is 28 years old. At the time she became ill she was employed as a secretary.

But 950 Millions Saves 4 Million Jobs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—National demobilization of the huge civil works army, beginning tomorrow with the dismissal of 150,000 workers, was ordered by the government today, although congress voted 950 million dollars for continuance of federal relief and CWA doles.

Appropriation of the 950 million dollars for relief and civil works today came just in time to save 4 million CWA workers from relapsing into unemployment tomorrow. All of the original 400 millions in easy money with which the CWA started, is gone, and a 45 million dollar pay roll is due Saturday.

In ordering that the civil works program begin to taper off tomorrow, the federal relief administration is carrying out President Roosevelt's plan of gradually cutting down CWA between Feb. 15 and May 1, the date set for its complete abandonment.

Cuts U. S. Jobs by Half.

First to be fired tomorrow will be 150,000 workers scattered around the country on strictly federal projects. Their dismissal means a 50 per cent reduction in all CWA projects directly under federal departments, since there were 300,000 employés on such work. Most of them are employed on insect or pest control projects in the south.

As yet no order has been sent for demobilization of any CWA force employed through states or cities. The routine for cutting down these projects gradually will be announced tomorrow when Harry L. Hopkins, relief and CWA head, returns to the city. Demobilization is expected to start in the south and proceed by climatic zones, ending in the north about May 1.

Passage of the 950 million dollar appropriation bill for the emergency relief and Civil Works administrations gave the administration another significant victory over obstreperous forces in the senate.

Final Victory in Senate.

The final victory for President Roosevelt's forces was won in the senate, where two warmly contested votes on the conference report for conciliating the difference between the house and senate measures resulted in the report's adoption and the passage of the bill.

In the closer of the two votes, a single ballot decided in favor of the bill as drawn in compliance with the administration's wishes. By a vote of 41 to 42, a motion by Senator William E. Borah, Idaho insurgent Republican, to reconsider an earlier approval of the conference report failed of passage. Had the motion carried it would have subjected the bill to attack by the considerable group opposing the tapering off and eventual stoppage of federal expenditures for civil works.

Recalcitrants Cause Delay.

Composed largely of recalcitrant Democrats and radical Republicans, the group took particular exception to a clause inserted by the conference committe prohibiting the use of CWA funds on federal projects except those already under construction on federal lands or public property. Those opposed to this restriction argued that its adoption would throw some 210,000 persons immediately out of work in addition to those to be laid off at the rate of some 250,000 a week as civil works expenditures are gradually reduced.

SUGAR STRIKERS BATTLE ARMY IN CUBA; 3 KILLED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Feb. 14.—Three strikers were killed and 15 wounded in clashes with the army around the sugar mill at Mabay in Oriente province today. Sixteen sugar mills of eastern Cuba closed down today and 22 more probably will close tomorrow. The strikers are said to number 25,000 and are led by communists and malcontents of the deposed Grau San Martin régime.

The strikers today stormed and occupied several towns within a radius of twenty miles of Maba'. A force of 12,000 started a march to Bayamo to cut the railroad connections to western Cuba.

Antonio Guiteras, secretary of interior in the Grau cabinet, and Ruben de Leon, Pio Socarras, and Lincoln Rodon, student directory members, are said to be agitating among the strikers. Their aim is to overthrow the government of President Carlos Mendieta.

Tariff Found Chief Obstacle to Increased Auto Exports

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Tariff adjustments are now regarded as the chief export problem in expanding sales of American automobiles in the world's market, with resultant increase in employment. As set forth by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, a great demand for cars is on tap in foreign lands but to enable customers abroad to pay, tariff barriers need reciprocal leveling to allow buying of some of their goods in exchange.

Last year about 240,000 American cars were sold abroad, not counting those which were manufactured complete in foreign plants, owned by American manufacturers to get behind tariff walls.

This year the estimates are that half a million cars will be sent from the United States to foreign buyers. In the peak year of 1929 nearly a million automobiles were exported.

Foreign Buying Big Factor.

Foreign buying is held a significant factor in the present demand for automobiles, which in January was reported as 16 per cent above 1933. In turn the automobile industry is accounted the chief stimulant of activity in the steel industry, which last week made a gain of 2.4 per cent, according to the American Iron and Steel institute. The mills now are operating at 38 per cent of capacity.

The 59 cent dollar, the exporters declare, has in some countries reduced the price of an American car as much as one-half. In Spain, it is reported, a car which last year cost 4,000 pesos today can be purchased for 2,000 pesos.

Automobile orders have picked up from the Argentine, the Union of South Africa, Australia, Belgium, Holland, and other countries which themselves are not large producers of cars. From Sweden sales of American makes have taken a jump, while in Finland, J. Korpivaara of Helsingfors, an automative pioneer who was here last week, said a 100 per cent increase in automobile sales is expected in 1934. Before Christmas he expects 2,000 American cars to be sold in Finland, an instance of the foreign demand.

See Great Opportunity.

The automobile exporters regard 1934 as a great opportunity to build up foreign markets, and as the automobile chamber of commerce views it, the underlying problem is a lowering of world-wide tariffs to enable freer exchange of goods.

Depreciation of the dollar, the experts argue, while in some lands it has stimulated trade because of reduced prices for American cars, is also making it difficult to import foreign products into the United States, and is thus holding back growth of the market for American goods. Outside nations are not able to pay in goods through the regular channels of exchange. Hence, tariff adjustments among the nations are regarded by the trade as one prerequisite.

George F. Bauer, manager of the export department, national automobile chamber of commerce, and chairman of the world trade league of the United States, holds that as big a demand as ever exists for all kinds of American goods in overseas markets, but the predominant problem is the means of payment. Present tariff walls and reprisal duties are the barrier.

Import Goods Themselves.

Dwelling on the question of reciprocal tariff adjustments, the exporters point out that, in the automobile industry itself, imported products have a place, such as asbestos from Canada for brake linings, tin from Bolivia for use in radiators, cork from Spain and Portugal for gaskets, mohair from the Levant, and hides from Argentina, nickel from Canada, and rubber from the Malay states.

As to what a flourishing foreign trade means in terms of employment, as the work seeps down from the automotive plants into allied industries, it is pointed out that the million American cars sold abroad in 1929 meant that foreign markets bought more cars than did 28 American states. In the automobile industry workers were employed one day out of six because of overseas demand.

"Foreign trade is the great hope in substantial and permanent recovery," said Mr. Bauer. "The campaign of THE TRIBUNE for wider markets for American goods is most constructive. In the automobile industry the problem is to reduce the tariff cost factor, by reciprocal downward revisions, in order to create a larger world consumption of goods again."

RECOUNT DEMAND IS JUST 'POLITICS,' FOE TELLS COURT

Charges that the request of a citizens' committee, headed by Joseph J. Badenoch, which has demanded a recount of all ballots cast in the general election of November, 1932, is just "political fodder" were made yesterday before Superior Judge James J. Kelly. The hearing was upon petitions for a writ of mandamus to direct the election commissioners to destroy the ballots of that election and a writ of prohibition to prevent County Judge Jarecki from allowing the recount.

The allegations that politics had inspired the recount request was made by Attorney Theodore Levin, counsel for Belle Friedman, a taxpayer, who filed both petitions. They were denied by Badenoch. When the latter was questioned about the costs of the recount which the citizen's committee had agreed to finance, Attorney Badenoch admitted that the committee had only pledges. Attorney Levin charged that the recount petition had been "hatched" in the office of Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, to aid Municipal Judge Samuel Heller in his campaign for county judge.

BOY, 13 YEARS OLD, IS MYSTERIOUSLY SLAIN AT PLAY

Bruno Suetka, 13 years old, 13421 Avenue L, was shot and killed last night while playing with half a dozen other boys in the forest preserve at 138th street, near the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad.

His companions told the Cook county police of the Homewood station that a man fired more than a dozen shots at them as he stood on the railroad tracks. They asserted that the bullets whistled about them as they ran and, though they saw Bruno drop, they kept on running. They described the man as wearing a gray overcoat and a cap.

Although police did not place full credence in the story, they planned to question railroad watchmen. Police said the boys may have been playing a game with a rifle and shot Bruno accidentally.

BYRD, ON CRUISE, IS CUT OFF FROM BASE BY ICE PACK

ABOARD S. S. BEAR OF OAKLAND, Antarctica, Feb. 14.—[Via Mackay Radio.]—(AP)—Ice today apparently had closed in between this vessel of the Byrd expedition and Little America and difficulty was experienced in attempting to return to camp after an exploratory voyage.

For several days the Bear of Oakland, with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd aboard, has been trying in vain to find a passage to the south and southeast. Officers expressed confidence, however, that before many hours a course would be found. During the day, it was estimated, more than 200 different courses were steered.

The delay offered scientists aboard a splendid opportunity for the work of charting the bottom of the unknown sea. This is done with what is called a sonic depth finding apparatus.

SENATORS FAVOR DIRECT ELECTION OF PRESIDENT

Norris Plan Approved by Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The proposed constitutional amendment of Senator George W. Norris [radical, Neb.] to abolish the electoral college and provide for the direct popular election of President and Vice President was approved today by the senate judiciary committee.

A single vote, that of Senator Hubert D. Stephens [Dem., Miss.], opposed the committee's action in approving a measure long advocated by political independents and the insurgents of the two major political parties.

Abolishes Present System.

Should the amendment ever be written into the federal constitution it would abolish the present system by which citizens vote for presidential electors instead of for the candidates themselves. Under the amendment the names of presidential and vice presidential candidates would be written on the ballots and the votes cast directly for them.

The amendment would also do away with the present system by which a state's whole electoral vote [equal to its representation in both houses of congress] is cast for the candidate receiving a plurality of votes cast within the state. Instead a state's electoral vote would be pro-rated according to the proportion of the entire vote which each candidate received.

Assists Independents.

The amendment would assist independent nominees and by the same token injure the dominance of the two major parties. Under the proposed Norris amendment, candidates for the presidency and vice presidency would be put up for election according to the laws in each state covering the nomination of candidates for the governorship.

The proportional division of the electoral votes of a state would also assist independent candidates. The amendment provides that: "Each person for whom votes were cast for President in each state shall be credited with such proportion and fraction thereof of the presidential votes of such states as he received of the total votes cast at said election for President, using for such fraction three decimals."

WIDOW CHARGES RFC LAWYER HIT HER; ASKS $50,000

Mrs. Nugent, who now is living at 105 East Delaware place, charges that Hopkins struck her on two occasions in a Washington hotel when she approached him to collect sums of money owed to her for work she had done as an investigator in his employ last year in Washington.

HOUSE ADOPTS GAG RULE ON NEW INCOME TAX BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—For the next four or five days, members of the house of representatives will revel in an orgy of futile speech making about a bill they are powerless to alter.

Meekly, at the behest of administration leaders, a substantial majority voted today for adoption of a special rule which completely stifles the right of individual members to offer amendments to the 258 million dollar tax revision bill now under consideration. Only those alterations approved in advance by the ways and means committee which drafted the bill originally, will be eligible for consideration.

But though powerless to amend, the members were willing to orate. The rule allows 16 hours of general debate—some four or five legislative days—and the house settled down to a siege of old fashioned speech making.

Will Cost Taxpayers $2,000.

Every word, of course, will be recorded in the Congressional Record and distributed for constituency consumption. At the customary estimate of $40 a page to print the record, the printing bill alone for the 16 hours of debate is going to cost the taxpayers upwards of $2,000.

The vote on the rule was preceded by the usual heated but ineffective talk about "gag" tactics. The Republicans condemned the methods of the leadership; the leadership defended them as being necessary to good legislating. The Democratic rank and file remained silent. The count on a roll call was 241 for the rule to 154 against. Of the "Ayes," 232 were Democrats and 9 Republicans; of the "Noes," 59 were Democrats, 9 were Republicans, and 5 were Farmer-Laborites.

A Newcomer Asks a Question.

Somewhat wistfully, youthful Representative Thomas O'Malley [Dem., Wis.], who is serving his first term in congress, wanted to know why it was necessary to have 16 hours of general debate when the debaters could do nothing to alter the bill.

The Democratic leadership, in answer, explained that only the necessity of keeping the tax revision measure intact in its present form led them to propose the rule.

From the Republican side, however, came a different answer to Mr. O'Malley's inquiry.

"The rule," said Representative Frederick R. Lehlbach [Rep., N. J.], "is a profession of incompetency on the part of the majority leadership to legislate properly. It is an admission that the leaders do not trust the members of their own party to exercise their individual rights as representatives of the people."

THE VOICE OF SANITY IN WASHINGTON.

Senator Robinson has uttered a timely warning to the senate and through the senate to the country that a continuance of the present rate of spending can bankrupt the federal treasury. He is not a member of the opposition. He is the Democratic leader of the senate, and he ordinarily weighs his words with care.

It is heartening to discover that one man in high place in Washington is conscious of the realities and is willing to face them. The notion is all too prevalent in this country that there is no limit to the government's capacity to borrow and therefore no limit to the amount it may spend. When it is suggested that borrowed money must be repaid, the answer generally is an invitation to let tomorrow worry about tomorrow's difficulties.

Those who make this reply think that tomorrow is a long way off. They do not realize, as Senator Robinson plainly does, how soon the day of reckoning may be upon us. This year's deficit is placed at more than six billion dollars, in addition to the four billions of maturing loans which must be refunded in some fashion. Already special inducements have had to be offered to the banks in the floating of the latest loans. Only a blind optimist is justified in assuming that the government can go on spending more billions with impunity.

Senator Robinson is not a blind optimist. He foresees two grim consequences. Unless a halt is called upon the spending orgy "we are gradually approaching the time when we are going to ask ourselves the question, How are we going to get the money to carry it on?" Meanwhile, the country will have become so accustomed to living on Uncle Sam's bounty that "we are also going to ask ourselves the question, How is it possible to discontinue the expenditures?"

Ours is not the first government which has been tempted to offer to support its citizens. Many governments have been tempted and not a few of them have tried the experiment. It has always failed and it has always failed disastrously for all, the industrious as well as the lazy, the provident as well as the shiftless, the competent as well as the incompetent. The policy wrecks the productive capacity of the country at the same time that it rots the moral fiber of the citizens.

In this country we are already well along the road which Senator Robinson has charted. Never since the gross misrule of pre-revolutionary France has there been such an orgy of government spending without thought of the future as we have seen in this country of late. Never, since the collapse of the South Sea bubble, has there been so heedless a financial management. Every congressman knows it and yet Senator Robinson has had to brave the fire of his colleagues in demanding that the process be halted. That is, by all odds, the most ominous aspect of the whole business.

Every congressman knows that the millions squandered on monoliths in barren river valleys is as surely lost as was the money spent in building pyramids in the desert, and every congressman knows, or ought to know, that a large part of the huge emergency expenditures which have been authorized is destined to be similarly wasted. Senator Robinson's warning must be heeded if we are to escape ruin.

CHICAGO TEACHERS' PAY.

Both congress and the Illinois legislature have bills before them to remedy the desperate Chicago school situation. The legislature is asked to authorize the board of education to pledge its realty as security for 40 million dollars in school bonds, the real estate being such property as is not used for school purposes. The bill in congress, introduced by Representative Sabath, would authorize the federal Reconstruction Finance corporation to allot money to school districts, taking bonds secured by such property as collateral.

In the success of such legislation lies the possibility of at last paying the school teachers their heavy arrears of salary, along with the other employés of the board of education. These proposals, examined in every feature, will appear reasonable and just. The purposes are all directly related to the intentions of the recovery program. The sale of the bonds to the Reconstruction Finance corporation will bring relief to a long imposed upon body of public servants, whose protests against their continued destitution have not kept them from doing their duty to the public. If they are not entitled to relief in this day of free spending of public money the other enterprises of the government must be regarded as wholly lacking in merit. Much profession is made of consideration for the children of the United States, and here again a just claim can be made for the school children of Chicago. A point is made of the desirability of increasing the purchasing power, and here again we advance the needs of so substantial a body of citizenship as that engaged in public education in Chicago.

If the question of the financial soundness of the loan is raised, it can be said that very little of the federal money has gone out with any better security for its return, and a great deal of it has gone out without any expectation that it will ever go back to Washington, and it has gone for projects of less importance and validity in the relief scheme.

On every count, social, economic, humanitarian, community value, etc., the Chicago proposal is a good buy for the federal government if its chief concern is, as asserted, an investment in citizenship.

CLASS WAR IN AUSTRIA.

The elements of civil warfare in Austria have been checked somewhat in the past by the Austrian temperament, noted for its characteristics of amiability, urbanity, and good manners. Chancellor Dollfuss, facing his opponents on two fronts, the Nazis and the Socialists, was able for months to maintain his position without using violent methods. Probably in no other region of central Europe would it have been possible for a government so pressed in a complexity of dangers to manage in such a fashion, but the tension at last became too great and Austria was convulsed by fighting partisans, the explosion coming from the Socialists on the left, with the Nazis biding their time to see what would come of it.

The general trend of informed opinion regarding Europe is thoroughly pessimistic, and apparently with too much reason. Although the era which was to be dominated by internationalism expressed in the good works of the league of nations has seen an intensive redevelopment of aggressive and bellicose nationalism, it has also seen another development which still further darkens the face of the continent.

There not only is a more aggressive nationalism, a natural product of the treaty of Versailles, but there is an intensified bitterness in the development of the class struggle. The hostility of nationalities is made the more dangerous because of the class complications which break over national boundaries. Where two or three nations might preserve a working arrangement with each other they find that the class pressure in one extends into the other, creating new perils to general peace and offering new provocations to war.

Conflicting systems of government, each aggressive and ambitious, find many fields in which one nation is the aggressor against another's system of government. Although Russia, apparently absorbed in its internal affairs, has been less rather than more troublesome abroad in recent years, it was in Russia that the modern tendency of intrigue against another nation's government was begun. That essential doctrine of the Marxists has been adopted, particularly in Germany by the Hitler government, which is an enemy of communism. Although Mussolini has talked a great deal of the victorious power of Fascism, his international dealings have been along the old imperialistc lines of aggrandizement and increased prestige. Nevertheless, the doctrine of class struggle has predominantly influenced international relations and has promoted new antagonisms, with new possibilities of disaster in their wake.

Austria has been the chief point of attack for the German Nazis, and the Socialists' fear in Austria of what would happen if the Hitlerites or Fascists got the upper hand in Vienna could account for the desperation with which this strong party undertook to protect its existence. Nearly every nation in Europe finds something of its interest at stake in the outcome of the Austrian conflict. The class interference of one nation with another, Socialist, Fascist, and even monarchist, puts the future in the realm of gravest doubt. Nationalistic interests may be conciliated, but this conflict of governmental systems and of classes supporting them gives warning of the gravest possibilities. The new era of the league of nations has taken but half a generation to come to consequences utterly destructive of all its illusions and contrary to all its prospectus.

A JOB FOR THE CWA.

With many of the crews of the CWA workers performing tasks which can hardly qualify as useful it is to be hoped that a few score men can be spared to clean up around the restored Fine Arts building in Jackson park. The glories of the building, one of the most beautiful in the world, are obscured by its unsightly surroundings. Hundreds of visitors come every day to see the exhibits of science and industry housed in the building, and when the Fair reopens in a few months the building will be visited by tens of thousands. The area around the building should be cleaned at once, and at the earliest moment the landscaping should be taken in hand.

MORE MORTGAGE MORATORIA.

[The Peoria Transcript.]

A proposal for a moratorium on farm and home mortgages has cropped up again in Illinois, this time in the call for the third special session of the legislature.

The moratorium proposal has impelling and worthy motives behind it for the protection of the home owner and farmer, but the facts in Illinois do not seem to justify such legislation.

Statistics on foreclosures in Cook county show that less than 3 per cent of the single family dwelling houses were foreclosed in 1933. In smaller Illinois cities foreclosures on the average have been less because there has been less unemployment and less real estate speculation.

Department of agriculture figures indicate the farm foreclosure rate also will be about 3 per cent for 1933, or approximately 8 per cent for the three depression years. The percentage of foreclosures in both urban and rural districts was about the same for the depression years.

If Illinois passes a mortgage moratorium to protect less than 6 per cent of the property owners of the state for two years, the effect will be far-reaching and will work to the disadvantage of all other citizens.

A moratorium in Illinois would mean a shutting off of credit in this state; it would affect the liquidity of banks and financial institutions; it would impair the investments of life insurance companies and thus injure small policyholders.

Moreover, a moratorium would hurt the reputation of Illinois for fair dealing and might encourage smaller and weaker states further to impair private contracts.

In addition, the federal government through the Home Owners' Loan corporation and the farm land banks is now trying to help the very people for whom the moratorium is invoked. But if the moratorium were enacted the national farm and home loan organizations would probably not lend in Illinois. When North Dakota passed a similar moratorium the federal land bank shut off its loans in that state. A condition which affects less than 6 per cent of the people in the state surely does not constitute an emergency. A maxim of democratic government is that laws should be for the greatest good of the greatest number.

Superficially, the proposed moratorium for the relief of all distressed property owners is a humanitarian proposal; practically, it would penalize every owner of property and every investor in the state.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

SENATOR VANDENBERG of Michigan has introduced a bill in the senate in which he hopes to stop war by preventing anybody in the future from making money out of war by profiteering. It would seem at first glance that if nobody thought he could cash in on the war and make a fortune out of it there would really be no use of the boys going out and getting their arms and legs blown off and being messed all over the place. Life is not at all what it's cracked up to be, and yet—and yet? Which reminds one of the Army of the Potomac after Grant had lost thirteen thousand men in one hour in four desperate but hopeless charges at Cold Harbor, while Lee's loss was only a thousand. The fifth time the order was given to charge, the Army of the Potomac simply sat flat down and, as the officers galloped madly back and forth in front of them waving their swords and yelling for the men to charge once more, the army gave them what would now be denominated as "the Bronx cheer." A German staff officer couldn't understand the reluctance of the men to go forward and he dashed back and forth on his horse in front of the line yelling: "Sharge, poys, sharge! Tam it all, do you want to live always?"

AND IT'S REALLY GETTING SO that we in this great land of the free can observe holidays with a certain degree of sanity. St. Valentine's day passed off yesterday with very few casualties.

SAM INSULL is reported to have said that if he had had men around him ten years before his financial empire went on the rocks who would have said "no" to him he wouldn't have been wrecked. Gosh! this is going to be tough on the yes men. When what Sam said is read by a lot of the captains of industry it's going to produce some thoughtful thinking and it's just going to be too bad for the yes boys.

THE HARPERS' FARM.

We always drive along until
We reach a humping little hill,

And on the other side of this
The farm should be and there it is,

Waiting for us, white and neat,
In the misty summer heat.

And here we are and here we are,
Climbing quickly from the car

And asking may we ride the horse,
And Mrs. Harper says: "Of course."

And asking are there any new Kittens, and she says: "A few."

And asking may we go and play
Hide and seek up in the hay.

And in the corner of the loft
There are kittens gray and soft,

With tongues just learning how to drink
And little ears all lined with pink.

Then Mrs. Harper calls "Yoo hoo"
And so we run (we always do)

Out the barn and through a gate
And find some cookies on a plate,

Sugar on the top and cut
Like stars, and each one with a nut.

And there is also lemonade
In a pitcher in the shade.

And after that we always climb
On Bessie's back one at a time.

And Mrs. Harper laughs at us,
But it seems very dangerous,

Stuck so high up in the sun,
Looking down at every one.

We squeal and grab each other's clothes,
We hang on with our knees and toes

And say "Giddap," and Bessie does,
And such a gallop never was!

Then we get off her all alone,
Her tail a rope for sliding down.

And soon it's late and time to go
So we tell Mrs. Harper so.

"Thanks for the lemonade," we say,
And wave good-by. And drive away.

DOROTHY ALDIS.

A BENEVOLENT CONGRESS (and with one eye on the election next fall) has provided for compensation of the CWA workers disabled in the line of duty. Congress says the government will pay as high as $3,500 for an injury, but has not yet set down just exactly what sum will be given for any particular hurt. But it will come soon and probably be something like this:

Kicked by caterpillar	$ 450.00
Bitten by butterfly	350.00
Gored by humming bird	685.35
Stabbed by turtle dove	500.00
Gassed by apple blossoms	900.50

Slugged by daffodil	3,000.00
Bitten by fishworm	667.15

DIET IN DYSPEPSIA.

WHILE there are many causes of what is called dyspepsia, disorders of the gall bladder make up the largest part. Some of these gall bladder disorders are caused by or accompanied by gall stones. In others there is gravel in the bile, but it does not stick together to form stones. Other gall bladder troubles are the result of infection, with or without mucous plugs that plug up the bile ducts. In nearly every case of prolonged disorder of the bile ducts some damage has been done to the liver.

Since dyspepsia has many causes there is no one way to treat it. The method that cures it in one man may be quite useless for the next one. Since in so large a proportion of the cases the gall bladder trouble is responsible for the stomach symptoms, treatment should be directed to the former rather than the latter. What is done for the relief of stomach symptoms is to be regarded as of secondary importance.

The trend of opinion now is strongly toward the theory that many gall bladder troubles are due to an excess of cholesterol and other related near-fats in the blood. Since there are methods of testing the blood for the amount of these substances it contains, and since physicians are increasingly keeping track of the cholesterol content of their patients' blood, we will know more about the relation of cholesterin and other liquids in the blood to dyspepsia, gall stones, and other gall bladder diseases, damaged liver, atheroma of the arteries, aneurysm, and apoplexy than are now known.

Since we get most of the cholesterol in the blood from our diet, we are interested in knowing which foods contain an excess of it and which are poor in it. According to a table compiled by Drs. Twiss and Green, those richest in the near-fats are brains, liver, kidney, sweetbreads, roe, and yellow of an egg. This is in a list of twenty-five foodstuffs. The lower five in the same list of twenty-five are milk, rice, flour, pork, and beef.

As experiences accumulate we will find that some changes will be made in this list. There will be many additions and some foods will be shifted considerably in their relative position. For example, the authors say that peas and beans, once regarded as rich in cholesterol, are now thought to be low in that substance though rich in one that is somewhat similar.

Based on this line of reasoning the authors treat certain kinds of dyspepsia principally with diets. These diets are composed very largely of starchy foods and sweets. These carbohydrate foods are the keystone of the treatment. Their diets are rich in breads and cereals, sweets and desserts, vegetables and fruits. They are poor in fats and in meats. They contain very little eggs, brains, roe, sweetbreads, liver, kidney, butter, and cream. Not much butter, eggs, and cream is used in cooking, nor are they added in quantity to cereals, breads, and beverages.

The meals should not be large or heavy, highly seasoned, or rich. Many dyspeptics are sensitive to fats. Some of these have to omit olive oil, salad dressing, fat meats, and gravies from their diet. However, most of them appear to get along better with straight fats than they do with fat liver, brains, butter, egg yellow, and other fats that analysis shows to contain more cholesterol.

Some dyspeptics do better when they eat small meals, and with regularity and frequency. Others are more comfortable when they give the digestive apparatus long rest periods by eating only twice a day. However, those who eat twice a day are apt to eat at least one heavy meal, and heavy meals are apt to prove harmful. It is safer to eat a heavy meal at noon, however, than at night.

PROUD FLESH.

L. H. L. writes:

1. What does proud flesh look like?
2. If proud flesh forms in a sore will that sore heal up without proud flesh being removed?
3. What will kill, subdue, or remove proud flesh?
4. I have been told that when proud flesh is present in a sore the sore does not pain. Is that so?

REPLY.

1. Flabby lumps, the size of a small pea. These may stand above the surface. There is pus.
2. It does not heal readily. Proud flesh is apt to result from infection, or dead bone or other dead tissue, or from a lack of support to the sides of the wound. It is an effect more than a cause. If the cause of the proud flesh is removed as a rule the granulations can be disregarded.
3. It can be burned out with alum or nitrate or silver, or it may be removed by scraping. The maggot treatment removes it.
4. Not exactly. But chronic wounds are seldom very painful.

MANY SORTS OF CYSTS.

Mrs. J. R. B. writes: You wrote something about dermoid cysts. What other kinds of cysts are there? Do they ever occur in the breast and why? If they do occur in the breast, what is the danger?

REPLY.

There are a dozen kinds of cysts. The breast is a favorite location for them. As a rule breast cysts are not malignant.

ANGINA PECTORIS.

Mrs. C. R. writes:

1. What is angina pectoris?
2. What causes it?
3. Is it curable or not?
4. Is it dangerous.
5. Would it be dangerous for a woman of 40 who has angina pectoris to become pregnant?

REPLY.

1. A form of neuralgia of the heart caused by interference with the blood supply to the heart muscle.
2. Atheroma of the artery is the most frequent cause.
3. True angina is a serious disease.
4. True angina is.
5. Yes. Is this case one of true angina? The disease is infrequent in younger people.

BREAKAGE RESPONSIBLE.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—[Friend of the People.]—Could something be done about street lights from 47th to 49th on Marshfield avenue? We have had no lights for quite a while and it is not very pleasant walking home in the dark. H. B.

Investigation has been made, and it is found that there has been considerable breakage of lamps in this neighborhood, resulting in cable trouble, with the consequence that an entire group of lamps was out for a short while. This trouble, however, has been remedied, and lamps were burning satisfactorily last night.

B. J. CURTISS, Commissioner,

NATIONAL RECOVERY ACT.

Berwyn, Ill., Feb. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can you tell me the exact wording of section 213 of the National Industrial Recovery act? 2. I have had 5 per cent taken off dividends which I receive monthly from a Chicago corporation and I have been told that the 5 per cent should not be taken off my dividends but should be taken off of the broker's or firm's dividend. M. H.

1. Section 213 reads: "[a] There is hereby imposed upon the receipt of dividends . . . an excise tax equal to 5% of the amount thereof, such tax to be deducted and withheld from such dividends by the payor corporation.

"[c] Every such corporation is hereby made liable for such tax and is hereby indemnified against the claims and demands of any person for the amount of any payment made in accordance with the provisions of this section."

2. The tax is imposed on the "receipt" of the dividends. The provision for collection at the source is common. You have no ground for objection.

MORTGAGES.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We had a bank account in the same bank we have a loan or mortgage. This bank is closed and we haven't had any money from that account. I still am holding the book and was told they would pay me, but not now. I owe two more interest payments on the mortgage. Can I pay my interest with the money they still hold in the bank? C. S.

It is the ordinary course for banks to sell to their customers the mortgages which they negotiate. After such sale the mortgage debt would not be a proper set-off against your deposit.

LONDON. — Business organizations and trade unions in South Africa have agreed on drastic measures, according to dispatches reaching London, to stop the flood of Japanese goods that is swamping the African market.

Members of the union of motor mechanics and engineers in Cape Town have pledged themselves to refuse to handle or repair Japanese automobiles and motorcycles which are sold at prices characterized as "ridiculous." A two-seater car with three speeds forward and one reverse and, moreover, with a British self-starter dynamo and British balloon tires, sells for $240 retail. Motorcycles, with all kinds of extra equipment, sell for $60.

South African manufacturers and importers of goods from European countries and the United States have prepared a memorandum in which they state that they will be obliged to close shop if Japanese imports are not controled. While expecting some kind of government action they are not waiting for it to take steps in their own defense.

In their memorandum they show how Japanese radio sets have driven all others off the market. Six tube sets sell for $48 and table model sets for $12. Tubes which are exact reproductions of American and British tubes sell for $2.50 a dozen.

Statistics issued by the department of overseas trade here confirm the Japanese advance in the African market.

In the first eight months of 1933, Tanganyika imported 1,308,418 yards of artificial silk, of which 1,300,916 yards were Japanese.

Lancashire has lost out to Japan in cotton goods. Lancashire's exports of bleached goods to Tanganyika dropped from 406,558 yards in 1932 to 394,353 yards in 1933, while Tanganyika's imports of the same articles from Japan rose from 1,490,249 yards in 1932 to 2,166,425 yards in 1933.

Lancashire sold a mere 93,888 yards of printed goods to Tanganyika in 1933, against 324,495 yards in 1932, while in 1932 Japan sold the neat total of 2,423,596 yards and in 1933 the still handsomer figure of 3,223,058 yards. Dyed goods and blankets showed the same trend. Figures for other British regions in Africa are said to be comparable.

THE FINANCING OF EXPORTS.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—We have been intensely interested in the articles you have published on export and in the promotional work you are doing through your correspondents throughout the world. There is an unlimited field for our manufacturers in the world markets if they go about it in the correct manner and receive the necessary assistance financially.

May I suggest that you include in your promotional work some good articles on the matter of financing manufacturers in their export business? Many of our bankers, particularly outside of the large loop banks, do not seem to know what financing export business is all about.

A manufacturer or exporter desiring to finance his shipments does not seem to obtain any encouragement from such banks. It is therefore desirable that they be told that [1] losses in export accounts are but a fraction of losses of domestic accounts; [2] that when a manufacturer turns over shipping documents to the bank, for discount, the bank is the sole owner and controler of the shipment, which is a first class security; [3] that foreign accounts are, with but a few exceptions, most reliable and desirable as credit risks; [4] that in cases of nonpayment of a draft the merchandise may be returned and the factory will give full credit for it, thus incurring only a small loss, the amount of the shipping expenses back and forth.

A bank discounting drafts for foreign shipments usually advances the manufacturer 80 per cent of the face amount of the draft, the balance being credited to the account when the proceeds of the draft are received by the bank. The banks' profit is also desirable, as they charge a fee for collection and interest on the money they advance.

Some years ago we had an arrangement with a near-loop bank for the discounting of our drafts. We maintained this arrangement for over three years; never had a loss, and the auditor of the bank often told us that such business was found very desirable and profitable for the bank. Unfortunately that bank went under along with many others.

We understand that in some European countries banks are compelled by law to finance foreign shipments when the manufacturer or exporter presents a bona fide order from abroad from a reliable concern. We also understand that our government may take the necessary steps to finance foreign business in this country through a branch of the RFC. When this is done, private banks will have to do without this portion of their business, which has proved to be safe and profitable.

We repeat that it would be desirable and profitable for smaller banks to train some one in their institutions in the export business, particularly at this time, when bank investments are so scarce and doubtful. JULIO CARRILLO,
President Middle West Export Corporation.

SOCIETY WOMEN IN BUSINESS.

Wilmette, Ill., Feb. 9.—After reading the first of a series of articles on "Why Society Women Enter Business" in the Feb. 8 issue I am moved to protest and earnestly beg you to discontinue the series. I am dumfounded that THE TRIBUNE gives space to such tripe in these times when untold numbers of people are still keeping up the struggle "to maintain certain standards"—more often than not standards of bare existence. To have the whinings of society women who "now have only two gardeners where they were accustomed to four" and stand up most of the day in their well heated shops after being driven in town from Winnetka by the chauffeur held up to struggling small business women as an example of "good sportsmanship" is no less than insulting and unfair to the average intelligence.

The much used phrase of society people that those who have had plenty and lost some suffer more than those who have never known plenty and are now reduced to actual need is an absurd falsehood that many of us are pretty sick of hearing.

For the life of me I can't understand how the less fortunate groups have endured these insults and this attitude of false poverty on the part of the more privileged class as long and as patiently as they have. MRS. R. M. SMITH.

NEED WINDSHIELD WIPERS.

Hammond, Ind., Feb. 9.—All forms of transportation are equipped with windshield wipers with the exception of street cars. How motormen can see during a snowstorm or rainy weather is beyond me. Many times I have seen a motorman stop his car and wipe it off with a newspaper. They do not cost much and would be a great convenience to the motorman, I'm sure. WILLIAM HART, JR.

A BOWL OF CHERRIES.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—A young widow with a child to look after, riding downtown on the elevated to her $936 a year job, settles back and glances over the first page of THE TRIBUNE [which her very small budget allows] and spies an article which starts the tears to her eyes and makes her feel so sorry for the poor woman who just can't struggle along on a mere $918 a month. O, well—life is just a bowl of cherries! D. C. W.

CAPTURED TOUHY PAL MAY HELP STATE IN TRIAL

Courtney Acts to Return Costner and Banghart.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

A much stronger case against Roger Touhy and two of his gangsters may be presented by the state at the defendants' second trial for the kidnaping of John Factor, according to indications yesterday. The first trial ended in a disagreement by the jury.

Four jurors were selected yesterday for the new trial and completion of the jury is expected early next week. The twelve men selected may hear additional evidence not available at the first trial, it was reported.

Dispatches from Baltimore indicated that Isaac Costner, captured there with Basil Banghart last Sunday, may turn state's evidence. Costner and Banghart were identified by Factor on Tuesday as two of the Touhy gangsters who kidnaped him last July 1 and held him twelve days for a ransom of $70,000.

State May Offer Leniency.

Costner, however, was said by Factor to be the one member of the gang who was kind to him and expressed sympathy for him when he was threatened by the others. It was said that the state might extend leniency to Costner if he testified against his fellows in the kidnaping.

Costner's evidence would materially strengthen the state's case, it was admitted. Factor's testimony and identification of the defendants was the sole direct evidence formerly possessed by the state. A so-called state's witness, W. A. [Buck] Henrichsen, member of the gang, proved to be as good a defense witness as a state's witness at the first trial.

Banghart and Costner cannot be put on trial with Touhy and his two codefendants, Albert Kator and Gus Schaefer, because the trial has already begun, but either may be called as a witness, it was explained. Banghart is under indictment for the kidnaping of Factor but Costner is not.

U. S. and Baltimore Yield.

State's Attorney Courtney announced yesterday that United States Attorney General Homer Cummings had decided to postpone trial of Costner and Banghart for a mail robbery in Charlotte, N. C., and to turn the two men over to Chicago authorities. This announcement was followed by a statement from State's Attorney Herbert R. O'Conor of Baltimore that he had not agreed to return the prisoners to Chicago.

Last night, however, O'Conor said he would withdraw the Baltimore charges against Banghart and Costner, thus giving precedence to Chicago's claims. This decision was announced after O'Conor had talked by long distance telephone to State's Attorney Courtney in Chicago and to Attorney General Cummings in Washington. Officials of the attorney general's office were reported to have been in conference with Factor during the day.

Informed of O'Conor's action, Mr. Courtney said extradition papers for the return of Costner and Banghart to Illinois would be sent at once to Springfield for the signature of Acting Governor Thomas F. Donovan, and then would be forwarded to Maryland. Courtney said the two prisoners should be in Chicago within a week.

Jury Selections Speeded Up.

Under the urging of Judge Michael Feinberg the examination of prospective jurors in the Touhy trial progressed rapidly yesterday. At the end of the day the state had used a total of twenty-nine peremptory challenges and the defense had used twenty-eight. Each side is allowed sixty peremptory challenges.

The state asked each venireman about his religious affiliations and used peremptory challenges on all Roman Catholics. The testimony of the Rev. Joseph F. Weber, Indianapolis priest, in behalf of Roger Touhy played an important part in the first trial and was said to have swayed several of the jurors.

OFFICERS ON SECRET TRIP IN HUNT FOR BREMER KIDNAPERS

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 14.—(AP)—A secret trip to Iowa by three county officers and another conference of federal agents with Edward G. Bremer headlined activities today in the investigation of Bremer's abduction for $200,000 ransom.

Federal investigators also were reported interested in the seizure in Minneapolis of an automobile detectives said contained a chloroform mask and other paraphernalia which might be used by abductors. Police there questioned Edward Doran, 24, wanted in Duluth, Minn., on robbery charges, after whose arrest the car was seized.

County Attorney M. F. Kinkead and two aids were reported at their office to have gone to Iowa after Kinkead's car. The presence of the car there was not explained. They left secretly. It was recalled that the Bremer ransom was paid and his release took place in southern Minnesota and that several tips have come from the adjacent section of Iowa.

CHARGES 10 PCT. PROFIT MADE BY UTILITY COMPANY

The Western United Gas and Electric company, which furnishes gas and electricity to a number of western suburbs, including Elgin, Aurora, Wheaton, Downers Grove, and Glen Ellyn, has been earning from 10 to 14 per cent profits on its investment in the last five years, it was charged yesterday at a hearing before the Illinois Commerce commission.

Harry R. Booth, counsel for the commission, said the profits were disclosed in an investigation made by the commission with a view to compelling a reduction of the rates. He asserted that a fair return would have been 6 per cent annually. Benjamin P. Alschuler, counsel for the utility company, questioned the figures. He declared he would show that the excess profits charged did not exist.

Chairman Benjamin F. Lindheimer of the commission set March 13 for the commission's presentation of the case against the utility company.

MISS MACKAILL, ENGLISH ACTRESS, GIVEN A DIVORCE

Wins Second Decree in Los Angeles.

And so Judge Turney Fox gave her—a valentine, she said—a decree of divorce from Neil A. Miller.

Thus was recorded another episode in the life of the 115 pound, hazel-eyed star, who next month will be 30 years old. It was her second divorce, her first having been granted when she was 21.

"Couldn't Support Her."

"Mr. Miller couldn't support me," she testified, "not that I am extravagant, but he didn't like motion picture actresses."

Her testimony was in strange contrast to the romantic days at Waikiki beach less than three years ago, when Miller wooed her, and followed her back to the mainland, and after a whirlwind courtship they went to Yuma, Ariz., in November, 1931, for a quick and quiet marriage.

That was the year that she starred in "Man Trouble." And trouble followed the wedding, she testified today.

"As I was an actress before I married him, I didn't see any reason to change," she testified.

Scolded Her, She Testifies.

"Did he nag and scold you?"

"Yes, he did," she said.

The trial didn't take long, and the judge decided it was a case of mental cruelty and awarded the decree.

"I'm going to England," said Dorothy, smiling at the judge and her attorneys, as she moved out of the court on her mother's arm.

Italian Envoy to Chile Says Mob Stoned Embassy

ETTELSON CLASH WITH SCHUYLER STIRS INSULL QUIZ

Former Law Partners Fence for 2 Hours.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

Samuel A. Ettelson and Daniel J. Schuyler, former close friends and now foes, fenced for two intense hours yesterday at the Insull "town meeting" in progress before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley. The duel provoked Ettelson to trembling rage and reduced Schuyler to cold fury.

Ever since the hearing opened, Ettelson has been known to be sharpening his weapons for the hour when Schuyler would take the stand to tell what he knew of the receivership of the Middle West Utilities company. In open court Ettelson had named Schuyler as a moving spirit in an alleged collusive plot to impose a fraud on the court in the Middle West case. He and Schuyler were once law partners.

Ettelson had said his purpose was to show that Schuyler helped draw the slate which made Samuel Insull co-receiver and Schuyler co-counsel for Middle West. He had said he hoped to prove that Schuyler took that slate to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who refused to consider it, and that subsequently it was presented to Judge Lindley, who usually sits downstate.

Ettelson Strides from Room.

The contest was prolonged an hour beyond the usual adjournment time. When the hearing closed at 6 p. m. Schuyler was still on the stand, immovable as stone and glaring with unblinking eyes at his adversary. Ettelson, perspiring and almost purple with wrath, strode from the room on the arm of his wife, who urged him to leave quickly to avoid further excitement.

Causes of the feud between the two, who dissolved partnership in 1915, when Ettelson became corporation counsel, remain obscure 19 years later. Ettelson is said to blame Schuyler, however, for blocking recognition of a committee Ettelson had formed to represent the holders of Middle West common stock, in which stock Ettelson has testified he lost $150,000.

Earlier there had been a clash between Ettelson and Charles Weinfeld who is also a former law partner of Ettelson and is still associated with Attorney Schuyler. But Ettelson's wrath rose to the heights later, however, when Schuyler took the stand. The first questions came from Attorney Henry I. Green, who is conducting the hearing as friend of the court. Schuyler testified he was 60 years old, a practicing attorney since 1896, counsel for several Insull companies and owner of 30,000 shares of Middle West common stock, which he had bought for $300,000 and was still holding at the time of the crash.

Counsel for Insull Companies.

Q.—[By Mr. Green.]—Were you personal counsel for Mr. Insull. A.—My law firm has been counsel for several of his companies. I was not his personal counsel.

Q.—Did you attend a meeting at the Chicago club where Insull receiverships were discussed? A.—I did. Mr. Insull asked me to be there.

Q.—During this hearing it has been asserted that you presented a slate of receivers to some federal judge. Did you? A.—I never presented a slate of receivers to anybody. I went to Judge Wilkerson's chambers on a traction matter on April 5, 1932, the before the Middle West receivership. I told him it looked as if Middle West would go into receivership. The judge said he would not be hearing the chancery calendar. That was all.

Ettelson was watching his former partner closely during this examination except when he turned to jot a note. He began the cross-examination quietly.

Q.—At the time you speak of you were doing some personal work for Samuel Insull, were you not? A.—I wouldn't say that. Our firm had done some—very little.

Ettelson's Face Colors.

"Were you not personal attorney for Samuel Insull on the occasion when you loyally and courageously refused to tell the United States senate what you had done with $40,000 of his money?" he demanded.

A thunder of objections arose, a dozen lawyers contributing to the din. Ettelson was recalling an incident out of which had grown a threat of a senate contempt citation and Schuyler's subsequent indictment for evading an income tax, the showdown developing proof that he had paid the $40,000 to Insull's political candidates.

The objection sustained, Ettelson shifted the attack to the visit to Judge Wilkerson's chambers. What was the conversation there, he asked.

"I have said before," the witness dourly replied, "that I saw the judge on a traction matter."

"Would you be astonished," Ettelson exploded, "to know that Judge Wilkerson has stated that some one asked him to appoint receivers for the Insull companies?" (a sharp objection by Green. Whispers between Judge Lindley and counsel. Objection sustained.)

Q.—What was the time of your visit to the chambers? A.—It was Monday or Tuesday, I can't quite recall.

Q.—Aren't you slipping, Dan?

With more clamors of objection rising, Judge Lindley took the case in hand. While admitting the materiality of Schuyler's visit to Judge Wilkerson, he said, he was loath to permit testimony in his court concerning happenings in the chambers of a fellow judge. A few minutes later the hearing adjourned to resume today.

Gets 17 Subpenas.

Mr. Ettelson procured subpenas last night for seventeen witnesses to testify later in the case. Among them were Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the board of the Continental Illinois National bank; Stanley Field, former chairman; Edward J. Doyle, president of the Commonwealth Edison company; John A. Gilchrist, president of the safety deposit company where Samuel Insull had a box; Bowman C. Lingle, Paul Mitchell, and Joseph Mitchell, officers of the Harris Trust and Savings bank; Thomas McGuire, private detective formerly employed by the Insull interests, and several others. He declined to state the purpose for calling these witnesses.

BLIZZARD IN GREECE GIVES INSULL DELAY; OFFICIAL SNOWBOUND

ATHENS, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A blizzard today was added to the string of events which has delayed a decision on whether Samuel Insull Sr. will be forced to leave Greece.

A heavy snowstorm was holding the minister of interior at Peloponnesus, where he went for a celebration of the government's victory in municipal elections. Thus Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris, who had expected to announce a decision by today, will delay it at least until the minister's return.

With his sojourn tacitly prolonged, Insull, wanted in Chicago on criminal charges, was still in seclusion. He might normally be expected to share the joy of Athenian schoolboys in the snowfall, but Greek reports said he was suffering a new heart attack.

DILLINGER GANG REINDICTED FOR SLAYING SHERIFF

Correct Defect Found in First True Bills.

Lima, O., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Five alleged members of the John Dillinger gang of desperadoes were re-indicted today for the murder of Jess L. Sharber, Allen county sheriff, who was slain during Dillinger's delivery from the county jail last Oct. 12. An additional true bill was voted against John Hamilton, considered the most dangerous of the outlaws, who has not been captured.

The others are: Harry Pierpont, Charles Makley, Russell Clark, Edward Shouse and Harry Copeland. Copeland was turned over by state prison officials at Michigan City, Ind., to authorities at Greencastle, Ind., to stand trial there for the $74,000 robbery of the Central National bank; the others are prisoners of Allen county, Ohio.

Prosecutor E. M. Botkin of Allen county explained that the re-indictment was necessary because of a "defect" in the first indictment which was voted several days ago. No explanation was given for the prosecutor's failure to ask the indictment of Dillinger, whose delivery the quintet accomplished. Dillinger is a prisoner of Indiana awaiting trial on a charge of slaying a policeman.

NAB EX-CONVICTS FOR ROBBERY OF AN AGED WOMAN

Two former convicts, both at liberty on parole, were arrested yesterday in their homes in Blue Island and charged with the $20,000 robbery of an aged Milwaukee woman on Jan. 8. They are William Hunke, 35 years old, 12633 Maple avenue, and Joseph O'Brien, alias Ryan, 54 years old, 2414 Union avenue. Edward Gurgel, 27 years old, also of the Union avenue address, was arrested as a suspect in the robbery.

The men are alleged to have blown open a wall safe after tying and gagging Miss Celia Dix, owner of the safe, in her home at 2471 South Graham street, Milwaukee. Information that led to the arrest of the men was obtained from Marvel Jecklin of Milwaukee.

A bond stolen in the robbery appeared in a Milwaukee brokerage house and was traced to Jecklin, who is said to have admitted planning the robbery and obtaining the services of four men from the Chicago area to carry it out. The police are seeking another man said to have been involved in the robbery.

Ryan, known to Chicago police as an expert safe blower, was released in parole from Joliet two years ago, after he had served eight years for participation in a Chicago jewel robbery.

HUSBAND CRUEL ON HOLIDAYS, SHE WANTS DIVORCE

Mrs. Marie Kerwin, 4332 South Artesian avenue, charged in a bill for divorce filed in the Superior court yesterday that her husband James, an electrician, was cruel only upon holidays. She asserted in the bill drawn by Attorney Victor Frohlich that he threw firecrackers at her on last July 4, that he struck her with a turkey drumstick on Thanksgiving day and switched her with a Christmas tree branch on Christmas day.

DENY SHURTLEFF A REHEARING IN SAMMONS' CASE

Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo yesterday was denied a rehearing by the Illinois Supreme court on a writ of mandamus which they issued on Dec. 23, directing the judge to expunge from his court records his order releasing James [Fur] Sammons, gangster and public enemy, from Joliet penitentiary.

Sammons, who now is serving a life sentence in an Indiana prison as an habitual criminal, was freed from the Illinois penitentiary upon a habeas corpus writ issued by Judge Shurtleff in July, 1932. At that time the gangster was serving a sentence of murder. After Sammons' release Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom filed the mandamus order against Judge Shurtleff, and the attorney general's petition was granted when the high court held that the judge had no jurisdiction to issue the habeas corpus writ and that his order was void.

In 1904 Sammons was sentenced to die for the murder of Patrick Barrett, a saloonkeeper, but Gov. Richard Yates commuted the punishment to a life term. Gov. Len Small commuted Sammons' sentence to 50 years and a month, later the state board of pardons and paroles issued a parole. Three years later Sammons was freed, remaining so for eight years until 1930, when the Illinois Supreme court ruled that the parole board's authority did not apply to commutations.

CRIPPLED WOMAN TELLS OF LOSSES IN STONE STOCK

How she was reduced to poverty through the purchase of stock in H. O. Stone & Co., defunct real estate investment house, was told yesterday by a witness in the federal court of Judge Philip L. Sullivan. Miss Ann Cavanaugh, 69 years old, who hobbled to the witness stand on crutches, said that she was induced to part with bonds valued at $8,100, for which she was given H. O. Stone stock which later proved worthless. Five former officials of the company are on trial on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Janitor Confesses He Killed Man in Store

Francis Hernandez, 36 years old, a janitor employed in a store at 1066 West Roosevelt road, yesterday confessed the murder of a man found dead in the basement beneath the store building. Hernandez said that the man, who was identified yesterday as Charles Caldwell, 47 years old, resident of a shelter at 1310 South Ashland avenue, came into the store last Saturday night and stumbled against the stove, upsetting it. Hernandez said he seized an iron bar and beat Caldwell.

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about the natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

OAK LAWN GOES INTO THE MARKET FOR A JAIL LOCK

Lock salesmen seeking business might drop in for a chat with the officials of the village of Oak Lawn today or tomorrow. There is some talk among the village elders of purchasing a lock for the front door of the jail.

This has become likely since six armed men invaded the jail yesterday and stole the village police force—one Policeman Arthur Eichler.

The robbers used the policeman as a shield in an unsuccessful attempt to rob the Oak Lawn Trust and Savings bank, 5310 West 95th street. The bank robbery was foiled when Cashier John L. Brumersteadt set off tear gas in the bank and routed the bandits.

The six bandits, riding in tw automobiles, first appeared at the village jail and made themselves comfortable until Policeman Eichler appeared. They forced him to surrender his service revolver and another weapon kept in the jail. Then they compelled the policeman to lead them into the bank.

Cashier Brumersteadt, who saw the robbers enter, pressed the lever that released the tear gas. The bandits, after several ineffectual shots at the employés, fled to their cars and escaped. Policeman Eichler, overcome by the gas, was soon revived.

Natives Stand Solemn as Scientists Work.

LOSAP, Caroline Islands, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Scores of photographs which they believe will contribute greatly to further studies of light were obtained today by American and Japanese scientists during a total solar eclipse.

Because of cloudless skies and careful preparations the scientists who journeyed to this lonely mid-Pacific atoll declared themselves confident that they had conducted one of the most successful expeditions in the history of astronomy.

They were interested particularly in two problems, involving a determination of whether the light of the sun's corona is direct or reflected and the angle of deflection of the sun's light—which bears on Prof. Einstein's relativity theory.

Ideal for Mark Twain Tale.

This drama of modern science was staged in a setting that might have been thought ideal for reënacting Mark Twain's tale of the Connecticut Yankee, but Losap's 350 natives reacted otherwise.

Having had three weeks' schooling in the purposes of the astronomers, the inhabitants showed none of primitive man's customary terror at the awesome spectacle. Japanese marines were not far off to help if natives accused the visitors of interfering with nature's processes.

Instead, most of the natives were equipped with smoked glass, which the scientists had taught them to make, and which they took to the beach at dawn to await the promised show.

Become Silent, Solemn.

They clapped their hands in childish glee as the sun slowly disappeared, but when darkness came and a fiery crown later leaped from a blackened disk they were silent and solemn.

The shadow began consuming the sun at 8:21:24 a. m. Totality began at 10:05:20.

A weird hush fell over the quiet natives and scientists—broken only by a watch ticking off 125 precious seconds, the clicking of cameras, and the lapping of waves on the beach.

The camp of the expedition, its 16 tents and small forest of telescopes, with a background of ghostly palm trees, formed a strange spectacle during the darkness.

Dr. Willi M. Cohn of the University of California had set up five telescopes and a reporter noticed him leaping with great agility from one to another.

Joseph J. Johnson of the California Institute of Technology was the other American. Heading the 33 Japanese was Dr. Satome of the Tokio university.

This flat coral island was considered the only suitable point for scientific observation of the total eclipse, which traced a 6,000 mile arc over the Pacific. Losap is 1,875 miles southeast of Japan.

The total cost involved is $203,342.20.

The division of highways also approved a contract in Kane county for the erection of a 70 foot span steel truss bridge with a 24 foot roadway near Big Rock. The cost will be $10,971.12 and the contract was awarded to Stanley Jaicks company of Winfield, Ill.

COUNTY BUFFALO TO BE EXECUTED WITHIN 2 WEEKS

Supt. Charles G. Sauers of the forest preserves announced yesterday that the eight buffaloes doomed to die by the forest preserve commissioners on Tuesday will be executed within two weeks. The animals will be put to death by rifle bullets.

Considerable controversy raged yesterday between forest preserve employés and amateur marksmen as to who should perform the execution.

"I'm the logical man," said C. A. Coey of Palos Park, "for several years ago the late Mayor Cermak, when he was president of the county board, selected me to kill a buffalo. It only took one shot."

Supt. Sauers felt, however, that the preserve marksmen could handle the job.

"We have several expert riflemen in the preserve service," he said, "and they can dispatch the beasts quickly and mercifully."

THOS. COSTELLO, FORMER CHICAGO BROKER, IS DEAD

Thomas Costello, who was formerly a member of the Board of Trade, died yesterday at his home in Los Angeles, Cal., after a long illness. He was 72 years old.

In 1905 Mr. Costello retired from business in Chicago and went to Idaho, where he became a rancher. Twenty-five years ago he left Idaho and established his residence in Los Angeles.

SOVIET SHIP SINKS IN ARCTIC; PARTY STRANDED ON ICE

One Is Killed as Jam Crushes Vessel.

MOSCOW, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A commission of leading transport, aviation, and military officials was appointed by the government tonight to direct the rescue of passengers and crew of the cargo boat Cheliuskin, which was crushed yesterday in a Bering strait ice pack.

The vessel, which had been stranded in the ice for nearly five months, sank with the loss of one life. Others aboard, including eight women and two children, were landed on the ice. It was believed that the marooned persons were in no immediate danger.

Within a cruising distance from them is at least one ice breaker in Providence bay. Several seaplane bases are within a radius of 200 miles.

Vessel Battered by Ice.

The Cheliuskin, an 8,600 ton boat especially designed for work in the arctic, was built for the soviet government last year in Copenhagen.

News of its sinking was contained in a message from Prof. Otto Schmidt, chief of the expedition which was sent to take supplies to scientists on Davidoff island in the arctic.

The Cheliuskin's exact position when it sank was not given. Prof. Schmidt explained it was 155 miles off North Cape and 144 miles off Cape Welland.

Frequent ice battering yesterday caused the crew much concern, Prof. Schmidt explained, and prepared them for the final blow. This came at night, ripping a section of the bow away. Simultaneously steam pipes leading to the pumps burst.

Establish Camp on Ice.

Abandonment of the ship was carried out in perfect order, the wireless message reported. So slowly did the ship settle that the crew had two hours in which to complete removal of supplies and stores. The only casualty was a steward who was killed by a falling timber.

Prof. Schmidt reported that the crew and passengers had established themselves comfortably on the ice in tents and wooden huts.

An emergency radio station was rigged up and has been communicating regularly with stations on Northern Cape and Cape Welland.

MOTORIST FLEES AFTER CAR KILLS SKATING BOY, 11

Arnold Goldberg, 11 years old, 1240 South Troy street, was fatally injured last evening by a hit and run motorist whose car struck the child as he was roller skating in the street in front of his home. The boy died an hour later at the Mount Sinai hospital.

Witnesses told police the driver appeared to be intoxicated. They said the car, south bound in Troy street and moving in the western lane, had abruptly swerved almost to the eastern curb where the boy was skating. The child was thrown upon the sidewalk.

Another death caused by a car whose owner fled was that of Abraham Fuchs, 55 years old, 1301 South Millard avenue. He was struck late last night in front of 3526 Douglas boulevard and died early today in Mount Sinai hospital. Witnesses could furnish the police no clew to the identity of the driver.

These deaths and one other brought the Cook county toll of motor deaths since Jan. 1 to 162. The victim:

Miss Helen Adamowicz, 18 years old, 2925 Allen avenue. Died in the Norwegian American hospital of injuries incurred Jan. 18. The automobile in which she was riding was struck by a Milwaukee avenue street car at Lowell avenue.

Rev. Dr. Robert Milligan, Ex-Missionary, Buried

He retired several years ago after spending many years in West Africa under the foreign missionary board of the Presbyterian church, and in Lima, Peru, as a representative of the American Bible society. He was a graduate of the Presbyterian Theological seminary of Chicago. The rites were conducted in a chapel at 3905 Lincoln street by the Rev. William S. Meyer, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church.

Warsaw's Jewish Quarter Stirred as Leper Escapes

WARSAW, Poland, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Jewish quarter was thrown into consternation today with the disclosure that a leprosy patient is at large. A chauffeur, Leizor Echauser, who recently returned from Palestine, went to a clinic complaining of eczema. Doctors diagnosed the case as leprosy and placed him in an isolated ward, but he escaped. The medical department's assurance that leprosy is not contagious here because of the nature of the climate failed to placate the Jewish section.

JOHN HAS ONE MORE FIGHT WITH HIS OLD FRIEND

John Hultgren, 38 years old, sat in a cell at the Town Hall police station yesterday. He was cheerful, but he explained that his spirits would have been higher had he been able to see his friend, Nels Sunden, with whom he worked and lived for the ten years they lived in Chicago and for six years before that in Arvika, Sweden.

The charge against John was one of assault, placed by police who stopped a fight between him and Nels on Sunday evening in their bachelor rooms at 741 Aldine street.

"This fight is just one more," he confided to a policeman. "We've had 50 fights. All of them started because of Nels' one weakness. He buys liquor with his money instead of paying his share of the rent. Then we punch each other and it's all over and we are friends again. Nels has punched me often enough.

"They told me that they took Nels out to the county hospital. When he gets fixed up he'll come back here and get me out."

At nightfall last evening Hultgren had word about his friend. The police informed him that Sunden had died from a skull fracture incurred in the fight and that he would be held responsible for the death.

NEW GALLAGHERS CAUSE HOSPITAL SOME CONFUSION

Mrs. John P. Gallagher and her infant son, born a few days ago, are domiciled on the third floor at St. Bernard's hospital. On the same floor, and also possessed of a new born son, is Mrs. John P. Gallagher.

So when Thomas Fitzgerald, secretary to Capt. John Hogan of the Hyde Park police station, called the hospital to announce that the station had some flowers for Mrs. John P. Gallagher and asked for her room number, a clerk told him to be more explicit.

"Which Mrs. Gallagher do you mean?" the secretary was asked.

Fitzgerald explained that he meant the one that had the boy. Then he said he meant the one whose husband was a city employé. The answers from the hospital were noncommittal. Finally he confided that he was talking about Mrs. Detective John P. Gallagher and the problem was solved. The other Mrs. Gallagher's husband is superintendent of maintenance of the small parks in the south parks.

TRAPPED IN BED BY FIRE; VANDAL GANG IS BLAMED

Julius Lubkowsky, 46 years old, 715 South State street, was reported in serious condition yesterday in the county hospital after he had been rescued from his burning bed by firemen during an early morning blaze said to have been of incendiary origin.

The fire, which caused damage of $300, started in the Harris junk shop at the rear of 715 South State street. Tony Mels, a Negro employé in the junk shop, told police that three men entered the shop and set fire to rag bales after sprinkling them with gasoline.

Mels said that before starting the fire the three men drew pistols and forced him, John Davis, also colored, and Joseph Johnson from their beds in the junk shop.

Reports Car Stolen, Then Finds It Where He Put It

L. L. Valentine, 1448 Lake Shore drive, wealthy retired manufacturer, reported to the police last night that his Packard automobile apparently had been stolen from where he had left it when he entered the offices of Butler Brothers at Canal and Randolph streets. He then got on a street car to go home. Looking out of the window, he was surprised to see his automobile parked at Clinton and Randolph streets. He then recalled that he had left it there instead of the other place.

PREDICTS DEATH RAY PLANE WILL DESTROY ARMIES

How wireless-directed planes, equipped with robots, and the cosmic "death ray" will be able to wipe out armies in the next war, was pictured by Dr. Luther S. H. Gable yesterday. He spoke before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Palmer house on "The Mystery of the Cosmic Rays."

Formerly head of the department of radium and heliology at the Detroit Institute of Technology, Dr. Gable described his own observations of cosmic "sparks," comparing them to shrapnel bursting from a shell. "The cosmic rays will revolutionize our industries, light, heat and power, and so far transcend them as to make this supposedly electric age of ours look like another 'horse and buggy' era," said Dr. Gable.

The new oscillating radio tube was mentioned as the nearest approach to the future utilization of radium energy. Dr. Gable described the workings of the ultra-violet, the infra-ray, the X-ray, and the new Grentz ray which enables physicians to kill disease germs in 30 seconds.

CHICAGO PUPILS RAISE $6,041 FOR GEORGIA FUND

Chicago school children contributed $6,041 to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation in connection with President Roosevelt's recent birthday celebration. James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, yesterday sent a check for that amount to Carter H. Harrison, chairman of the central committee which arranged the Chicago birthday parties for President Roosevelt. The money was donated by 294,737 school children.

IN every neighborhood, Chicago families realize the nearness, the remarkable promptness and superiority of Hursen service in directing funerals.

They know that Hursen elegance, Hursen unmatchable equipment, and the use of Hursen Organ-Chapels, always free, cannot be matched in their own neighborhood.

They know, too, that Hursen funerals cost less!

New Low Cost Diet Ready for General Use

Cornell Foundation Issues Manufacturing Permits.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Set up for inspection by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt here today was the scientific, mass production result of serving a new menu at the White House.

She pioneered the menu in Washington recently. The result is that the Cornell Research Foundation, which controls these products, has just licensed manufacturers to produce three of them in sufficient volume to feed millions of relief agency beneficiaries.

The foods are wheat, corn, and oats, specially treated and with milk added. The contract figures were not given out, but it was made known that the milk fraction alone is large enough to supply New York City with all its milk for 12 days.

The new foods designed to give the poor meals costing only a few cents each, yet containing more nourishment than many affluent families purchase habitually. The underlying idea was that millions of unemployed need more than money for complete restoration to usefulness.

Months of experiment with the new foods, as bread, muffins, soups, pancakes, and cereals, at the Cornell college of home economics seem to indicate that the dietary scientists have found a working plan new for humans.

They borrowed this plan, ready made, from 10 years' experience in producing near miracles in improving animals by diet.

Part of the substances for the animals were so-called industrial waste products of human food processing. This waste was not merely brans from hulls, but the embryo of grains, and vitamins and minerals. In the new Cornell food these elements are restored for human consumption.

"Until a few years ago," said H. E. Babcock, a director of the Cornell Research Foundation, "we lost 25 to 30 per cent of young chicks, due to faulty diet. Now we lose none from that cause. We hope to do something like that for humans.

"No one would think of taking horses which had not worked for months and had been fed only on hay and putting them to work without first feeding them other foods to get their strength up. Yet we take men who have been undernourished, load them into trucks and expect them to work with pick and shovel.

"We think that in diet men should be given as much chance as horses, cows, and chickens. In Cleveland I saw truckloads of newly employed stopped to give each man a doughnut and a cup of coffee. That was fine, as far as it went. It made their stomachs feel better but it hadn't much food value.

"It should be possible to give those workers real food they need, and at no more cost."

Development of Cornell foods is sponsored by the Cornell Research Foundation of which Maj. Robert E. Treman of Ithaca is president. Recently half a million New York state families have had these new diets.

Hal Roach Seeks New Fat Boy for Roles in Comedies

Hollywood, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Fat boys of 5 years, with all the qualifications necessary to becoming a member of "Our Gang," are scarce in these parts, so Hal Roach today made a general appeal. He wants a boy of about 5 years who weighs about 60 pounds, but who still can run and play as other children do. He should be between 45 and 47 inches tall.

Burton Holmes at His Best in Story of Fair

Travelog Captures Carnival Spirit of Season.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Burton Holmes, 41 years old as a travel lecturer but still young of heart and debonair of manner, began his annual engagement in Orchestra hall last night with A Century of Progress as his theme. His pictures of the Fair by day and by night revive the fascinating spectacle of last summer with brilliant effect.

Mr. Holmes saw it all, from the Arcturus ceremony to the arrival of Balbo's air armada, from President Roosevelt to Sally Rand. He apparently had the time of his life, and he succeeded in making a rich pictorial record of the gayety in which he participated as one of the twenty-six million customers.

This "travelog" is one of the best of Mr. Holmes' career. In addition to its panoramic beauty it communicates the buoyant spirit of carnival that filled the fantastic summer of 1933 in Chicago.

The Blackstone theater will reopen March 11 with "Girls in Uniform," the drama upon which the celebrated film play was based, staged by Charles Freeman who has been director of theatrical activities at the Jewish People's institute for the last five years.

Mr. Freeman is now withdrawing from that work, after a fine administration during which his players won first honors in the Chicago Drama league's little theater tournament for three years in succession. He plans to enter the field of professional dramatic productions in Chicago, with "Girls in Uniform" serving as his start.

This play, originally called "Gestern und Heute" ["Yesterday and Today"], was written by Christa Winsloe. The English version, by Barbara Burnham, had a nine months' run in London. It had a short engagement in New York last season. The play and the film are now banned in Germany because of the story's emphasis upon traditions of the Hohenzollern empire.

The cast for Mr. Freeman's production will be composed of veteran members of his Institute Players group and a number of professionals. The play will be staged in ten scenes.

Mary Pickford Leads Palm Beach Children in Ride on Bicycles

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Those demon scorchers—Mary Pickford and Lois Moran—are burning up the local bicycle paths.

Mary, in knitted sports dress and sweater, went out for a quiet ride yesterday to enjoy solitude and scenery, but returned an hour later at the head of a procession of a dozen bicycling youngsters. One by one they had recognized the film favorite and fallen in line. The young 'uns were grinning from ear to ear, and so was Mary, with whom they were carrying on voluble conversation. Today she went sail fishing.

Lois, the youthful star of "Let 'Em Eat Cake," was up with the dawn and cycling all around the town. In her yellow shorts and green and white jersey, her blonde hair blown about by the wind, she looked so much like any 'teen aged school girl that no one gave her a second glance.

Turn Thoughts to Vacations

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Now that the Town Hall series of lectures, which benefited the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins, is drawing to a close the young women who are members of the board of the society are thinking of vacations. Princess Josephine Galitzine (standing) already has left for a month in California and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr. (seated) is leaving Saturday night with her little daughter, Nancy, for Vero Beach, Fla. The last lecture of the series will be given Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the ballroom of the Drake hotel by Bruce Lockhart, author of "British Agent."

Newest Styles Give Shopper Feel of Spring

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Buy clothes if you would capture the mood of spring . . . sink your shekels in a dozen new things that will do wonders for your jaded soul . . . buy the new, audacious things that you thought were too exciting at the first sight.

Be a sport and wear the wildest, giddiest, most rakish hat that you can find; wear a crisp new straw chapeau, even though the winds howl around the corners and the last of the snow flurries do disconcert the timid.

Be alive and glowing to your very fingertips in one of the oldest of striped silk, wool or knitted dresses you can find, no matter how dizzy the stripes and blazing the color combination. Gaze around and find the newest, most fetching bits of white neckwear that will rejuvenate you as well as any pet dark dress you possess . . . shop around and locate the newest gloves, the stunning new handbags, the most spectacular ascot and butterfly neck scarfs; or, better yet, buy a colorful new tweed suit, and for a change select three different tops to wear with it . . . for instance, one of the striped slit-straight-across-the-throat models, cinched smartly in around the waist with one of those swanky polo belts that are wide and fasten with three straps and three buckles.

Next choice, one of the newest honeys, a checkered scarlet and white crackling crisp organdy or old fashioned dimity blouse, fashioned with demure necklines, short, clever sleeves and a tuck-in or slipover model . . . and last, the slick new taffetas, in eye-catching plaids, or the floral designs that bloom so captivatingly now among the stodgier things we have watched all winter.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

WHEN John Charles Thomas was in town to sing in opera last week, he entertained friends for dinner at the Drake. He told the charming lady who sat on his right at dinner about a little incident that occurred at the White House when he sang there recently that further illustrates the informality that characterizes the President's mansion during its present incumbency.

After his concert he and the President, whom he had met on previous occasions, were engrossed in conversation when a big senator came up, clapped the singer on the back, and, interrupting the conversation, said:

Mr. Thomas thanked him and the senator added:

"I want to know where you sing."

To which the baritone replied:

"Any place I am paid."

A BELLBOY at the Auditorium hotel became so interested in the goings and comings of Arnold Schoenberg as a guest there that he finally bought himself a ticket for the Symphony concert at which the modernist conducted some of his own works. Later the bellboy came around to talk to an executive of the hotel about it.

"Do you mean to tell me that stuff he played is actually composed?" he asked.

DR. RAY LYMAN WILBUR, in town for the congress on medical education, amused his listeners when, after reviewing the accomplishments of the Council on Medical Education, he said:

"The medical profession has gone far since the days when the only requirements for a doctor were that he could read and write. And this was not strictly enforced."

NATHAN FLAXMAN relays the story Dr. Dean Lewis, formerly of Chicago but now of Johns Hopkins, told by way of injecting a little humor into the session. A drunk at a football game was telling what each play was going to be, and calling them all wrong. Finally the team got down to its opponent's ten yard line, and the drunk was asked what the next play was going to be.

"Well, we got 'em down this far; now they've got to take it over themselves," he answered with dignity.

YOURS-FOR-BETTER-TIMES department. A south side woman commented to an acquaintance that she believed she would buy one of those white rubber capes.

"They are only a dollar, and in some places only 69 cents," she added. "It might come in handy occasionally."

Her companion objected to the idea.

"I don't believe I would if I were you," she said. "In time the rubber will all stick together and you could only get a season's wear out of it anyway."

Critic Praises Symphony of Minneapolis

Ormandy Shows His Skill as Conductor.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

At comparatively brief but none the less welcome notice the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra came to the Auditorium last night for a single program in the course of its winter tour. The event was announced as an extra concert of the recently ended series for the benefit of the Girl Scouts of Chicago.

It, however, needed no part of the mantle of charity in its consideration. The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra is amply able to stand on its own merits as a musical organization. Its conductor, Eugene Ormandy, is a forceful personality. Under his baton the orchestra displays tone, balance, power, and efficient discipline. Out of these Mr. Ormandy builds his interpretations which drive to an unerring end and strike warmth out of the minds of the hearers.

He does not altogether disdain the arts of the showman, but he also controls them. Judging by last night's performance he permits no extravagance in himself or his players. His own arrangement of the Bach Toccata and Fugue in D minor was a case in point, a legitimate orchestration that kept as nearly as it is possible for an orchestra to do the organ tone of the Bach original and consequently its spirit, a performance entirely in keeping with the ideas of those who want their Bach played just so, and in addition plenty of warmth and light and life.

Beethoven's Seventh Symphony which followed became an equally favorable example of good Beethoven playing, the kind that approaches the composer not as a dead hero but as a man who in his time produced living music. Taking no liberties, treating the score with complete respect, Mr. Ormandy reproduced in admirable fashion the spirit of one of the great symphonies of all time.

But Mr. Ormandy is still young, and he is right in not confining himself entirely to the classics. Wherefore in the second half of the program he went into the modern literature. Ravel's "Alborado del Gracioso," the suite from Kodaly's "Hary Janos," Enesco's First Roumanian Rhapsody, where orchestral colors are more intense, dissonances more pronounced, progressions more unexpected. Here, too, he and his orchestra found a pronounced and altogether deserved success. Minneapolis will do well to cling to its orchestra.

In the morning, afternoon, and evening, from different points of the compass, the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe will converge upon Chicago today in preparation for its week's engagement at the Auditorium which begins tomorrow night. It is expected that the company will be greeted at the station by several groups of Chicagoans who have special interest in some of the performances.

The first performance tomorrow night will be for the benefit of the Passavant Memorial hospital. That of Sunday will be known as Russian night, of which Mrs. Henry Krasnow is chairman. The Monday night performance is announced as women's club night, and Mrs. Marco Adrogna is chairman of the advisory board.

The program for the first three performances, tomorrow night and Saturday afternoon and night, will consist of three ballets, "Les Sylphides," wtih music by Chopin; "Petrouchka" by Stravinsky, and "Le Beau Danube" by Johann Strauss.

Hutchins Sees China in Effort to Rebuild Self

Every one who went to the luncheon meeting of the American Friends of China yesterday at the Palmer house left the dining room feeling that it had been not only a very interesting meeting but a very nice Valentine's day party, for the speaker is on his way east to be married and many of the ladies present were wearing lovely flowers, Valentines, no doubt, from their best beaux.

Dr. Francis Hutchins, president of Yale-in-China, was the speaker and although his subject was a serious one, "Present Conditions in China," he managed to inject enough humor into his talk to make it amusing as well as instructive. "He is a smaller edition of his brother," some one said, and that described him very well, for he looks very much like his older brother, Robert, who sat across the table from him yesterday and who is president of the University of Chicago. Mrs. Hutchins, too, was sitting at the speaker's table, looking lovely as usual in brown with a bouquet of violets and one orchid pinned at her throat.

Dr. Francis Hutchins summed up his talk by saying that he wanted to leave with his listeners an impression—not the one they get from newspapers, he said—of a nation trying to find its way, of a nation definitly trying to develop itself and minding its own business and not shouting about Japan or Russia being a menace. Dr. Hutchins recently made an extensive tour of China and Manchuria and his observations about the latter country were especially interesting to his listeners, all of whom are students of oriental politics and affairs.

Of his own college Dr. Hutchins said little, although he did say that the schools and colleges in China with American affiliations were not trying to teach their Chinese students to be American, just to be modern. "We do not teach them to use knives and forks, for instance. We learn to use chop-sticks," he explained.

Dr. Hutchins sat between Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, who was in charge of arrangements for the luncheon, and Col. George T. Langhorne, president of the society. Also at the speaker's table were Dr. Berthold Laufer, Dr. Frederick Woodward, Mrs. Dagny Carter of New York, Miss Lucy Driscoll and Henry Field.

Some of the others who enjoyed Dr. Hutchins' talk and the luncheon were Mrs. Langhorne, Mrs. John Paul Welling, Mrs. William H. Bush and Miss Carol Bush, not long at home from a trip to China; Potter Palmer, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, smart in a brown three-quarter length tweed coat with a brown and tan plaid skirt; Mrs. William A. Nitze, Mrs. William J. Chalmers.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker—he was wearing a dark red carnation in his buttonhole, perhaps a valentine from his wife—Ira Nelson Morris, Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Mrs. Quincy Wright, Mrs. Robert H. McCreary, Miss Joanna Fortune, Mrs. John L. Fortune, Miss Elizabeth Worley and Mrs. William B. Hale.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchins are not entertaining for their brother during his brief visit to them this time, but when he returns on his way back to China after his marriage to Miss Louise Gilman of Montclair, N. J., on Feb. 22, they will be giving a party for the bride and bridegroom. Dr. and Mrs. Hutchins are going east for the wedding.

College Club Players.

The College Club Players will give a bill of three plays at 8:15 this evening and again tomorrow evening at the club, 196 East Delaware place. The bill includes "The Trysting Place," "The Monkey's Paw," and "Good Medicine."

Good Old Days of Travel Are with Us Again

Winter Resorts Are Enjoying Rush of Visitors.

BY JUDITH CASS.

AND still they go, by rail, by boat, by airplane or by motor car. Not since those far off days when every one took winter vacations as a matter of course have there been so many Chicago socialites going away; and if all we hear from various resorts is true, this year it isn't "cheaper to go away than to stay at home," which was the excuse given by most of those who took trips during the last few years.

From Florida vacationers write that that hateful word, depression, is obsolete and that prices are high but that every one is spending money freely, not riotously as they did in '28 and '29, but as if they no longer belonged to the "new poor" class. Those who went south or west for two weeks and then decided to stay longer are finding that they cannot prolong their vacations because the fashionable hotels are booked solidly; and those who want to take cruises and who haven't arranged them ahead are finding that they have to be content with studying folders and brochures instead of sailing the ocean blue.

William Mitchells Are Going Away.

The William H. Mitchells are planning to leave on the 20th, but they aren't going together, for he is going to New York for a business meeting and she is going to Palm Beach to visit Mrs. Lucius G. Ordway. Mr. Mitchell will join his wife in Palm Beach, however, and then they will go to Miami Beach, where they will be the guests of the "Bud" Talbotts. Mrs. Mitchell will have a western trip, too, this winter, for she plans to be in Santa Fe March 20th to spend his spring vacation from school with young Billy Mitchell, their oldest son.

Mrs. Mitchell's parents, the Charles Garfield Kings, will leave around the first of March to spend ten days with some old friends, Mr. and Mrs. George Hedges of New York, at their winter home, Yeaman's Hall, near Charleston, S. C. The Kings will go to New York on their way home to spend his spring vacation with their son, Garfield, who is a student at Yale.

Mrs. M. Paul Noyes, who motored as far as Baltimore with Mrs. Benson Duchane, now is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Orr, in Palm Beach, but will be at home by next Sunday.

Mrs. George B. Massey and her subdeb daughter, Phoebe, already are making plans for a trip next summer, for they plan to visit George B. Massey Jr. in Mexico City. He recently was transferred there and he writes glowing accounts of the city and of his housekeeping establishment.

Ayres Boals Will Motor to Florida.

Young Mr. Massey's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal, are leaving the end of this week to motor to Florida. During their absence their son, Stewart Boal, will live in town with some young bachelors at 41 East Division street.

"CLEAN? S-A-Y, YOU CAN DRY IT WITH A Tea Towel!"

Use magic S. O. S. to make dirtiest pots and pans "MICRO-CLEAN"*

Thousands of tests prove that kitchen utensils can be kept "Micro-clean"* with magic S. O. S. This new, modern way makes it easy, simple, economical. No rags and powder to mess things up, to get under nails and roughen hands. No extravagant, awkward extra soap.

Use this way

S. O. S. is a simple, perfectly smooth little pad—with a special cleansing soap—right in the pad. Easy to handle because it's all in one. For best results follow illustrations at the right. (1) Wet edge of pad only. Never wet entire pad. It may wash out cleansing compound too quickly. (2) Rub briskly, forming a cleansing lather. (3) Flush away dirt-laden lather with clean water. (4) Leave S. O. S. "sudsy" and set aside to dry.

Cleans three times faster!

S. O. S. cuts away toughest burnt-on "grease film" like lightning! No yesterday's food odors will taint today's cooking. Removes bitter "coffee crust" completely from inside of coffee pot and improves coffee. Burnt-on, encrusted food stains vanish. In a few seconds your pots and pans are bright as new—not only clean—but actually "Micro-clean"*! They won't stain your daintiest tea towel. Try this "tea towel test" and prove it yourself.

*"Micro-clean" means microscopically clean.

Safe for hands—economical

S. O. S. can't hurt the hands. Millions of women know it. Can't make the skin red and rough. Use it every day without fear. Furthermore, S. O. S. is inexpensive. You use only what you need. No waste, as with powder. One pad often lasts a week. Use it for everything.

Over 40 daily uses

S.O.S. makes any metal surface "Micro-clean"*. Use it for all aluminumware, all stove parts, baking tins and pans, for every hard-to-clean surface. Cleans coffee pots inside and out, Pyrex, even stoves, floors, enamelware, cutlery—dozens of other uses. Get a package of S. O. S. at once. Try half the pads at our risk. If not more than pleased, return the remaining half to your dealer and get all your money. The S. O. S. Company, 6201 W. 65th Street, Chicago.

(1) Wet edge of pad only
(2) Rub briskly and firmly
(3) Flush with clean water

THE WILD BIRD

By OWEN JOHNSON

SYNOPSIS.

Barbara Brawne, aged 22, is completely dominated by an adoring though jealous father, who is against every modern idea and improvement. Lynwood, their home, is in the prim and proper village of Oxbridge, a place of intellectual sanctity. Barbara seems predestined to join the ranks of the village spinsters. Her father scares away any would-be suitors. She contemplates rebellion. Gregory Rance, popular novelist, is visiting her cousin, Laurie Chiswick. They are mutually attracted. Barbara overhears Rance asking Laurie about her. He says she is the sort of girl he'd want to marry. Barbara proposes to Rance. But Rance is divorced and her father hates divorce. Barbara introduces him to her father as a casual acquaintance. Her father suspects Barbara's interest in Rance. He won't have him in the house again. Then relents, fearing she will meet him outside. Barbara tells her father she is going to marry Gregory. Brawne grants Gregory an interview in his New York office. He turns him out when he learns Gregory is divorced.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

A HALTED ELOPEMENT.

Barbara shook her head, took a breath. "Times have changed. No one objects to divorce now. There isn't a family, you know——"

"Except your own," her father broke in. "There has never been that blot on our record—yet!"

"Your principal clients are the Covingtons and the Van Wilers. There have been three divorces in the first and two in the second——"

"Nothing to do with——"

"You don't refuse the management of their estates, you don't refuse to dine at their tables. If you were consistent——"

He struck the table angrily.

"Absurd and totally irrelevant. We are not discussing my business relations, the Van Wilers, the Covingtons, or any one else but you——!"

"I am trying to make you see that every one about you, all your friends, your acquaintances——"

"Unnecessary! My principles and my standards are not——"

"O, father, can't you be reasonable? Can't you understand any other point of view?" she cried involuntarily, rising and beginning to pace the floor.

"My position is the position that any father would take under the circumstances," he answered coldly and precisely. "My dear girl, you have lost your senses. You are completely infatuated. You haven't the slightest power to reason on the most glaring facts. You are infatuated—I tell you! The man has got you——"

He was lying on the floor sprawled out.

"Yes, what do you know about this man, who married and left his wife—left or deserted, it's all the same thing, within a few weeks? What? Nothing! You know nothing but what he's told you. How do you know it's the truth? What do you know about his life in the last ten years? How many other women, all over the world, have been in it? You don't even know if he's mixed up with some woman now at this very moment. Have you asked him? Have you even discussed it? No!"

"That's what you think of him!" she cried. "That's exactly how you'd blacken the character of any man who wanted to marry me!"

"You haven't answered me, because you can't!" he cried, pounding the table. "Well, I know something of men and life; I know the motives back of things. And I have a pretty shrewd idea why Mr. Rance——"

"Stop! Don't say it. Wait." She made up her mind suddenly. "O, let's get out into the open. I'm tired of all this concealing of things! Now I'm going to tell you the truth. You think Gregory is a roue, a libertine, a fortune hunter; yes, yes, that's what you meant—playing with an adventure, amusing himself at my expense—O, anything you want to think! Well, the plain truth is, he had nothing to do with it. I went to him. I asked him to marry me!"

"Ridiculous! You made that up on the spur of the moment."

"It's true, and, furthermore, I loved him the moment I saw him! Yes, from the first moment I've had no other thought. I love him. I love him! He's what I want, what I've wanted all my life!"

He rose, trembling.

"Then all this cock and bull story you told me—just a lie. You've never lied to me before," he continued in a still voice, "never until this man came into your life! But don't you see, aren't you able to see, that you are no longer in possession of your senses? Barbara—Barbara! You don't know what you are saying or doing! You are completely, utterly mad!"

"I love him," she cried, swept on by her suddenly released emotions. "I love him because he has a big way of looking at things, because he understands everything, condemns no one, because his mind isn't shut in on old prejudices, because everything interests him, because he has ambitions, because he won't tell a lie even to save my feelings——"

"Because, in a word, he's everything your father isn't!" he burst out. Every word had cut him to the heart. "Say it—say it, why don't you?"

She shook her head angrily—not to be diverted.

"I chose him, I did everything to bring him to me. Why? Because I had to. Because—well, because I wanted to escape from this thing you are drawing around me!"

"Barbara!"

"I'm telling you the truth at last. Now you know it! And, if our marriage fails, I'll be the only one to be blamed!"

"Good God!" He sank back, staring at her. "Never in your right senses——" He began to stutter, incapable of comprehending what he had heard. "You're quite—I won't believe—you—you are but—then—then, there's nothing left!"

"I am going to marry Gregory, and nothing that you can say or do, or any one can say or do, is going to prevent it."

He struggled to his feet, leaning heavily on the desk.

"Whether your story is true or not," he began thickly, "nothing changes my opinion, understand that! You are incapable at the moment of seeing the man as he is——"

"Father!"

"Don't interrupt me! The man is no fit person to be your husband. He has not one single standard that I recognize. You will never, never marry this man, unless every sense of decency in you——"

"That means you will never change your mind."

"Never!" he cried furiously, swept away from all caution.

"Then, father, I am going to marry him tonight!"

He raised his hand, started to speak, and his hand dropped limply.

"In that case I shall never see you again," he said in a suddenly weak voice. All his anger ran out of him; he stood pale and frightened.

"There is nothing more to be said," she said, turning to go. "You have driven me to this. I could not love him and do differently—after what you've said."

"You will not do this," he said in a whisper. "No, no, you can not do this to me. You may think you can, Barbara; you won't; you can't!"

She escaped hurriedly, ran up to her room, and, taking a little satchel, began confusedly to throw into it a few things. The sight of her father's face as he stood there in the end had brought the tears to her eyes. If he had only been human—for one instant even!

She hurried down the stairs, clutching her things.

"Barbara!"

"Barbara!"

Then a crash.

She rushed back to the library. He was lying on the floor, sprawled out and lifeless.

Rance, fretting out his soul in the darkness, suddenly heard her running down the path calling his name. The next moment she was in his arms sobbing, hysterical.

"A doctor—a doctor! Gregory, I've killed him!"

Another Film Couple Awaits Visit of Stork

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Far from the shadowy, sinister jungles of Malaysia, where romance blossomed for the two young film stars who were cut off from civilization for eight months, Marion Burns has retired to the comfortable seclusion of a retreat near Hollywood to await the stork.

An announcement was made by Kane Richmond, young actor, today, who fell in love with Miss Burns while they were stars in Clyde E. Elliott's film expedition shooting the jungle animal thriller "Devil Tiger" and who married her as soon as they got back.

"We both hope for a fine boy," Richmond, who, as a former University of Minnesota athlete went under his real name of Frederick [Jack] Bowditch, said. "Marion is feeling very well. We are both very happy."

Miss Burns, who was not long out of the University of California at Los Angeles when she went abroad in the film thriller, was married to Richmond shortly after they returned from their venturesome oriental movie trip.

When she went abroad with the film troupe she was the wife, although separated, of Bruce MacFarlane, New York actor, and son of Alice Gentle, but a divorce ended that marriage in Los Angeles.

Carl Brisson, newly imported Danish actor, claims the smallest bar in the world. It covers one corner of his automobile and was a gift of a stage cast in England.

Brisson, by the way, also claims having introduced Max Schmeling, ex-world pugilistic champion, to Mrs. Schmeling. Mrs. Schmeling used to be Anny Onura, European actress who was Brisson's leading lady in "The Manxman." Brisson himself was at one time a professional boxer. But then, so were Victor MacLaglen, Georgie Raft, Victor Jory, Chuck Reisner, the director, and Max Baer, who's done more acting than boxing in the last nine months.

Northwestern Receives Prof. Grant's Library on Science Subjects

Some 6,000 volumes from the personal library of the late Ulysses Sherman Grant, who prior to his death in 1932, headed the geology department of Northwestern university for thirty-three years, were presented to the university's geology library yesterday. The presentation was made by Prof. Grant's widow, Mrs. Avis Winchell Grant, in University hall, on the Evanston campus.

Prof. Grant's library consisted of volumes on geology, zoölogy, chemistry, and related subjects. The donation was made at the suggestion of Mrs. Grant, who announced that in so doing she felt that she was carrying on the work of her husband. Prof. Grant was nationally known for his geological studies and for many years was actively associated with the United States geological survey.

are enjoying the simple life at the Circle V ranch near Tucson. The first of April they will go to Pasadena for a fortnight and then sail for New York through the Panama canal. Mr. Bastien, who hopes to take a trip to Paris and London in the early summer, will go east this spring to spend her vacation with Nancy Bastien, who is a student at Dobbs Ferry.

The entire Gorham family, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney S. Gorham, the junior Sidneys and the Willett Gorhams, are leaving on the 22d for a fortnight at the Boca Raton club in Florida.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely Has Gone to Phoenix.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely has joined the movement westward. She left Monday night for Phoenix, where she will spend a month or longer.

Mrs. Richard W. Walsh and her daughter, Miss Judith Walsh, were to have started westward Sunday, but they have postponed their trip until one day next week. They are going to Tucson and will be away for six weeks.

Two other travelers are Miss Emily and Miss Margaret Goehst, who will be motoring out to Phoenix within two weeks. They are going to visit Mrs. Joseph Bagley and her daughter, Miss Kathleen Bagley, and will be gone around a month.

Charles H. Morse is back in Chicago after a visit with his daughter and son-in-law, the William Covingtons, in Seattle, but Mrs. Morse will remain west several more weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Morse's many friends here feel they scarcely have seen them at all this winter for upon their return from Germany, where they visited their other daughter and her husband, Baron and Baroness von Peccoz, they whisked on through town to Seattle.

Franklin Millers Attend Mardi Gras.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Miller were in New Orleans for the Mardi Gras celebrations and they will go to Houston, San Antonio and Mexico City, returning to Chicago in about a month.

Mrs. Hibbard Casselberry will leave today for her home in Winter Park, Fla., after a visit with her father, John R. Leonard, in Winnetka.

Mrs. John J. Bryant's sister, Mrs. Chauncey Shackford, is spending this month with the Bryants in Wheaton.

Mrs. Harry Spenser-Brown writes from Paris that she will be at home before long, and that her daughter, Countess de Gramedo, is recovering nicely from an operation she had recently.

The junior George W. Blossoms of Lake Forest have gone out to Pasadena to spend a month with the senior Blossoms in the house they have taken there for the winter . . . Mrs. Allan E. Whitman, the former Betty Brown, has returned to New York accompanied by Miss Eleanor Wheeler, who is going to visit the former Florence Carr and her husband, Edgar Marston II. . . . Mrs. John E. Hughes is in Hot Springs, Ark., and will be at home in Lake Forest next Tuesday . . . Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Crane II, and the Frank Rigg Wartons are visiting the Warren Wrights in Palm Beach . . . Miss Elisabeth Bunting is leaving today for Palm Beach where she will visit Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock at their villa "Casa Alejandro."

Learn of Divorce of Arthur Reynolds Jr.

Chicago friends of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds Jr. will be surprised to learn that the former Virginia Avery and young Mr. Reynolds were divorced in Los Angeles in December for the divorce proceedings were so quiet that nothing about them has traveled to Chicago, except, perhaps, to a few relatives and very close friends.

Mrs. Avery Reynolds, who belonged to the Junior League and Service clubs when she lived here, is living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Avery, former Chicagoans, in Beverly Hills, and Mr. Reynolds has gone to San Francisco to be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Sr.

Mrs. Reynolds' cousin, the former Betty Histed, now Mrs. Stephen V. Horton, and Mr. Horton are returning this morning from a West Indies cruise. Mrs. Horton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Roland Histed of Lake Forest, returned recently from a trip to California.

Mrs. Cotsworth Heads Episcopal Auxiliary.

Mrs. Charles Spencer Williamson started out on her round the world cruise as president of the Chicago Woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal church, but she will return this spring as the honorary president. Expressing a wish before her departure that she be relieved of the strenuous duties of the presidency, Mrs. Albert Cotsworth Jr. was selected yesterday as her successor.

Mrs. Cotsworth is a member of the old and well known Seabury family in Oak Park which dates far back in Episcopal affairs. Samuel Seabury, bishop of Connecticut, was the first bishop of the church consecrated in America.

Mrs. John N. Van der Vries of Winnetka has been elected the first vice president of the auxiliary. The organization is one of the oldest and largest of its kind in Chicago. It embraces more than 100 local branches and carries on an extensive program of educational, social service and missionary work.

McKinney-Coyle Nuptials on Feb. 24.

Contrary to their original plans for a late spring wedding, Miss Jane Elizabeth McKinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clegg McKinney, and Philip Edward Coyle Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Edward Coyle of Brookline, Mass., will be married at 4:30 the afternoon of Feb. 24 in the chapel of Christ church in Winnetka.

The invitations for the ceremony and the reception following at the Tower road home of the McKinney family, tiny notes written by Miss McKinney, were in yesterday's mail. Between now and then Miss McKinney's calendar will be a matter of trousseau shopping and prenuptial parties.

Miss Alice Tulloss, a cousin of Miss McKinney, is coming from her home in Springfield, O., to be the maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be two of Miss McKinney's very good north shore friends . . . Miss Helen Bell and Miss Antoinette Lackner . . . and attending as flower girls will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sherman's tiny daughter, Alida Sherman, and the John Barbers' little daughter, Elizabeth Barber. Miss McKinney's brother, Charles McKinney, will serve Mr. Coyle as best man.

To the regret of their many friends here Miss McKinney and Mr. Coyle are to make their home in the east after their marriage. Until May they will be at Beverly, Mass., and then move to a new house in Annisquam, another Massachusetts town on the north shore.

Cocktail Party for Hacketts.

Col. and Mrs. Horatio B. Hackett have two months in Washington ahead of them. They will leave by auto tomorrow. This afternon Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Dean are giving a cocktail party for the Hacketts' close friends to bid them au revoir.

Miss Lucy Martin, the "Cousin Eve" of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, is talking on "Princes and Potentates" at 11 o'clock this morning at the Woman's Athletic club.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

If your hands are the ornery kind that stay scrawny and crinkly in spite of valiant effort on your part, you might be interested in a recent experiment we found most satisfactory.

We blended two well known creams, each for a different purpose. One is an extremely thick cream, designed primarily for the treatment of wrinkles and used extensively where a dry, shriveled condition of the face and throat is found. Many women with skin of the dry, crinkly type have used this cream for years for daily corrective treatment because it is so effective in replenishing oils.

The other cream is much lighter in texture and also a cream that the cosmetic people would describe as "active." It has a bracing, stimulating quality.

For the hand treatment we worked out we made a blend of both, using enough of the light cream to thin the consistency of the thick cream to the point where it was almost "runny," a perfect texture for fast moving, forceful manipulation of the hands. Combining, as it does, rich oiling qualities in one and a degree of stimulation in the other we figured that the blend was better than one or the other or both used separately, at least for stubbornly rough, crinkly hands. We found it tremendously effective on the hands on which we tried it.

Best results are obtained if the blended creams are worked in well and left on overnight, preferably under loose gloves. Some housewives liked it for use during the day when they could do their work wearing either rubber or cotton gloves, giving themselves a hand beautifying treatment while they went about their duties.

With this same blend we did some experimenting on, of all things, ears. The new hair styles make ears pretty big beauty news, you know, and they're all too often blackhead centers. Special treatment of the ears with this blend of creams leaves them immaculately clean, fashionably satiny, and just the least bit pink.

Teach Cosmetic Art in School, Says Educator

Beauty Practices Are Part of Daily Life.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One of our well known educators startled a radio audience recently with the suggestion that girls in school should be taught the use of cosmetics instead of being told to go home and wash off the makeup. This educator, Dr. Alexander J. O'Neil, assistant professor of education in Brooklyn college, says:

"It seems to me so ridiculous to make girls in high school, and even in some colleges, wash the makeup from their faces when we know that as soon as they leave the school building on goes the makeup again in great, hideous smears."

All that the school has accomplished, according to our authority, is to convince the girls that the teacher and the school stand for things far removed from life.

"How much better it would be," argues Dr. O'Neil, "to take a saner point of view and teach the girl how to make herself attractive according to the standard of refinement of the world. And cultured and refined women do use makeup and permit their daughters to do likewise."

Dancing, too, is another art that this modern professor would have included in the school curriculum, as another preparation for the world outside. "Many people," says Dr. O'Neil, "might consider that instruction in social dancing, which is an integral part of the course in health education, is not essential. Yet I wonder if, in many cases, a young girl's ability to dance well has not been of greater value in securing for her a life of happiness than her ability to write well.

"If we think of education in terms of preparation for an 'abundant life,' then certainly dancing, which gives a girl poise and makes her attractive in the eyes of the males, must rank as a very important phase in our course of study."

Other People's Marriages Are Their Business

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A case comes to our attention of a relative of a married woman bringing all the pressure she can toward the separation of the married one from her husband.

A terrific responsibility to assume, we call it.

Would you urge a wife and mother to pick up and leave her man whose fault is drink, but who seems to have many redeeming features? Wouldn't you feel that you might be guilty of criminal meddling; that you had no moral right to come between the husband and wife?

The parties involved are a wife in her early thirties, her husband, and a cousin, a widow with a large house which she is willing to put at the disposal of the wife when, and if, she leaves her husband. Two small children are to be taken into account, too.

The widow, an older woman, and without children, with a large house on her hands and lonely hours, might very well misconstrue her zeal, for the favorite cousin's welfare, as a panacea for her own empty life. She admits a great fondness for the children involved and has the money to educate them well. But the husband, an amiable chap when sober, and one who turns over his salary to his wife every week, obviously has some hold on the wavering wife. One day she thinks she will take the children and leave. The next, she decides to stick it out. Meanwhile, heavy pressure is borne down by the widowed relative. She argues that the wife does not respect her husband and the children are getting to an age where they understand what father's drinking moments really are. "An atmosphere," the widow argues, "in which no child should be raised."

Well, a good many youngsters have been raised in that atmosphere and, while it is not one to be recommended, nevertheless they have attained manhood and womanhood pretty darned nobly. The experience, again one we would prefer to spare children, often terminates in character and habits which sustained them well through life.

The big question, however, is that of interfering in a marriage. We think it wrong to persuade a separation, no matter if one's sympathies are correct. That's the couple's own business, and no outsider's, relative or friend.

Frankfurters Lend Selves to Zestful Menus

Common Wiener Comes to Table Glamorously.

BY MARY MEADE.

Zest! That's something that all meals long for but which far and away too few meals get. It's sometimes the fault of sad textured foods, of weak and watery colors, of bird bath vegetables, of sorrowfully slack and monotonous service, but most often of all it's lack of snap and tang in the flavor of the foods themselves.

So, all these lamentable things being the case, I'm offering as one nippy solution to a lot of these dull flavor difficulties none other than the wee but mighty frankfurter! I know you've served it pan broiled, also oven broiled, also simmered to tenderness. But the point is, with what have you served it—and how? There are some flavors with which frankfurters are positively devastated, others they're not so keen about at all. So whooz ready for some tip-offs?

Your first pleasure comes over:

FRANKFURTER BIRDIES.

Split frankfurters with a sharp knife lengthwise three-quarters of the way through. Brush the inner surfaces with prepared mustard. They are now ready to be filled, about which you may be as original as you wish, always remembering that they're also to be eaten. Pickle relish is a snappy center. Cheese cut in long narrow slices is another. Dill or sweet pickle, sliced slimly, is a contender for medals. Or quarter a banana lengthwise and let one of these sections wedge down into the frankfurter slit. When filled wrap each Birdy round about with a strip of bacon, urging it to cover as much area as possible. Fasten each bacon jacket with a woodpin (not forgotten we've called a war on the ugly word "toothpick," have you?). Then place all together in a baking dish and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for ten minutes or until the bacon is broiled to suit and the frankfurter hot all through. Serve piping.

Then here's a bit o' warnin'. When preparing frankfurters cooked in water simmer but don't boil them. At that simmering heat, which is just below the bubbling stage, the average frankfurter will be done in 5 to 8 minutes. Boiling water excites them so that they often pop wide open, spraying quantities of their good flavor about in the to be wasted water.

Next, to snitch a phrase, "try also dis vunce!" It's none other than the grand German heart warmer:

SAUERKRAUT MIT FRANKFURTERS.

Turn a 2½ size can of sauerkraut into a sauce pan, cover, and simmer for twenty minutes. Add eight frankfurters and continue simmering eight minutes longer. Pile out the sauerkraut into a hot dish and surround gallantly with the frankfurters.

For this add 1½ cups of thin cream sauce to three cups of cooked macaroni and turn them into a baking dish. Dash with salt and pepper and top with grated cheese. Brown in the oven and serve with hot, simmered frankfurters.

And after having spent a dinner hour most seriously considering them we wish to put our seal of approval upon:

FLAVORFUL FRANKFURTERS

Begin these by simmering frankfurters until tender (five to eight minutes), then drain them and brush over their outside jackets a mixture made by blending butter, lemon juice, and dry mustard. Serve them at once upon a hot platter, balanced at the other end with a whole cooked head of cauliflower, drifted with hot seasoned cream sauce.

But, to be brief and busy, when the next ripe tomato turns up at your house halve it, sprinkle the cuts with buttered bread crumbs, and broil. Meanwhile slice frankfurters lengthwise in two and broil them. On the hot service plate the tomatoes come first, with the frankfurters on top. Trim it all with parsley.

Also one of the best things in life is a pan fried frankfurter all nicely browned and served up with slices of pineapple pan fried in the same fat.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

Mr. Sims is universally acclaimed the greatest living contract and auction player. He was captain of the renowned "Four Horsemen" team of four, now disbanded, and has won twenty-four national championships since 1924. These articles are based on the Sims system, which includes the one-over-one principle which the Sims group of players was the first to employ and develop.

P. HAL SIMS.

THIRD-HAND BIDS.

I HAVE told you that you need rebid values in your hand to open the bidding in first or second position. "Contrariwise," you may dispense with these rebid values when opening in third-hand position, for the following reasons:

[1] There is always a chance that your partner may have passed a strong borderline, or defensive hand.

[2] Your bid may "scare" the opponents out of game.

[3] If they do bid game, they will figure you for the balance of the outstanding strength and take all finesses into your partner's hand, with disappointing results.

[4] You may be able, thereby, to assure yourself of a favorable opening lead.

[5] There is little chance of your partner jumping you to an unmakable contract through giving you credit for a better hand than you actually hold.

[6] The fact that one opponent has already passed reduces the fear of a big hand being on your right.

Here I wish to give a word of warning to the extremists using my system. When I say you should not bid in first and second position unless you have a strong hand, I do not mean that you should pass "the deck." When I tell you to open light third hand, I am not advocating a bid on a king and two queens. Such a bid is a psychic—pure and simple. Psychics may have their place, but not as a part of the Sims system, so do not put forward as an alibi for psychic any plea that you are "protecting" your partner. You may "protect" him into a penalty of 2,000 points if you are not careful.

The following are some absolutely minimum hands, which should, however, be bid in third-hand position:

[1] The defensive hand. Two primary tricks, plus some secondary strength in the majors. Having no rebiddable suit, you must feel that whatever your partner's response, there is no dangerous misfit to be feared in a low contract.

Sp. J x x x	Di. A x x x
Hts. A J x	Cl. Q x

If your partner shows strength in either or both the majors, you may safely raise him to a game contract.

[2] The aggressive hand. One and a half primary and secondary tricks in combined form.

Sp. K Q J 10 x x	Di. x
Hts. x	Cl. Q J x x x

Give your partner the king of clubs and any ace. Results—four spades. If the opponents bid a game, you can certainly sacrifice without fear of being seriously hurt.

[3] The border-line hand. Two primary tricks, plus a rebiddable five-card suit and some secondary values.

Sp. x x x	Di. A J x x x
Hts. A x x	Cl. Q x

If your partner has some fit in your suit and a little outside strength, you have a play for three no-trump. He might very properly have passed the following:

Sp. K J x x	Di. K x x
Hts. K Q	Cl. J 10 x x

I can just imagine you sitting down, reading this exposition, and thinking, "O, that works out beautifully on paper. I can make up two hands that go together, too. But what of the times my partner has passed because he has a bust? What happens to my third-hand minimum then?" Well, if your partner has a blank hand and second hand has passed and you haven't got much, it follows that fourth hand must have a powerhouse. You won't need to worry about the bidding. It will be taken completely out of your hands at once.

In my system of responses, to be discussed later, I have also allowed for misfits, where the high-card strength is not sufficient to overcome that handicap. You can sign off the bidding at one no-trump or, if it is rebiddable, at two in your original suit. You can seldom be hurt badly in either contract. When doubled at that level, you will generally be saving a sure game.

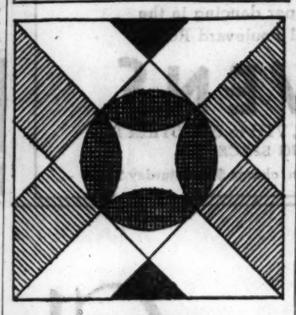
Delaware State Is Origin of Today's Attractive Quilt



DOVER QUILT

This unusual pieced quilt had its origin in the east—in Delaware, to be exact. The block is strikingly beautiful made in blue, fuschia, and a deep lavender. Bold colors such as these were a delight to our early quilters.

Nail Biting May Be Cured by Indirect Means

Child Should Have Rest and Healthy Diversions.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

I wonder if any one ever cured a child of the habit of biting his fingernails by expecting him merely to use his will power. I also wonder whether any one ever cured a child by putting bitter tasting stuff on his fingers. I've heard the latter recommended, but I've never heard of its succeeding.

If you are trying to help your child to overcome the nail biting habit, don't depend upon direct methods. Don't nag and remind and scold and shame him. The fact that this fixes a child's attention upon the habit and ina negative way predisposes you to failure.

Try then an indirect approach. First look for possible causes—they may be simple ones or may be more complex, such as emotional disturbances of some kind. Here are some briefly stated practical suggestions:

See that your child is well and has plenty of the right food and outdoor play. Also see that he has his full quota of sleep and a daytime nap or rest. These things make for nervous stability.

Try to find out if anything is disturbing him—at home or in school—and clear it up

Don't allow him to be the center of attention of many grownups. Instead, fill his life with childish interest and if possible with companions near his age.

He must have activity and the right playthings. Also give him every opportunity to use his or her hands—in sewing, plaiting, drawing, carpentry, clay modeling, and helping around the house. To do this a child must have the materials at hand.

Tomorrow we shall make some suggestions of a more direct sort.

Parisiennes to Don Pastel Blouses and Hats with Tailored Suits for Spring

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—If you have a simple tailored suit that you want to wear in spring, or if you're going to get yourself one, then you will be interested in the Paris fashion of the pastel blouse and hat to go with the tailored suit. Nothing else is quite as smart, and certainly nothing else is so pretty and becoming to the average woman.

You choose your pastel in consideration of your complexion and the color of your suit. Paris likes smoky turquoise blue, dusty pink, golden yellow, or soft light green best.

If you have a beige suit then by all means select pink as Augustabernard did to make the suit model shown here. The jacket and the skirt are made of light beige tweed and the shirtwaist, shown in the background, is of dusty pink wool jersey. This blouse has dropped shoulder seams above the shirtwaist sleeves and buttons up the front on four buttons, two near the neck and two near the waistline. An ascot scarf tie forms the collar and is worn outside the collarless tweed jacket, which also buttons only at top and bottom. The jacket sleeves have triangular pieces at the top to round the shoulder line.

Do you know

THAT if you could drive the family automobile over a highway which followed the path of Chicago's electric rates for the past twenty years, it would be downhill riding all the way?

Since 1913, COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY has made six rate reductions.

The cost of living, which has never been below the 1913 level in these twenty years, but which at times has been more than double the 1913 level, is again on the upturn. At its lowest, the cost of living was 28.3 per cent. more than in 1913, and now is 37.3 per cent. above 1913 levels.

Suggests Government Use Private Institutions for Care of Indigents

A suggestion that the government use private philanthropical institutions for the care of the indigent sick, aged, and children rather than set up new agencies was made yesterday by Karl Meister, president National Association of Methodist Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work. He addressed the association at the opening session of its two day annual convention in the Congress hotel.

Dr. Newton E. Davis of Columbus, O., secretary of the board of hospitals, homes, and deaconess work, said that total free and part paid service in the 251 Methodist institutions in this country under discussion amounted to approximately $2,200,000 in the fiscal year of 1933. Property values and endowments for the institutions he fixed at approximately $95,000,000.

Better Light—
Better Sight

Eyesight is your most precious possession. Guard your own eyes and the eyes of your family, and especially of your children. Be sure they have proper light—light that aids and does not injure sight. Let our expert advise you. Or, visit Electric Shops and see a demonstration of "right" and "wrong" lighting.

Make better use of Light as an aid to Sight

Be sure your home is adequately lighted in every reading or working location. The new reflector lamp is an outstanding achievement in good lighting.

BE kind to your eyes, because overtired eyesight can be the cause of many physical ailments—headache, dizziness, general run-down condition. Improper lighting methods invite eye-fatigue. So look to your lighting.

Often you pay for light you never use—due to incorrect or improperly placed lighting fixtures. Much light is wasted through uneven distribution. Good lighting can also be artistic lighting. There is no need for glare or deep shadows. Lighting is our business; let us advise you as to the best way to get the most for your money. Call RAN. 1200, Local 1219.

This lamp is designed for correct lighting

It combines sight-saving illumination and artistry. It is equally practical for general light, bridge, and utility purposes. BY FRENCH LANE.

It wasn't exactly "east side, west side" in Golden Gloves boxing last night, but nevertheless there was a Golden Glove atmosphere "all around the town."

The spirit of the greatest amateur ring carnival held anywhere in the world became rampant on the near south side shortly after 7 o'clock when 150 boys started their scramble to win places in the Tournament of Champions.

There was fighting in all weight divisions, and it was the kind of fighting which the fans who gathered in the Savoy Athletic club arena will long remember. A group of Chicago amateurs seldom display such skill.

Knockout in Four Seconds.

One of the quickest knockouts in Golden Gloves history came when Willis Green, a Negro lad representing the Catholic Youth organization, delivered a mighty punch exactly four seconds after he squared away against Joe Zunich of the Ardale Ramblers Athletic club.

Green sauntered out from his corner and took one aim with his right. It was one of those shots which hit the bull's eye right in the middle. Down and out went Zunich. The powerful punch sent a crowd which had been in a frenzy most of the night up to the boiling point of enthusiasm. Out of 38 bouts, nearly 70 per cent of the beaten glove swingers were mowed down by knockout punches.

But even so, it was a picnic compared to the fire the big guns the Fascist heimwehr was spouting out over in Vienna.

More Savoy Bouts Tonight.

The near south side tournament will continue at the Savoy arena at 4733 South Parkway tonight and tomorrow night.

The Savoy arena is located in a section of Chicago that has a large Negro population. About half the combatants on last night's program were Negro lads and the others white boys who hail from the various athletic centers in the territory extending from the loop south to 50th street and west from the lake front to the river. Many nationalities were represented.

About half the spectators were Negroes. The rivalry was keen and spirited from the time the opening bell tapped until the last bout ended.

Promises to Be Best Meet.

There is a limited seating capacity of 2,100 in the arena, but if the first night activities mean anything this new sectional meet promises to develop into one of the most remarkable ever held in Chicago.

Bill Reed from the Savoy Athletic club and Albert Coleman, unattached, came together in the first battle. These welterweights staged a slambang battle for two rounds. In the third round Reed had Coleman down twice for the count of nine and a third terrific punch to Coleman's chin won him the verdict on a technical knockout.

There was a second knockout two minutes later when Jacob Lampkins from the Catholic Youth organization stopped Albert Piersall in the first round. A right to Piersall's chin did the business. This was another welterweight scrap.

Take Turns on Canvas.

Few championship bouts have offered greater thrills than the one which brought Joe Costello from the Catholic Youth organization into battle against James Lundy, a lightning fast Negro boy, in the welterweight class. Lundy had Costello down twice for long counts in the first two rounds. Costello floored Lundy three times in the third session and won the decision.

Roy Williams, a Negro welterweight from the Nichols Athletic club, was the idol of the south side first nighters. He came through to two sensational victories. In his first encounter he faced Louie Esposito of the Catholic Youth organization. This was

HOLDEN LEADS WEST SIDERS TO STADIUM BOUTS

Sixteen amateur boxers in the open division and eight in the novice class qualified in the west section of the Golden Gloves tournament at the 132d Regiment armory last night for the Tournament of Champions at the Stadium Feb. 26, 27, and 28.

These 24 boys, who will vie with champions from three other Chicago sections and out of town centers in the Tournament of Champions, are the survivors of an original entry of 400 on the west side.

George Holden of the Kane County Athletic club qualified in the welterweight open division by stopping Morrie Biner, Deborah Boys' club, in the third round. Holden, who was on the 1931 and 1932 intercity Golden Gloves teams, rallied in the second round after a slow start.

Holden Opens Up.

Holden displayed good ring generalship in winning. He hurt his opponent with a series of left hooks to the head in the second round and then shot over a right to the jaw that dropped Biner just before the bell. Biner was unable to come out for the third, and Referee Tommy Thomas awarded the match to Holden on a technical knockout.

Earl Roberts of the Catholic Youth Organization is another outstanding contender for a diamond studded Golden Glove and other rewards that go to an open class title holder. He eliminated Peter Mislag, Rolewicz Athletic club, by a knockout in the second round.

Novice Champs Impressive.

The nineteenth of the thirty-five fights last night was won by Lorenzo Lovings of the C. Y. O. Lovings, a Negro, who had extended Leo Rodak and Jimmy Christy in amateur bouts, defeated Franklin Norwood, unattached, in the open lightweight division.

Lyndon Sandford of the Belle Plaine Athletic club made an impressive showing in whipping Frank De Michael, C. Y. O., in a featherweight contest. Barney Peterson, a welterweight from Trafton's gymnasium, and Daniel Villarreal, C. Y. O. lightweight, displayed the most skill throughout the west side trials. Peterson and Villarreal are among the favorites to make the trip to New York with the Chicago Intercity squad next month, an additional reward to the eight novice finalists in the Stadium bouts.

Peterson scored a one round knockout over Frank Weernink, Northwest gymnasium, and Villarreal outpointed Augie Vollmer, German-American Athletic club, in three rounds.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

OSTRICH RACE.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Feb. 14.—Friend Arch: Well, Arch, did you ever see an ostrich race? We all attended one at the Biscayne Kennel club track, but still I haven't seen one. These three ostriches were like Calvin Coolidge and the horses I sometimes bet on. They didn't choose to run.

The ostriches served the purpose, however, of attracting about 5,000 persons to the track. The crowd surprised even the management, which ran out of box seats and programs early in the evening. I heard one of the officials remark to another, "Why, it looks like old times."

You see, Arch, I hadn't expected to go to the dog track until I heard from Miss Stone with my pay check, but when I saw in the paper that admission was only 20 cents we thought we could afford it. As a matter of fact, it was a "free gate," for when I went to buy tickets the man at the window said, "This is a complimentary night. All you buy are tax tickets." These tickets are 10 cents each and the money goes to the state. He didn't do this because I work for you because he didn't know me and every one fared the same. You see, the track makes its money on the mutuel take of the dog races, which by law may be as high as 15 per cent.

Naturally, with the ostrich race the crowd magnet, it was held after the ten dog races so patrons would stay. There were three of these birds, named Mae West, Sally Rand, and Clark Gable. Mae came on the track looking as much as if to say, "Come up and see me some time." Sally had a fine array of ostrich feathers, but had to be pushed along. Clark, with a hood over his head, was backed down the track, causing the loud speaker announcer to say, "See, he doesn't care where he's going. He just wants to know where he's been." That caused a big laugh from the crowd and really wasn't a bad crack, was it?

Perhaps the whole thing had been rehearsed like some wrestling matches, but anyway the ostriches were bad actors at the post and wouldn't break. Finally Mae West started off alone, but about midway of the stretch Mae turned suddenly and started back, throwing her rider on to the clay.

O, I forgot to tell you each ostrich had a girl rider decked in jocky silks. Mae's rider was game, however, chased her ostrich and took it back to the start only to have the same thing happen again, with a pretty stiff spill. By this time Sally Rand was ready to spread her plumes and started down the track, dumping her rider before the judges. Clark Gable again went into reverse before they could

Reiselt Knocks Hoppe from Unbeaten Ranks in Cue Meet

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Willie Hoppe, former balk line king, dropped out of the undefeated group in the world three cushions billiard tournament tonight as he lost to Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, 50 to 44. The defeat was Hoppe's first in five games and left the youthful J. N. Bozeman Jr. of Vallejo, Cal., in sole possession of first place with five straight victories.

The 60 inning battle kept the capacity crowd on edge from the time Reiselt led off with a run of two in the first inning until he completed the game with an unfinished cluster of three. The Philadelphia veteran, who has yet to be beaten by Hoppe in championship competition, played a conservative game, a style that kept Hoppe at bay.

Reiselt's best run was a five in the 27th and again in the 28th inning, but when he was not making points in smaller groups he was tying up Hoppe so tight that the latter was unable to get away on a long run.

Three Tied for Second.

The defeat dropped Hoppe into a three-way tie for second place with the defending champion, Welker Cochran, and Johnny Layton.

Layton remained in the thick of the battle for the title he has held ten times by whipping Tiff Denton, Kansas City veteran, 50 to 18, in 49 innings. There was little to the game except the Missouri red head's ability to collect points almost whenever he desired. He had two high runs of six each, and never trailed after he scored the first cluster in the eighth inning.

Kinrey Matsuyama, New York, turned back Allen Hall, Chicago, 50 to 35. It was Hall's second defeat in seven matches. The Japanese player ran out in 50 innings.

Matsuyama held the lead for the greater part of the match in winning his fourth game in seven starts, but was unable to widen the gap until the 43d inning, when he ran three billiards for a 39 to 34 advantage. Matsuyama turned in his best shots in the last five innings, running 11 points to finish the contest.

Thurnblad Wins Again.

Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago won his fourth straight match as he defeated Len Kenney, also of Chicago, 50 to 43, in sixty-one innings. Thurnblad lost his first three matches in the tournament. It was Kenney's eighth successive defeat.

Thurnblad, who had a high run of six in the eighteenth inning, went into a 32 to 15 lead at the end of the fifteenth inning, increasing his margin to 44 to 25 before Kenney got started in the fifty-third inning. Kenney played his best billiards of the tournament as he opened the match with a high run of 9. He scored eighteen times in the last nine innings.

The balls, however, again responded to Thurnblad's cue, and after running his total to 49 with a cluster of two in the fifty-eighth he went on to win the match in the sixty-first. Standing:

Jimmy Had a Nickel!

But he didn't have it long. No sir, Jimmy is a real boxing fan, and when he read that he could put that nickel with some other nickels and see the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions at Chicago Stadium he didn't hesitate.

He went down to the Tribune Public Service office, 1 S. Dearborn street (or maybe he went to Tribune Tower) and bought ringside tickets for Feb. 26, 27, and 28. It didn't take so many nickels—only $1.10 a copy. And Jimmy could have bought tickets for 66 cents, or even 40 cents, and still had reserved seats.

Jimmy's girl likes to see Golden Gloves (boxing's biggest show), too So Jimmy got seats for the finale at the Stadium March 9, and had his choice of paying $3.30, $2.20, $1.65, $1.10, or 55 cents.

What's that—you live out of town? Just mail your order to Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago. Make checks payable to The Chicago Tribune.

BEARS PILE UP 55 TO 0 SCORE ON ARIZONA STARS

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The Chicago Bears football team tonight routed the Arizona All-Stars, 55 to 0, before 4,000.

The National pro champions handled the situation to their own liking from the opening whistle, scoring thrice in the first period and leading 35 to 0 at half time. Conrad Flippen, former Arizona prep star, and Norris Steverson, former collegiate star, registered several short gains in the first half for the All-Stars.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

FROSTY PETERS recently came back to Champaign to visit his old pals of the city fire department. He had not been in the station half an hour when the alarm rang and Frosty jumped into his fireman togs and was riding to the blaze. For several years he has been coach and player on a Memphis professional football team. . . . Ed Spoerer, who has replaced Red Kopecky as forward on Northwestern's basketball team, spent two years as a substitute, seldom getting into a game until the last few seconds. Once when Coach Lonborg ordered him onto the floor he remarked to a teammate: "I always get in just in time to get shot in the back by the gun." . . . The time he was incapacitated was chalked against the Cubs' right to farm him out and though he pitched 31 victories for the Wrigley owned Los Angeles club last season the Cubs had to sit back and watch another team draft him. . . . MERLE NELSON IS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH AT RACES

Burns to Death as Heat Prevents Rescue.

Capt. Nelson was 43 years old. The accident occurred on the night of the opening day of the race carnival at the new Shushan airport within five minutes after the aviator had taken to the air in his tiny plane to give his comet illumination spectacle.

The ship had just gone through a loop at an altitude of about 600 feet and the pilot was attempting to right it when it nosed dived to the ground and burst into flames.

Heat Prevents Rescue.

The heat was so intense that attaches who rushed to the scene were unable to extricate him. His body was burned beyond recognition.

Several hundred persons in the grand stand witnessed the tragedy.

A new world's record for light planes was set in the afternoon before several thousand persons as S. J. Wittman, of Oshkosh, Wis., drove his little single seater red racer Joy Special 100 kilometers, or 62.137 miles in 27 minutes and 6.7 seconds to set the record for planes of the fourth class type weighing less than 400 pounds.

His speed was 137.513 miles per hour, or 221.307 kilometers per hour. The previous world record for this type plane was 101.24 miles per hour, set by Clarence C. Presp, San Bernardino, Cal., May 28, 1930.

Jack Monahan, a jumper, was injured in the first event of the day, a parachute spot jump. Seemingly headed for a ducking in Lake Pontchartrain, Monahan pulled the shrouds of his parachute from about 35 feet and struck the edge of the seawall, dislocating one shoulder. Physicians said he would be on the injured list for ten days.

Illinois Flyers One, Two.

The qualifying race for the Shell sweepstakes trophy was won by Harold Neuman, of Moline, Ill., piloting a Howard plane at a speed of 221 miles an hour. The race was a 25 mile event over a five mile course. Art chester, Joliet, Ill., flying a Chester Special, was second; Ralph Bushey, Los Angeles, third, and Wittman, fourth.

Covering 25 miles in 5 minutes 50.56 seconds at a speed of 205.39 miles per hour, Chester won the first race of the day for planes with an engine displacement of 375 cubic inches. Lee Miles, Los Angeles, was second with speed of 197.15 miles per hour; Bushey, third, with 191.93; Wittman, fourth; Neuman, fifth and Roger Donnae of Milan, Wis., was last.

The spot parachute jump was won by Jerry Wessling of Toledo, O. He landed 687 feet from the large spot marked in the center of the airport. The jumpers missed their mark by many hundreds of feet. They found that in the upper air the wind was blowing in one direction and farther down it was the reverse.

In a delayed parachute jump Clem Sohm of Los Angeles jumped from an airplane at 10,000 feet or more and dove earthward with parachute closed until he was about 2,000 feet above the ground. Sohm landed safely.

[OTHER HOCKY NEWS ON PAGE 19.]

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs overwhelmed the National Hocky league's all star team, 7 to 3, tonight before a crowd of 14,074 which paid $20,909 into a fund for the injured Irvin [Ace] Bailey, Leaf right wing.

Hocky hit a new high as a spectacle when the greatest players in the game, assembled for the first time for a single contest, blazed speed, passing, and terrific shooting into a battle that was thrilling only because of the famous performers.

All Stars Disorganized.

The all star team was a disorganized unit from the first and the Leafs, leaders of the Canadian section of the National Hocky league and league champions last season, jumped ahead in the first period and scored three goals without a reply in the third period after being outplayed in the second session.

But for a show it was unprecedented. Bailey himself faced off the puck for the start and took part in a lengthy and colorful preliminary ceremony. It was the first public appearance of the Ace, whose injuries received in a game at Boston in December nearly cost him his life and undoubtedly will keep him out of hocky.

Cheer Bailey and Shore.

Thunderous applause greeted Bailey, and when Eddie Shore, Boston Bruin defense man who accidentally charged the Ace to the ice in the Boston game, shook hands with the former Toronto star, the crowd shook the rafters with noise. Every move made by Shore—once the favorite "bad man" when he played here—was cheered during the game.

Harvey Jackson, brilliant Toronto left wing, led the Leafs to their triumph with two goals and an assist. Whether it was a defense combination of Lionel Conacher and Shore, or Shore and Ching Johnson, or Allan Shields and Red Dutton, that faced him the black haired Jackson ripped through for shots on acrobatic Chuck Gardiner, Chicago Blackhawk star, who kicked, threw, and batted out 45 shots during a great exhibition.

Blair Also Shines.

Lanky Andy Blair also picked his spots, scoring near the end of the third period, when Manager Frank Patrick decided to do something about a two goal deficit under which his assortment of stars was laboring. He passed for another goal to Ken Doraty during this period, when the all-stars had five forwards and no defense men on the ice.

The crowd saw everything it came to see. Howie Morenz, the old thunderbolt of the Montreal Canadiens, scored the most spectacular goal of the game in the second period, with the assistance of Aurel Joliat, his partner over a stretch of eleven years. This was a perfect play, that brought the multitude to its feet.

Joliat Passes to Howie.

Joliat passed the puck to Howie as the later skated at top speed past center. Faster than he has skated here in any game this season, Morenz bolted around a stock still Red Horner before the redheaded defense man could make a move and lashed a terrific shot over Hainsworth's shoulder into the upper corner of the net.

Women's A. A. U. Hurdling Champ Suffers Broken Leg

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Simone Schaller of El Monte, Cal., national A. A. U. women's hurdling champion, suffered a broken leg in a girl's basketball game last night, and the injury probably will end her track career, surgeons say.

Midget Wolgast Defeats Lou Salica in Ten Rounds

DUNDEE, JEBY END TRAINING; BOTH READY TO FIGHT

The champion traveled four fast rounds, two each with Johnny Phagan and Young Joe Walker, and after the drill he was satisfied that he's in perfect condition. Phagan landed several rights to Dundee's head, but these were offset by the titleholder's barrage of jabs and left hooks to the face, which put Johnny on the defensive.

Jeby slugged Johnny Liston for three rounds and then called it a day. The New Yorker was aggressive and continually punched to the head and body throughout the drill. At times his boxing appeared inferior to that of Dundee, causing the champion's followers to rejoice in anticipation of a triumph. However, Charley Forger, co-trainer with Joe Levy of Jeby, said that Benny looked better than when he held Vince to a 15 round draw at New York last March.

The scheduled eight round match between Henry Rothier and Johnny Terry, welterweights, will be replaced by another windup at the Rainbo Fronton tomorrow. Johnny Coulon is seeking an opponent for Laddie Tonelli as a substitute match. He probably will be Chuck Reed, southpaw. Other contests:

Jack Kranz vs. Jack Robinson [4].
Ace Kristoff vs. Les Schultz [4].
Curtis Mills vs. Tom Habel [4].

Three encounters have been arranged to support the eight round main event between Mickey Joy and Gene Higgins at Marigold Gardens Monday. Don Messina is matched with George Engel at five rounds. Four round contests bring together Joey Bozak and Mike Primitch and Jack Kranz and Vince Kowal. Jackie Ausborn and Mickey O'Shea are paired tentatively for five rounds.

Jim Browning vs. Joe Stecher.
Abe Coleman vs. Everett Marshall.
Ray Steele vs. Hans Kampfer.
George Zaharias vs. Willie Davis.
Karl Davis vs. Pat O'Shocker.

Joe Dispensio and Jim Dicianno.
Solly Fariso and Frank de Michaels.
Russell Sarnella and Frank Mata.
Tony Catalino and Jim Terricomo.
Al Oddo and Jim Caputo.
Lou Esposito and Roland Ignatio.
John Notto and John Settipane.

BOSTON TERRIER SHOW WILL BE HELD HERE FEB. 25

Exhibit to Draw More than 100 Dogs.

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicagoland will pay honor to the Boston terrier Sunday, Feb. 25, when the specialty show of the Western Boston Terrier club will be held in the Sherman hotel. More than 100 blue blooded Boston terriers [sometimes called Boston bulls] will be on exhibition at this bench show. The club has obtained Edward Boehm of New York City to judge the dogs.

The organization behind this show is one of the most active of its kind in the country and always receives a great number of entries for its specialty events. Approximately 146 Bostons were benched at the 1933 show which attracted visitors from many points in the middle west. In view of the popularity of this good looking and companionable breed of dog it is not surprising that a show in Chicago brings more than 100 entries. The Boston terrier has a host of followers. Short haired, an ideal home dog, loyal to his master, very intelligent, the Boston terrier has made a definite place for himself in American dogdom.

Opens Dog Show Season.

The coming bench show for Boston terriers opens Chicago's 1934 participation in dog shows. Next month the Chicago Kennel club will hold its annual show in this city. This is an all breed event which draws entries from all over the United States.

Alex H. Stewart, president of the Chicago Kennel club, informed us yesterday that the 1934 show will be held March 30, 31, and April 1 in the Fourth Regiment armory, 16th street and Michigan boulevard. Mr. Stewart and his associates have obtained Walter H. Reeves of Canada to judge the Scottish terriers at the show this year. He writes:

Gifford to Judge Spaniels.

"The Scotties this year will be called by a judge of international reputation, Walter H. Reeves of Belleville, Ont. He formerly was a resident of London, England. Recently he has been judging all the big shows in Canada as well as those in America from coast to coast.

"The cocker and springer spaniels will be judged by Dr. A. C. Gifford of Oshkosh, Wis., a man of exceptional ability. He is sure to draw a large entry, as he enjoys the confidence of the sporting spaniel fanciers."

Dr. Gifford is well known to springer and cocker enthusiasts in the central states. He has trained and entered cockers and springers in eastern field trials. Two years ago he was in Chicagoland to help judge the first springer spaniel trial held in the Fox river valley. With both the springers and the cockers numerous in the Mississippi valley Dr. Gifford should have many dogs to judge at the coming show.

get any action from him, and that's the way he went off the track along with the others when it became apparent they could not be sent away together from the supposed barrier.

It all sounds sort of silly, doesn't it? It was, but that's what people are here for—to be amused. On that basis it was a good show. By the way, there's to be a Horned Toad Derby here soon, and I'll attend that for you, too. Perhaps I can get an interview with the winning horned toad, although he might be full of hop.

Jane Rodgers was with us at the track. She's been visiting the younger Wakes. You may know her dad. If you don't you ought to, because he mixes about the best Christmas eggnogs in Evanston. Ken, her father, plays golf, the ponies at Arlington, and contract, but I think he's best at bridge because he doesn't play with me any more.

You know I play the common or garden variety of bridge and don't know much about slam bidding. Well, one night at home I was Ken's partner and he bid 1 diamond and I said 2 diamonds and he said 3 spades. Now, I know a jump bid when I see one, so I said 4 hearts, having a flock of them and that being game. What does he do but bid 5 clubs. So I thought, well, if he wants to play clubs after he's had a chance at the other suits, that's all right, because it's game anyway, so I passed. I had only a doubleton, but my other suits were good.

Well, as it turned out we had a marvelous hand in everything except clubs, for he had only the ace-king and our opponents had

OTTAWA BATTLES HAWKS TONIGHT ON STADIUM ICE

Canadian Sextet Makes Last Visit Here.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The chameleon like Ottawa Senators, who are wont to lose four and five games straight to comparatively weaker teams, and then turn on as many more formidable opponents, will invade the Stadium ice tonight for their last Chicago appearance of the season against the Blackhawks. The Senators' tendency to turn the tables was evinced as recently as Tuesday night, when, after having lost seven games, they defeated the New York Americans, who had just handed the world's champion Rangers a whipping.

The Blackhawks are well aware of Ottawa's fickleness. In five previous engagements this season the Senators held them to a pair of 2 to 2 ties and lost the other three by scores of 2-1, 2-1, and 2-0. In view of the fact that the Rangers and Detroit gained another two points on them Tuesday night in the American division struggle for first place, the Hawks have every intention of putting the Senators back in their place tonight.

Hawks Have Field Day.

The Chicagoans went through a different type of practice yesterday, the afternoon resolving itself in a stunting exhibition, in which proficiency in several departments was rewarded with prizes donated by Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the club.

Johnny Gottselig won the faceoff prize, stealing the puck from every member of the team in the center ice duel.

The crowd of 3,000 railbirds came out to watch the Hawks' first stunt day and some plain and fancy speed skating, two contests of which resulted in ties. In the puck carrying race through obstacles the length of the rink, Donnie McFadyen and Paul Thompson each traversed the distance in 15¾ seconds on two occasions. They shared the prize. Leroy Goldsworthy and Mush March ran a dead heat in the race for toting the puck around the rink twice, negotiating it in 29 seconds. When they were matched again, they repeated the performance in the same time. Thompson took the prize for target shooting.

Team Perks Up.

The Senators' appearance tonight will be the last opportunity for Hawk fans to see a team which is expected to go places within the next two seasons. At the start of the present campaign, George Boucher, an old Blackhawk himself, was confronted with the problem of building an almost new team. Boucher has succeeded in putting together a club which has proven itself increasingly pesty, as in the case of the Americans Tuesday night.

Four of the amateurs secured from the Niagara Falls team have made good. First of these was Scotty Bowman, a defense man who Owner Adams of the Boston Bruins attempted to buy when Eddie Shore was suspended. Then came Max Kaminsky and Jerry Shannon, two forwards who are crowding Earl Roche, the Senators' scoring star, for the point leadership. Still another new defense man is Walter Kalbfleish, who, like Goldsworthy of the Hawks, is also an able baseball player.

Thornton High school of Harvey, its record winning streak snapped by Flora, Ill., meets Morgan Park tomorrow night at Harvey. The Thornton lightweight and heavyweight quintets scored a double victory over University High last Tuesday. The teams will play their third games of the week Saturday night against Calumet City.

A new system has been adopted by the Chicago Public High School league athletic board of control. The four semi-finalists in the heavyweight race will be eligible to compete in sectional play for the Illinois state basketball championship. Previously, the winner of the league title and the runner-up were named to represent Chicago in the state title competion.

Baseball practice has started at Morton in Cicero. Six veterans, who were members of the Berwyn post team of the American Legion, which lost to the National Tea squad in the Cook county final, reported to Coach P. R. Pavlinek. They are Walter Richter and Meyers Schuckman, pitchers; Monte Merkle, catcher; Fred Hajeck and John Seveck, infielders, and Fred Herbst, outfielder.

For the first time in the history of the meet a consolation round will be played in the National Catholic High school basketball championship tournament, which will be held at Loyola university gymnasium March 21 to 25. The consolation games will be played at both Loyola and St. Ignatius gymnasiums. The title will be decided on the same night as the championship final.

Lindblom's junior and senior swimming teams defeated Farragut at the Lindblom pool yesterday. The seniors won, 28 to 12, and the juniors, 33 to 17. In another meet at Bartlett pool, University High won from Tilden Tech, 44 to 31.

The Crane Tech junior track team defeated Tuley at the latter's gymnasium, 49 to 22, yesterday. Fleisher and Barille starred for Crane Tech, each scoring 11¼ points.

The back field aspirants will be coached by Lieut. William H. [Bill] Wood. Lieut. Wood will be aided by Lieut. Russell P. [Red] Reeder. Lieut. Edward J. Doyle was appointed end coach.

HOLD WOMEN'S WESTERN OPEN GOLF OCT. 8-13

The open championship of the Women's Western Golf association will be held at the Portland, Ore., Golf club the week of Oct. 8-13. This action became known yesterday on receipt of a telegram from W. J. Lyons, president of the club, which had been awarded the event originally, although no date had been set. June Beebe of Olympia Fields is the defending champion.

The proximity of the dates and sites of the open and the association's championship proper, which is to be held at the Los Angeles Country club the week of Oct. 22-27, will enable Chicago participants plenty of Pacific coast golf since San Francisco also plans a two day tournament for the benefit of the visitors, and Miss Marion Hollins, one time national champion, will be host to the party at her Santa Cruz course.

DUNDEE FINED BY U. S.; MUST PAY $65,317 TAX

Boston, Mass., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Johnny Dundee, former world's featherweight boxing champion, must pay the federal government income tax deficiency of $65,317, plus a 50 per cent penalty on his income for 1920 to 1925, the United States board of tax appeals decided today. His real name is Joseph Carroro.

The decision showed that he owed a deficiency of $10,367 in 1920, $13,445 in 1921, and $19,003 in 1922, and that on the joint income with his wife the government claimed deficiencies of $13,089 for 1923, $5,610 for 1924, and $3,800 for 1925.

IMPORTED DOG NAMED QUEEN OF NEW YORK SHOW

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A female, Flornell Spicy Bit of Halleston, wire haired fox terrior entered by the Halleston Kennels of Chappaqua, N. Y., was adjudged the best dog in the annual Westminster Kennell club show tonight. The new queen of dogdom was imported from England last year by Stanley Halle and was handled in the ring by Percy Roberts.

Snow Flake, a male old English sheepdog, was runner-up and lost the crown of the dog world because, the judge said, "he had a little too much wobble in his walk."

Five Yankee Players Sign; It's Record Day

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Business Manager Edward G. Barrow of the New York Yankees announced today that he had received the signed contracts of five players, which constitutes a Yankee record for the winter season. Sammy Byrd, who undoubtedly will see more outfield service this year than last because of the ageing legs of Babe Ruth, was most important of the signees. The other four all are pitchers—Johnny Broaca and James Deshong, right-handers, and Marvin Duke and Vito Tamulis, southpaws.

SONNENBERG AND SMITH WRESTLE TOMORROW NIGHT

Jack Smith is staking his future as a big time wrestler in Chicago tomorrow night when he gets another chance at Gus Sonnenberg, former world's champion, at the Arcadia Gardens in a two out of three fall match. Smith believes he can win over this route and plans a more aggressive attack against Sonnenberg, since one fall will not determine the match.

Smith had won 18 matches without a defeat until he tackled Sonnenberg a month ago.

Golden Gloves Battle Starts on South Side

It was slap, bang, punch for punch all the way through until the final minute. Then Williams rallied just enough to catch the eyes of the judges.

Williams Stops Second Foe.

Williams came back an hour later in a second round fight and scored a technical knockout over John Groft in the third round. Groft wasn't able to come up for the third session. Admirers of Williams think he is a sure title winner.

The boys from the near south side are in earnest about winning Golden Gloves. Their followers cheered with so much vocal strength they could be heard for blocks around the arena.

WARM WEATHER HUSTLES PURPLE NINE OUTDOORS

Balmy weather greeted the opening of baseball practice at Northwestern university yesterday and enabled the players to work outside on the field north of Patten gymnasium.

Most of the drill was devoted to the batterymen who will work out daily under the direction of Coach Paul Stewart. When the weather does not permit out door practice, pitchers and catchers will practice in the batting cages in the gymnasium.

Prospects for a strong team have been heightened by the return of Jakie Sullivan, who was ineligible last year. Sullivan, who played half back on the football team, is regarded as one of the best outfielders in the Big Ten. As a sophomore he hit near .400 for the conference season.

The pitching staff will be headed by Herb Harris, star left hander for the last two years. He hails from Whiting, Ind., and has been pitching winning ball for Northwestern since his sophomore year.

Roy Auguston, quarter back in the football, will play short stop. He and Harris have been elected co-captains.

Whata Haircut! Vines Gets Good Trimming Anyway

Peter Vines, one of the contestants in the near south side Golden Gloves meet last night, was troubled with long hair that obstructed his vision. He requested Izzy Klein, who was seconding him, to cut it short so he could see the many punches his opponent, John Groft, threw at him. However, the haircut didn't help, for Peter lost.

The two boys, who qualified for the Tournament of Champions in the 112 pound open division of the near south side meet, boast an imposing array of titles. Jesse Robinson holds the Indiana-Kentucky A. A. U. title and also the Century of Progress championship in the flyweight class. In addition, he was voted the most popular boxer to appear at the World's Fair. His coqualifier, Frankie Sanello, was the 1932 Central A. A. U. 112 pound titleholder. Robinson received his early boxing training at the Culver Military academy.

Only one boy qualified from the near south side section in the 118 pound open division. His name is Sam Guidara, and he holds the Midwest Italian championship in his division. Sammy has made several tries for a Golden Gloves crown.

While the boys were waiting in the dressing-rooms to appear in the ring, one fighter made the others appear like midgets. Although he weighs only 182 pounds, Charles Thompson, a Negro boxer, stands 6 feet 5.

No matter how far he goes in the tournament, Charles Hall, 1245 South Union street, will still be the sartorial champion of the near south sectional trials. Charlie wore a new bathrobe, blue in color with gold piping. His shoes, also new, were of a bright yellow. Charlie didn't miss any opportunities to strut his ensemble before the boys around the dressing-rooms.

MAREK TO ENTER GOLDEN GLOVES AS HEAVYWEIGHT

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Max Marek, International Golden Gloves 175 pound champion last year, will fight in the heavyweight division this year, he announced today.

In Best of Shape.

"I am in the best of condition now from the last football season and the light training I have kept up all winter," Marek said. "To train down to 175 pounds would undoubtedly weaken me, so I'll take my chances against the big boys in the 1934 tournament."

Marek will enter the Tournament of Champions at the Chicago Stadium Feb. 26, 27, and 28, along with six other of the best fighters on the Notre Dame campus. All are entering unattached.

Marek Shifts Squad.

Marek, who is handling the details of training the Notre Dame men, announced two changes in his squad today. Frank Schiavone, rugged Buffalo, N. Y., sophomore, will fight in the 147 pound division. Jack Conlon, freshman from Buffalo, will replace Marek in the 175 pound division. Conlon was runner-up in the 1933 Buffalo Golden Gloves tournament in the middleweight division, but he, too, has taken on eight at Notre Dame.

Schiavone was runner up for the Notre Dame middleweight championship last year. He lost the final bout on a decision to Bart McKernan of Chicago. McKernan will fight in the middleweight division in the Tournament of Champions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 14.—The listed bond market developed further strength today, with all classifications of obligations participating in the moderate advance. The trading pace quickened on the advance, and the turnover for the day amounted to $16,473,000, compared with $13,529,000 the day before. The increase in volume was largely due to the heavier dealings in domestic corporation bonds.

United States government bonds advanced 1-32d to 16-32ds of a point with the exception of the uncalled and called fourth Liberty 4¼s, which were down 1-32d of a point and unchanged, respectively. Short term treasury issues dealt in over the counter were steady on the news of the closing of the subscription books on the new 22 month 2½s and 3 year 3s.

Rails Make Best Showing.

The major gains in domestic corporation bonds amounted to a point or two, with the rails showing slightly better average gains than the industrials and utilities. Continued strength in amusement issues was a feature of the industrial group.

In the foreign group bonds of the Austrian section of the list closed lower. The government 7s due 1943 were down a point and the 7s due 1957 ⅝ of a point. City of Vienna 6s were marked down 1¾ points. French government and municipal loans were up fractionally to 3 points, while United Kingdom and Dutch East Indies loans were irregular.

German Bonds Are Higher.

German bonds were irregularly higher on the news that the 50 per cent in scrip and 50 per cent in cash distribution is now ready, covering the period of the final six months of last year. The Latin American group generally showed minor price changes on the day.

On the curb exchange domestic bonds manifested a fair degree of strength in active trading. Foreign loans were irregularly higher.

Hayes Body.

Investors' Guide: I shall appreciate any information you may give me pertaining to Hayes Body corporation.—K. C. D.

Answer: Prior to 1929 this manufacturer of automobile bodies, stampings and accessories operated consistently at moderate profits. The loss of the Chrysler account in 1929, however, eliminated its most important customer at a time when the demand for automobiles began to contract. Sales, consequently, have shrunk to a fraction of their former figures and the company has consistently reported deficits.

Its customers now include Continental Motors (manufacturer of the Beacon), American Austin (in trusteeship), Reo, and Marmon.

Sales in each of the first three quarters of 1933 were well above those in the corresponding 1932 periods and gross revenues for the first nine months aggregated $1,011,000, against $557,000 for the first nine months of 1932. Loss, however, was $273,000, against loss of $270,000.

	Sales.	Net loss com. shr
1932	$ 723,000	$294,000 $0.93
1931	1,961,000	880,000 2.77
1930	7,458,000	852,000 2.60
1929	24,388,000	245,000 .77

Losses during these four years have eaten into current position. On March 31, 1933, current assets, including cash of only $17,000, were $330,000 and current liabilities were $338,000. Profit and loss deficit was $2,204,000. The company has granted options on 18,000 shares of capital stock, ranging in price from $2 to $6 a share.

Capitalization is represented by 317,248 no par shares on which nothing has been paid since the 2 per cent stock dividend of Oct. 1, 1929. The stock is purely speculative.

Defaulted Bonds

Investors' Guide: I own several bonds of railroads in bankruptcy. The interest on them is in default. I would like to know if, on selling the bonds, the purchaser would pay me the accumulated interest. Is there any accumulated interest?—N. R.

Answer: Bonds in default are traded in "flat"; that is, without provision for accumulated interest. The purchaser would not, therefore, be obligated to you for the amount of accrued interest. The interest on the bond accrues while the bonds are in default.

STEEL ACTIVITY RISES 3 POINTS TO 41 PER CENT

Auto and Tin Plate Demand Gains.

Large automotive tonnages released as the production of motor vehicles approached the level of 1930, plus heavy specifications for tin plate from container manufacturers, drove up steel works operations 3 points to 41 per cent of capacity last week, reports Iron Age. Production of sheets and strip throughout the country has increased to 55 per cent, tin plate to 60.

Output of ingots rose 2 points at Chicago and Philadelphia to 38 to 26 per cent respectively, 5 points at Pittsburgh, Cleveland, and Buffalo to 25, 63, and 43 per cent, respectively; 3 points in the valleys to 45 per cent, and 15 in the Wheeling district to 75. It was only in the southern states that the rate declined, from 50 to 46 per cent.

Automobile Output Rises.

Production of motor cars for February is estimated at 270,000 units, against 110,123 in the like month last year, 122,895 in 1932, and 229,811 in 1931. Assemblies for next month will probably total close to 350,000 units, compared with 124,581 in March a year ago, 127,277 in 1932, and 289,396 in 1931.

Because of the acceleration in operations, stocks of steel in the hands of automobile manufacturers are quickly diminishing. Disquieted by the possibility of running short of materials, some producers have posted representatives at steel mills to see that they get their due share of the tonnage, according to the Iron Age. The stocks "protectively accumulated" toward the end of last quarter have proved indispensable in view of the unexpectedly large improvement in automotive output.

Scrap and Pig Iron Rise.

Expansion in steel works operations has had repercussions in both scrap and pig iron. The scrap market at Pittsburgh has reversed its trend; heavy melting steel is 50 cents a ton higher, raising the Iron Age's composite from $11.92 to $12.08 a ton, compared with $12.25, the high index for 1933.

Shipments of pig iron from central western producing centers are now running 35 per cent ahead of those for last month, according to the Iron Age, and the inventories assembled at the end of 1933 are being sold.

Tonnages from the railroads, reinforcing those from the automotive and container industries, will soon reach the mills. On the other hand, tonnages for public works are still meager. Structural steel lettings for last week amounted to 11,650 tons, compared with 9,840 in the preceding week. New projects announced will require 22,945 tons.

Iron Age's composites for pig iron and finished steel are unchanged at $16.90 a ton and 2.028 cents a pound respectively.

Building permits for January in sixty-five Illinois cities declined 3.2 per cent in number of projects but increased 8.9 per cent in the total estimated cost, compared with the preceding month of December.

The increase in estimated expenditure from December to January is sharply contrary to the usual seasonal movement, according to the review of the building situation made public last night by the Illinois department of labor.

Records for the last twelve years disclose that on the average, estimated expenditures in January declined approximately 20 per cent from December totals. The total estimated expenditure of $1,793,592 in January, 1934, was 155.8 per cent above the total of $701,163 reported in January, 1933.

STOCK EXCHANGE HERE WARNS COMPANIES ON DRASTIC CONTROL BILL

An analysis of the drastic regulations provided in the Fletcher-Rayburn bill for federal control of stock exchanges, particularly as they affect officers and directors of corporations with listed securities, was mailed last night by the Chicago Stock exchange to nearly 6,000 officials whose companies' shares are traded on the exchange.

The action was taken, said Michael J. O'Brien, president of the exchange, so that officials of such coporations shall be acquainted with the drastic nature of the proposed law.

Attention was called to the proposed ruling that profits accruing on securities purchased by officers or directors of listed corporations shall go back into the company if such holdings are sold within a six month period. In case of a loss, however, the holder suffers the loss.

The proxy clause requiring corporations to furnish shareholders with a list of other holders in soliciting proxies was also cited in the exchange analysis.

In the case of such corporations as American Telephone, General Motors, and Pennsylvania Railroad, it is estimated, a volume nearly the size of the Chicago telephone directory would be required to furnish a full list of stockholders.

"It is the feeling of the exchange governing committee that many of the provisions of the proposed act are detrimental alike to the exchange and to corporations which have securities listed here," the exchange said in a letter accompanying the analysis.

New Trains Point Way to Real Recovery

BY HARRY LAIRD.
[Traffic Manager, Chicago Tribune.]

Those who were privileged to inspect the Union Pacific's lightweight, streamlined train at the Pullman works on Monday will in all probability be able to look back to the event with the same recollection as the present middle-aged generation can, in retrospect, recall a similar preview of early automobiles. The train ushers in a new era of railway passenger transportation and presages the passing of the present cumbersome and infrequent service. Railway men suddenly have become conscious that the public rides for the sake of getting somewhere at convenient hours and with a minimum expense and loss of time.

As streamlining and weight elimination have been emphasized by the automotive and airplane industries as adjuncts to speed, the public has been led to believe that fast service has been uppermost in the minds of the designers of this new type train. As a matter of fact, this feature is secondary. The objective has been cost reduction.

Costs Cut 40 to 68 Per Cent.

The reduction of air resistance permits higher speeds, to be sure, but at the same time it represents immense power reduction at conservative velocities. Estimates of the operating cost of these lightweight modern trains run from 32 cents to 60 cents per mile. It costs $1.00 per mile and upward to maintain a present train in service.

Immediately on delivery of this train orders were placed for three more by the Union Pacific. The various car companies are working on estimates of numerous other trains that promise a busy spring and summer if orders for only a small part of them are placed. The task of replacing all railway passenger equipment has been begun.

Huge Potential Demand.

The railways of the United States own about thirty thousand serviceable passenger cars. The Pullman company has another nine thousand five hundred. Merely to replace this equipment with cars of the new type would cost three billion dollars, but this isn't the correct picture. The new cars have less seating capacity than the present standard and the public demands more frequent service, which will mean far more trains and power units. Where it has been unprofitable to operate a train at a cost of $1 per mile, service can be established for 32 cents a mile.

Despite the fact that the present generation travels more than any preceding, railway travel has declined from one and one-quarter billion passengers in 1920 to less than six hundred million in 1933. Passenger demands will be doubled. Not three billion, but six billion, dollars will be required to meet the public demand for modernized railway equipment.

Orders Far Reaching.

Not only car companies, however, will be benefited by this new industry. They do not produce their own engines, aluminum, stainless steel, lighting systems, air conditioning systems, plumbing, decorating, carpets, silverware, linens, etc. Eighty companies all over the whole county united to produce this Union Pacific train.

Nor will the benefits stop at this point. The railways must construct service stations to accommodate the newcomer. Motoring will not be affected by this new transportation idea, but will continue to increase in the vicinity of centers of population—and at higher speeds.

Immediate acceleration of grade separation programs must follow. There are said to be 240,000 level crossings in the United States—nearly one for every mile of railway. Separations would cost twenty billion dollars, a program for at least ten years of prosperity that is not a dream. John Bull has it—there is not a level highway crossing on the route of the Royal Scot from London to Edinburgh. Unlike other projects, benefits accrue as you proceed, with no chance of producing white elephants.

DOLLAR'S VALUE IN THREE CHIEF FOREIGN CENTERS

The following table shows the value of the United States dollar in the principal capitals of Europe at the close of exchange trading yesterday, both in terms of the dollar and of foreign units:

IN LONDON—One pound sterling was equal to $5.03½, one dollar was equal [approximately] to 3 shillings 11½ pence.

IN PARIS—One franc was worth $0.0652; one dollar was worth 15 francs 32 centimes.

IN BERLIN—One mark was worth $0.3960; one dollar was worth 2.525 marks.

POWER OUTPUT GAINS AGAINST SEASON'S TREND

Increased Factory Demand Is Help.

With improved manufacturing activities and severer temperatures offsetting in effects the longer hours of daylight, electric power output throughout the country for the week ended Feb. 10 increased contra-seasonally to 1,651,535,000 kilowatt-hours from 1,636,285,000 in the preceding week, the Edison Electric institute announced yesterday.

The margin maintained over output in the like week of 1933 fell to 11.4 per cent, compared with 12.5 for the week ended Feb. 3. Production last year amounted to 1,482,509,000 kilowatt-hours.

Chicago Figures Stable.

In the Chicago district the electricity output for last week was fairly stable, amounting to 104,416,000 kilowatt-hours, against 104,900,000 in the preceding week. Its excess, like that of national production, over the output in 1933 was reduced to 6.0 per cent from 10.4 for the week ended Feb. 3. The total a year ago amounted to 98,511,000 kilowatt-hours. Last week's consumption surpassed that of both 1933 and 1932.

Following are the output in kilowatt-hours and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district [last 3 ciphers omitted]:

Week ended	1934.	1933.	Per cent Increase.
Feb. 10	104,416	98,511	6.0
Feb. 3	104,900	95,020	10.4
Jan. 27	99,292	94,706	4.8
Jan. 20	101,527	93,700	8.4

Changes by Districts.

Among the main territorial divisions, it was only in New England that output for last week showed a gain over 1933 that was greater than in the preceding week. New England's lead was increased from 11.8 to 12.9 per cent.

In the middle Atlantic region the margin was 11.6 per cent against 12.3, in the central industrial, 14.5 against 16.6; in the west central, 4.6 against 6.2; in the southern states, 10 against 10.8; in the Rocky mountains, 8.9 against 17.6; on the Pacific coast, 8.5 against 8.6.

January's Life Insurance Sales Higher than Year Ago

The figures represent production in 42 companies having 85 per cent of the total volume of life insurance outstanding in all United States legal reserve companies.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK HAS NO CHAIRMAN OR PRESIDENT NOW

The death of Melvin A. Traylor last night left the First National Bank of Chicago without either president or chairman. Frederick H. Rawson, former chairman, resigned in August last year to conserve his health. His place was not filled at the last annual meeting.

With the passing of Mr. Traylor the remaining senior officer of the bank is Edward Eagle Brown, executive vice president.

A. T. & T. REPORTS HIGHER REVENUE ON OPERATIONS

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—December gross operating revenues of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, as reported to the interstate commerce commission, amounted to $7,426,636 contrasted with $6,771,623 in December, 1932. Net operating income for December was $1,884,931, against $849,814 in the 1932 period.

This revenue is derived from the company's long line business and is exclusive of dividends and interest from subsidiaries.

Bradstreet's Food Index Advances 3 Cents to $2.11

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Dun and Bradstreet food index for the week ended Feb. 13 advanced for the eighth consecutive week to $2.11, compared with $2.08 for the preceding week and $1.51 a year ago.

Dollar Value Gains Slightly Against Franc

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 14.—The American dollar rose slightly today in the foreign exchange market and reached an indicated worth of 60.05 cents in terms of the French gold franc compared with yesterday's final figure of 59.97 cents and the new gold parity of 59.06 cents. Against the British pound sterling, however, the dollar remained stationary with the pound closing unchanged at $5.03½. Against its new par the dollar gained .1 of a cent to 1.7 per cent over par.

Ratios between the dollar and other principal world currencies were unchanged for the most part. The Canadian dollar was an exception, advancing an eighth of a cent to 99.12½ cents.

Weakness in the franc in U. S. funds coincided with the receipt of advices from Paris that another big gold shipment had left there for America. About $42,000,000 of gold, the biggest shipment since the rush began, left Cherbourg in the hold of the S. S. Majestic, it was reported. Of the cargo, £7,000,000 came from Southampton and the remainder, or 100,000,000 francs, was put on in Cherbourg. The French portion was worth about $6,000,000 in U. S. funds. The English insurance and reinsurance rate on the shipment approximated 1½ per cent.

The price of gold advanced in the London open market to an equivalent of $34.59 an ounce. Approximately $5,830,000 in gold was sold in London, presumably to American interests for export.

It was reported from Paris today that the Bank of France's statement which is due to be released tomorrow will show a drain of nearly two billion francs, about $130,000,000 from the bank's gold reserve in the week ended Feb. 9. About half of this is said to have gone to England while the remainder has gone or is destined to come to America.

Since Jan. 9 the bank has lost about seven billion francs in gold [about $455,000,000].

American Stores Sales Show Increase of 4.4%

TREASURY LOAN SUCCESS HINTS BETTER CREDIT

New Issues 4 Times Oversubscribed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—The issue of $800,000,000 of treasury notes offered yesterday has been subscribed more than four times, the treasury announced late today. The officials were frankly elated by the success of the offer, split evenly between notes with maturities respectively of three years and twenty-two months. By some it was accepted as an indication of an investment market that might soon be more receptive to applications for loans to industry.

Gov. Black of the federal reserve board will confer tomorrow with President Roosevelt to discuss, it is assumed, the general conditions throughout the country as visualized by reports from the reserve banks, and the advisability of the government's taking further steps to expand credit.

Credit Plan Not Confirmed.

Published reports today that the federal reserve board officials favored the setting up in each federal reserve district of government financed intermediate banks to make direct loans to industry, found no confirmation today, and, in fact, there appeared many indications that the administration was not sympathetic to large scale operations of this type. Gov. Black's only comment was that he could not discuss the subject at this time.

Up to this time at least there has been a definite tendency on the part of government agencies, prominent among them the Reconstruction Finance corporation, to avoid entrance upon a broad program of direct loans to industry, unless that was absolutely unavoidable.

Hints of Federal Action.

There has been the implication that if the banks of the country were not more generous in responding to the needs of industry the government might step in, but no definite action has been taken, except through loans made by the RFC to community mortgage loan companies.

At the present juncture in the effort to restore normal economic conditions, some of the treasury officials are hopeful that the market for long term capital as well as loans by banks to industry will gradually open up. Many of the applications for direct loans which have been made to the reserve banks and the RFC have been by industries, closed during the depression, which seek funds to reopen.

Peek Offered Job of Running Export Bank

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—George N. Peek, special adviser to the President on matters of commercial policy, tonight had under consideration an offer from Mr. Roosevelt that he take over the direction of the Export-Import Bank of Washington, recently created under executive order to finance foreign trade.

GEORGE N. PEEK.

Mr. Peek's acceptance or rejection of the offer will depend upon the President's reaction to the report Mr. Peek deposited at the White House more than a month ago proposing the coördination of all federal foreign trade agencies under a government export corporation with authority to negotiate directly with foreign countries.

Mr. Peek declined to confirm or deny that he had been offered the new post.

Hinges Partly on Tariff Moves.

The outcome also depends upon the extent the President will go in requesting authority of congress to alter existing tariff rates so as to facilitate the exchange of American goods for those of foreign countries and the negotiation of reciprocal treaties.

The Export-Import bank enjoys full banking powers and can easily be organized along the lines suggested by Mr. Peek in his export corporation plan. It has been announced, however, that, until otherwise directed by the President, the new bank will confine its operations to the guaranteeing of credits extended to Russia.

While Mr. Peek would not commit himself on the offer that he become president of the bank, it was learned that he will not do so if its operations are to be confined permanently to Russia or any other individual country.

Mr. Peek will further insist, according to his friends, that primary consideration be given, in any export policy, to agricultural products as distinguished from industrial.

Believes Agriculture Comes First.

He has made clear to the President and others on several occasions his opinion that capital goods industries are overexpanded and that any effort to utilize their full plant capacity through a comprehensive export program would be immediately predestined to failure.

It is axiomatic with Mr. Peek that industrial exports represented only about 5 per cent of the total national income from industrial production in the period from 1910 to 1932, whereas the corresponding proportional of agricultural exports to the agricultural income of the country was about 18 per cent.

He holds that if the present agricultural policy of adjusting production to domestic demand is carried to its logical conclusion the result would be disastrous, since it would mean the displacement of the activities now dependent for existence upon agricultural production.

Labor Board Is Silent on Next Weirton Steel Move

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Although the national labor board held a prolonged discussion of the matter, its next move in efforts to ascertain if employés of the Weirton Steel company, Weirton, W. Va., desire a new election of employé representatives, remained a mystery tonight.

BROAD REVISION IN BANKING ACT RECOMMENDED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—A large scale rewriting of the Glass banking act which congress passed at its last session was called for today by Controler of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor.

Submitting his annual report to congress, the controler declared that many sections of the new and sweeping bank law needed clarification, that several provisions were working unintended hardships, and that one section should be repealed outright.

Among those provisions which he suggested be clarified was one aimed at abolishing private banks such as J. P. Morgan & Co. and another intended to prevent a repetition of the Insull arrangement whereby bank loans to a parent corporation and its subsidiaries exceeded the legal limit.

Stronger System Emerging.

Beside recommending legislative changes, Controler O'Connor told congress that a new and stronger banking system was emerging because of the government partnership in banks which is being brought about through the purchase of bank stock by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

He reported "with pardonable pride" the strengthening of national and state banks through additional capital obtained from the RFC, and declared the problem of unlicensed banks, left over by the banking moratorium, has been practically cleaned up.

Before recommending changes in the Glass bank law, known officially as the banking act of 1933, Controler O'Connor explained that he favored the law, but that some sections of it were not functioning as its framers had intended.

"This legislation as a whole is sound and contains many much needed provisions," he told congress, "but, like most major legislation, application by administrative officers reveals certain features which, in practice, work in a cumbersome manner or bring about situations which its framers did not intend."

Good Men Driven Away.

Two sections of the law as it now stands are driving good men off bank directorates. Other sections are calling upon banks to submit reports which are neither helpful or intended, O'Connor said, listing also many other hardships.

He recommended the section aimed at preventing pyramiding of loans such as those to the Insull groups be changed. The law now reads that in computing whether a national bank has reached the legal limit of loans to a corporation it must add up all loans to subsidiaries as well as to the parent corporation.

O'Connor said the law should be tightened still further. It does not now make clear, he said, that in considering whether it may legally make another loan to a subsidiary corporation a bank must total up loans to all other related subsidiaries regardless of whether any loan has ever been made to the parent corporation.

He also recommended a clarification of the section intended to make private banks such as the house of Morgan give up either the banking or the investment business and to come

GRAINS RECOVER EARLY DECLINE IN LATE RALLY

Trade Is Influenced by Cotton and Stocks.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Uncertainty over the immediate trend in the market and developments at Washington was pronounced yesterday and grains backed and filled within relatively narrow limits. The incentive for buying and selling operations was provided to a large extent by the action of cotton. A break of more than $1.50 a bale in cotton caused a recession of ⅝ to ⅞ of a cent in wheat, but later there was buying based on the rally in stocks and cotton, and grains closed at the best figures of the day.

Many operators who sold wheat on the break were active buyers on the way up. Final trades were unchanged to ⅛ of a cent higher with May closing at 99½ to 90⅝ cents and July at 89¼ to 89⅜ cents. September met considerable opposition on the way up, and closed at 90 cents, or steady for the day.

Corn Dull and Nearly Steady.

Corn was relatively dull and unchanged to ⅛ of a cent higher at the close. May at 57⅞ to 52 cents. Oats closed ⅛ of a cent higher to ⅛ of a cent lower, May at 36⅞ cents. Removal of hedges against shipping sales of 115,000 bushels of cash rye to mills gave that market relative strength with the close ⅛ to ¼ of a cent higher. May at 61 cents. Barley was unchanged to ¼ of a cent higher, May finishing at 50 cents.

The bulk of the transactions in wheat was of a professional character and there was nothing in the routine news to induce operators to trade freely. The outlook for the new winter wheat crop continues the subject of most interest in trade circles, but with the uncertainty as to what may develop at Washington few operators care to commit themselves heavily on either side.

Foreign Wheat Demand Quiet.

There was no life to the foreign demand for cash wheat, Winnipeg reporting only 500,000 bushels sold. Futures there closed unchanged from Tuesday, despite a break of ½ to ¾ cent in Liverpool. Scattered liquidation by holders of the March delivery in the latter market was in evidence, with the price within a few pence of the lowest level quoted in recent years in English funds.

With only ten days left in which advantage can be taken of the government offer to lend 45 cents a bushel on corn in farm cribs, producers are making liberal applications for funds. It is estimated a total of 157,000,000 bushels of grain has already been sealed in Illinois, Iowa, and Nebraska. In the face of the holding movement the amount received at terminal markets is running in excess of current demand.

FARMERS NATL. TO ERECT HUGE PEORIA ELEVATOR

The Farmers' National Grain corporation announced yesterday that contracts had been let to the McKenzie-Hague Construction company of Minneapolis for the building of a new terminal elevator at Peoria, Ill., supplementing a million bushel elevator already owned there.

Work is to start immediately on the steel and concrete structure, so planned that enlargements could be added if future needs require. The site adjoins a distillery now under construction.

The new elevator will be equipped to handle grain shipped via railroad, motor truck, and waterway barge.

WOOL MARKETS

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Wool business was transacted in small volume but at fairly steady prices on the Boston market today. The only irregularity in prices was in Ohio ¼ blood grease wools, for which some sellers demanded 42c a pound, while others offered it at 41c. Most business was in fine territory and Texas wools, the latter selling at 75@80c a pound clean for fall wools.

COTTON GROUPS SPLIT OVER NEW EXCHANGE RULES

Tell Senator Chief Accord Is Impossible.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—Efforts of cotton trade representatives to compose their differences over proposed drastic changes in regulations on the New York Cotton exchange ended in almost complete failure tonight with a report to Chairman Smith of the senate agricultural committee that unanimity of opinion on the most important proposals was impossible.

Two committees were appointed by Senator Smith, one favoring and the other opposing discontinuance of the multiple southern delivery of cotton traded on the New York exchange. Other proposals taken up by the two committees included definite limitation on the amount of cotton permitted to be held or controled directly and indirectly as a result of trading on the exchanges. The report was sent to Senator Smith tonight by the committee favoring abolition of the southern delivery system. The opposition committee will submit its report tomorrow.

Agree on Four Points.

The report of the proponent committee says the two committees recommend:

First—Cotton exchanges shall be licensed by the government and placed under the supervision of the department of agriculture. The opponents are in favor of this "in the event that there be cotton legislation."

Second—The government tax of five cents pere $100 be rescinded.

Third: That the Smith-Lever law be amended to make the basis of the future contract 15-16ths inch staple in liew of the present ⅞ths inch staple contract.

Fourth: The price of all cotton bought, sold, consigned or delivered to American or Canadian mills must be fixed not later than the 10th day of the month of shipment or delivery.

Seek Adoption Abroad.

A meeting of the Liverpool, Bremen, Havre, Milan and Japan cotton exchanges shall be requested promptly to adopt the same rules and shall be arranged as soon as possible by the secretary of agriculture.

The two committees are in disagreement upon the following which is recommended by the proponent group:

That the present system of multiple southern deliveries be abolished and that the delivery points for the New York future cotton contract shall be New York and one other deep sea southern port point, and for the New Orleans cotton future contract, deliveries shall be made at New Orleans. Any other future exchange shall have only one deep sea port point of delivery.

"As the two committees have an entirely different school of thought in regard to the matter of multiple or single points of delivery, it is impossible for us to reconcile our view upon this question," the report says.

LARD MARKET ERRATIC; CLOSE SLIGHTLY LOWER

Trading in lard yesterday was governed largely by action of the cotton and hog markets, which were weak early, but price recessions brought active buying by eastern and cash interests. Prices recovered part of their losses and the market showed a good tone.

At the close lard futures were 2½ to 7½ cents net lower, and bellies unchanged to 7½ cents lower, the latter on new May.

Cash trade in lard was good. Regular was 2½ cents higher at $6.45, loose 17½ cents lower at $5.90, and leaf unchanged at $6.12½.

Cash bellies were in good demand and higher at $7.75. The general meat trade was good. Pork loins were quoted at 12 to 16 cents.

STOCKS ADVANCE IN LATE TRADING; TURNOVER LIGHT

Airplane Issues Score a Sizable Comeback.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 14.—Cheering news from Washington quoting House Majority Leader Byrne as saying that the Fletcher bill to regulate stock exchanges throughout the country would be "substantially modified" was celebrated with a mild rally in late stock market dealings today. Leading issues erased early losses with net gains of from a fraction to around 2 points.

The market was largely a professional affair however, the public holding aloof not only on domestic uncertainties but to some degree in fear of the war cloud shadowing central Europe. Opening of the senate committee's inquiry into alleged manipulation of alcohol stocks last year was a depressing influence against shares of that group and to some extent against the whole list. Turnover failed to reach 2,000,000 shares for the first time since Jan. 12.

News Budget Bullish.

There was plenty of bullish news to impel buying had the other conditions been more conductive to constructive operations. The move by airplane companies to forestall the government in its plan to operate air mail routes with army flyers had a bolstering effect on aviation stocks and some of the chief issues of this group like United Aircraft, and Wright Aeronautical, which have been outstanding selling targets since the cancellation order was announced last Friday negotiated smart recoveries. Wright was up 9 points and United replaced an early minus sign with a net gain of 2¾ points.

The downward flurry in tobacco issues was attributed partly to reports that one of the 10 cent cigaret manufacturers was preparing to market a new package to retail at 8 cents, which would contain five 11 inch cigarets, each of which could be subdivided into four. The profit here, it was said, would come in the saving of federal taxes if an adverse ruling is not made by the authorities.

Silver Issues Strong.

Stocks of silver producing companies were again in demand and leaders of the group sold at new peaks for the year on gains of 1 to 3 points. American Smelting, United States Smelting, International Silver, and Cerro de Pasco were prominent. Reports indicating that a "deal" between the silver bloc and legislators backing the St. Lawrence waterway project in congress may be in the making lent additional strength to these issues.

Nervousness over the so-called Lehman control bills pending in the New York legislature kept utilities on the off side of the market.

About 20 per cent of the day's business was accounted for by a half dozen or so stocks, including Pierce Arrow, Consolidated Oil, United Aircraft, American Smelting, Montgomery Ward, and Park Utah Mines.

PENNSYLVANIA ORDERS $3,000,000 STEEL FOR CARS

The Pennsylvania railroad yesterday placed orders for $3,000,000 worth of steel to be used in the construction of 7,000 new freight cars in its shops at Pittsburgh, Altoona, and Harrisburg. The order is a part of the road's employment and improvement program financed by the Public Works administration.

The order involves 72,000 tons of steel bars, plates, sheets, wheels, axles, etc. It was distributed among 21 companies. Combined with steel orders for roadway electrification work placed on Tuesday, the road's total orders for steel in two days was well over $4,000,000.

It was stated that the steel orders will give work to hundreds of men in steel mills scattered throughout the east and middle west. In addition more than 1,200 railroad men will return to active duty at the Pennsylvania shops to build the new freight cars.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 14.—The governing committee of the New York stock exchange today adopted the recommendation of the committee on stock list for the cancellation of authority to list 55,764 shares of no par common stock previously granted to Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc., as applied for by the company, leaving 4,565,004 shares listed on the exchange.

The company on July 1, 1929, applied for permission to list 1,197,015 additional common shares, authorized to be issued to employés of the company to be taken and paid for at the time and in the manner set forth.

BUTTER FUTURES DECLINE SHARPLY; EGGS ADVANCE

Moderate selling dropped butter futures ½@¾c on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Eggs closed ¼c to ½c higher. March potatoes held unchanged, but April broke 15c.

While statistical news continued fairly favorable, butter lacked buyers. The Land o' Lakes reported production 9 per cent under last year and 6 per cent over the previous week. Storage withdrawals totaled 1,000,000 pounds more than last year.

Receipts of eggs were larger, but February finds firsts moved to a new high of 16¾c. Increased selling on the advance, however, erased part of the gain. There was a slight lime storage movement reported by the four markets.

The cash potato market has been dull and prices have fallen recently. Track holdings have been heavy and the futures weakened. March held steady despite fair profit taking.

MICHIGAN AVENUE HOUSING UNIT REPORTS LOSS

Small Deficit First Since Its Development.

BY AL CHASE.

For the first time since the Michigan Avenue Garden apartments were erected by the late Julius Rosenwald at a cost of $2,700,000, at 47th and Michigan, the big Negro apartment group has shown a loss. At the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Michigan Boulevard Garden Apartments corporation, held yesterday at the First National bank, in the offices of the chairman of the board, Edward E. Brown, the audited report disclosed a deficit of approximately $8,000 for 1933.

This is only one-half of one per cent of the capital investment after allowances for all expenses and fixed charges, it was stated by Alfred K. Stern, president of the corporation. These fixed charges include taxes and interest of 5½ per cent on a mortgage which has been reduced from $1,000,000 to $720,000 during the last three years from the profits on the operation of the building. An average depreciation of 3 per cent was allowed on the building and equipment.

Average Occupancy 87 Per Cent.

The average accupancy for 1933 was 87 per cent and bad debts were 3½ per cent. The report shows that the building at present has an occupancy of 96 per cent with an average room rental per month of $10.50 after allowing for free gas, electricity and refrigeration and bonus certificates. This rent average is a reduction of 30 per cent from the rentals charged in 1930.

In his report Mr. Stern pointed out the earnings record of the big housing project on the $1,500,000 capital stock has been 4 per cent for 1930, 3.7 per cent for 1931 and .9 per cent for 1932.

Mr. Stern said the continuous record of earnings through 1930, 1931, and 1932, with only a slight loss in 1933, and the conservative writeoff for depreciation and all other charges, were better records than practically any other real estate development in Chicago can claim.

Favors Federal Developments.

Mr. Stern, who is chairman of the Illinois housing commission, said: "This experiment is related to the present housing program of the federal government. Public works funds are more than justified for investment in the low cost housing field if the rents are low enough to provide new housing for those who have not been reached by private capital during prosperous eras or in a depression.

"The experience of the Michigan Avenue Gardens project and many others in America and Europe calls for prompt action on the part of the federal government to start sound projects in Chicago and other industrial centers.

OWENS-ILLINOIS GLASS REPORTS BIG PROFIT GAIN

Senior Obligations Retired in 1933.

How modification of the Volstead act to permit the brewing of 3.2 beer and repeal of the 18th amendment helped the business of the Owens-Illinois Glass company last year was disclosed yesterday in the annual report of President William E. Levis to stockholders.

The consolidated income statement shows that the company had net earnings of $6,032,311 in 1933 compared with $2,067,885 in 1932. This was at the rate of $4.86 a share on 1,200,00 shares of common stock outstanding as of Dec. 31, 1933, compared with $1.62 a share on the 977,173 shares of common stock outstanding at the end of 1932.

Retires Senior Obligations.

Mr. Levis reported that during the year the company retired all its senior obligations. The total par value of these obligations was $15,068,000 and the retirement cost was $16,019,891. obligations, consisting of 10 year 5 per cent sinking fund gold debentures, Root Glass company first mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds, Illinois Pacific Coast company first mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds and 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock. The total par value of these obligations was $15,068,000 and the retirement cost was $16,019,891.

Balance Sheet Figures.

Mr. Levis said that substantial progress is being made in the industrial materials business of the company, particularly in the direction of glass wool for insulating purposes.

The consolidated balance sheet showed that current assets as of Dec. 31, 1933, stood at $18,178,115 compared with $19,039,629 as of Dec. 31, 1932. Current liabilities at the end of 1933 were $2,897,761 compared with $1,128,407 at the end of 1932.

Gross income for 1933 was $12,379,173 compared with $6,624,949 for 1932. Earned surplus at the end of 1933 stood at $10,423,117 compared with $7,364,479.

BROAD REVISIONS IN BANKING ACT RECOMMENDED

Congress Urged to Alter Present Law.

under the controler's supervision if they continue to receive deposits. The law as it now stands is so broad that it would bring under the controler's supervision corporations having savings plans or old age pensions for their employés, O'Connor said.

Suggests 15 Changes.

He recommended 15 changes or improvements in all. The other 13 are:

1. A narrower definition of "affiliates" and "holding company affiliates" in those sections requiring banks to divorce themselves from affiliates and in the interim, to file reports on deals with affiliates. The terms are now so broad, according to O'Connor, that "accidental affiliates" which banks control indirectly or through loan collateral must be reported on.

2. Permission for banks to pay interest on federal demand deposits where federal law requires the payment of such interest. Permission for banks with frozen deposits to pay them off ahead of schedule despite the prohibition against paying "interest in advance of maturity."

3. A narrower definition of the term "executive officers" in the sections of the act prohibiting loans by banks to their executives.

4. A broadening of the law to make it clear that national banks may buy and sell stocks as well as bonds purely for the account of their customers.

Urges Clarification.

5. Clarification of the requirement that a certificate for bank stock not cover stock in any other corporation to make certain that this restriction applies regardless of whether new certificates conforming to the requirement are issued.

6. Clarification of the section requiring banks to divorce security affiliates so that it will apply only to affiliates trading in stock exchange securities; otherwise banks would have to divorce mortgage company affiliates.

7. Repeal of the requirement that each bank director must own at least $2,500 of the bank's stock in his own name, if the capital of the bank is more than $50,000; or $1,500 if the capital stock is between $25,000 and $50,000; or $1,000 if the stock is less than $25,000.

8. Clarification of the restriction against bank officers being officers, directors, or managers in security companies to make clear that only security companies dealing in stock exchange securities are meant.

9. Narrowing of the restriction against bank directors being also directors in companies which may make loans secured by stock so that the prohibition will apply only against being director of a company which is in the business of making loans secured by stock.

Rewrite Merger Provisions.

10. Rewrite the provisions for consolidation of national banks.

11. Permission of the controler of the currency to have some deputy release bonds formerly held as collateral for national bank notes.

12. Clarification of the national bank act so that where it requires a majority of the voting stock of a national bank to pass a resolution, that majority will be computed on the basis of all stock then held by persons permitted to vote it.

13. Permission of the controler to allow state banks entering the national banking system to carry assets otherwise not allowed.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Cotton goods were quiet and generally firm today. Some small sales of brown sheetings were made at full asking prices. Rayon producers were closely sold and carrying very light stocks. Silk goods for the cutting trades were in better demand. Clothing manufacturers were ordering in more goods on past purchases. Burlaps held a slight advance of 10 points with local markets quiet. Reports from wholesale houses indicate a good spring distribution.

NATIONAL LEAD PROFITS RISE TO $6.98 PER SHARE

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The National Lead company reported net profit for 1933 amounted to $3,828,329, equal to $6.98 a common share, against $2,711,604, or $2.92 a share, in 1932.

Edward H. Cornish, chairman of the board, stated that the company probably would not increase its dividend of $5 annually now paid on the common stock, but would hold its excess earnings "until we can see further into the future.

"There is nothing in the company's present business that would justify forebodings for 1934. The opening month of the new year finds sales well sustained. The immediate outlook appears favorable and should continue so with maintainence of the improvement which is evident in general business. Prospects would be enhanced were the uplift to reach the building industry to which we sell important products."
